Sobolev Says Rebel 'Mutiny' Now Defeated

Nagy Demands UN Intervention To Oust Soviet Force

UNITED NATIONS, Nov. 2 —UP— Russia denied to the United Nations Security Council Friday night that Soviet reinforcements were sent into Hungary and was immediately confronted by an official Hungarian complaint that large military units crossed the frontier Friday.

Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy sent a second communication to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, asking him to call on the four great powers to respect Hungary's newly-declared neutrality.

"On the second of November," Nagy's note said, "further and exact information, mainly military reports, reached the government of the Hungarian People's Republic, according to which large Soviet military units crossed the border of the country, marching toward Budapest.

"They occupy railway lines, railway stations and railway safety equipment. Reports also have come about that Soviet military movements of east-west direction are being observed on the territory of western Hungary."

Nagy told Hammarskjold:

"I request your excellency to call upon the great powers to recognize the neutrality of Hungary and ask the Security Council to instruct the Soviet and Hungarian governments to start the negotiations immediately."

Nagy's first note to Hammarskjold, received Thursday, said Russian troops were pouring over Hungary's frontier. He announced Hungary's neutrality and repudiated the Kremlin's Warsaw Pact. He asked protection of the country's neutrality under guarantees

U. S. Officials To Keep Close Watch On Nov. 6 Voting

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2 (AP) — Complaints of federal election law violations in Tuesday's general election will be investigated by the U.S. attorney's office and the FBI.

Both offices announced today full staffs have been ordered on duty on a 24-hour basis to investigate alleged violations.

Any reported violations will be screened by the U. S. attorney's office and turned over to the FBI for further investigation.

H. Hepburn Many, U.S. attorney, said his office and the FBI agents would be on duty from 5:30 a.m. Tuesday, a half hour before the polls open, until the votes are counted "or until the situation has returned to normal . . . ."

The federal agencies will watch specifically for:

1. Stuffing of absentee ballot boxes or altering of returns after the polls close, considered the most common violation.

2. Violence or intimidation of voters.

3. Discrimination against voters for race or creed.

4. Bribery or buying of votes.

Maximum penalty for violation of any of these federal regulations is $3,000 fine and 10 years in jail.

Many said the order alerting his office and the FBI came from U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, who wrote:

"You should be particularly vigilant and prepared to act upon any allegations or reports that voters have been intimidated, threatened, coerced, or prevented from voting for nominees of their own choice.

"We all know that the entire world will be watching while citizens choose their president and vice president. . . .

"Any fraud or corruption destroying or impairing the sanctity of the ballot would be hailed by the masters of the enslaved people of the world as a sign of failure of our free system.

"We must not permit this to happen."

Raging Blizzard Blankets Midwest, Plains States In Deep Drifts Of Snow

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 —UP— A paralyzing blizzard stormed across the western prairies Friday night. A train and three persons were reported missing in the snows and at least one man was killed.

It was the first blizzard of the season and the worst in Nebraska since the giant storm of 1949 forced a famous "hay lift" to marooned farmers.

The giant storm swept through Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and the Dakotas, with road-blocking snows and gale winds which reached peaks of 80 miles an hour.

Authorities at Chadron, Neb., reported that a Burlington mail train from Denver had failed to arrive and was missing somewhere in the snow-bound wastes. Near Lamar, Colo., James L. Belcher was killed repairing storm-damaged power lines.

Search parties and snowplows bucked their way through six-foot drifts and blinding snows hunting for missing persons and seeking out the scores of stranded and marooned motorists.

A snow plow got to a Continental Trailways bus after it was stalled in rapidly-mounting drifts

Israel Captures Gaza Strip; Holds Control In Sinai

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 2 (AP) — Israel today claimed complete control over the Gaza Strip, and the entire Sinai Peninsula. It said Egypt's resistance to Israel's air and land onslaught had collapsed.

The announcement by an official army Government spokesman followed Israel's capture of Gaza, the Egyptian headquarters city for the entire strip from which Israel had charged that Egypt launched repeated commando attacks.

The spokesman, Lt. Col. Moshe Pearlman, said shooting still is going on, but only in one or two places and on a very minor scale.

Remnants of Egypt's original force of about 20,000 in Sinai are fleeing westward, he said, and a few may escape across the Suez Canal.

(The British-operated Cyprus radio announced the bulk of the Egyptian forces have withdrawn from the Sinai Peninsula to await a British-French invasion. The Cyprus broadcast, recorded in Beirut, Lebanon, said the withdrawing forces had joined other Egyptian units where the principal Allied invasion was expected. Presumably that meant the Suez Canal zone.

113 Year-Old Confederate Veteran Gets Gold Medal

FRANKLIN, Tex., Nov. 2 (UP) —Assistant Secretary of the Army Hugh M. Milton pinned a gold medal Friday upon the Confederate gray uniform of 113-year-old Col. Walter Williams, one of the three living veterans of the Civil War.

"This is the biggest day of my life." Williams, sitting erect and proud in his wheel chair, said. "I'll wear it all the time."

The medal was inscribed: "To honor great soldiers and great Americans. Presented with honor to surviving veterans of the War Between the States."

The medal was authorized by the 84th Congress. The Sons of Confederate veterans presented him with a new uniform for the occasion.

Newsmen asked him whom he is going to vote for next Tuesday. "Democrats of course," he said. "I've been one all my life."

But he observed that Abraham Lincoln, the Civil War president, was the "best friend a poor man ever had."

He said he was sorry that his 84-year-old wife couldn't see him decorated, because "she had been looking forward to it."

Mrs. Williams is critically ill and doctors fear for her life.

Three daughters and two sons—he has 12 living children — attended the ceremony. It was delayed two hours because of a heavy rain. Williams lives on a dirt road, deep in the country.

He appeared to be feeling fine. He said he had two biscuits, two glasses of milk and two cups of coffee for breakfast.

He will be 114 on Nov 14, but said that because of his wife's illness, he plans no celebration.

Besides Milton, Lt. Col. Gebhart E. Brown of Washington and Lt. Col. D. M. McConnell, military district adviser to Texas A&M college, attended the ceremony.

Arab Armored Force Massing For Assault

Iraqi And Syrian Forces Pour Into Neighboring Jordan

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 2 (AP) — Tank and armored car forces from Syria and troops from Iraq were reported pouring into Jordan today on Israel's eastern front.

This may be a massing of Egyptian-led Arab world forces to open a second front and relieve Israeli military pressure on Egypt along the Suez Canal.

UNITED NATIONS, Nov. 2 UP—Arab sources said Friday night that Jordan and Syria have decided to declare war and will send their troops into action in the Middle East fighting.

The information of the Arab sources was fragmentary.

It was not revealed whether the two countries planned to enter the war only against Israel, or to declare against Britain and France as well.

The sources said a joint announcement was expected from the Middle East capitals soon.

Egypt on Israel's western front and Syria on the eastern frontier are both equipped with arms from behind the Iron Curtain.

Much of the material is from Red Czechoslovakia through dealings between Egypt's President Nassert and the Soviet Union.

The Israeli radio reported movements for forces from both Syria and Iraq into Jordan. It said King Hussein asked for the entry of Iraqi troops, poised on the border, to move in.

A report from Jordan said the movements were confirmed there but the number of troops and quantities of arms pouring in were not known.

An official Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv, commenting on the reported Syrian move said:

"The situation calls for watchfulness."

The spokesman refused to go beyond that single sentence.

There have been recurrent reports that Israel might move eastward to the Jordan River in the event either Syrian or Iraqi troops entered Jordan.

Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion said in mid-October that Israel "reserves freedom of action" if Iraqi troops go into Jordan.

These moves apparently mean that the Arab alliances led by Egypt are converging in Jordan to wage common war against Israel while Egypt tries to stand off the Israelis along the Suez Canal and British and French attacks from the west.

The strongest link in the Arab alliances is between Egypt and Syria. They are activating their joint military command under the Egyptian Commander in Chief Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, a right-hand man of Egypt's President Nasser. Amer, now in his mid-30's, long has been regarded as the boy wonder of the Egyptian army.

The Syrian Embassy in Washington announced Syria is carrying out its defense pact with Egypt and devoting all its military forces and resources "to their common cause." It said Syrian armed forces are taking orders from Gen. Amer.

Dr. Mamun Hamui, Syrian charge d'affaires, had an interview with U. S. Asst. Secretary of State Lampton Berry in Washington and gave him this note, a Syrian spokesman said:

"The Syrian government has decided to implement, as of this moment, the joint Egyptian-Syrian defense pact. . . . Syria is now standing side-by-side with Egypt."

Syria, like Egypt, has been a recipient of arms from behind the Iron Curtain in recent months.

2,000-Acre Game Management Area Planned In Area

Plans and specifications for the development of a 2,000-acre game management area on Crew Lake, South of U.S. Highway 80, are being prepared and will be advertised for bids in the immediate future, according to State Rep. Lawrence Gibbs.

This project, Gibbs explained, will divert water from Erwin Lake and Bayou Boeuf through Little Lake, La Fourche and Crew Lake into this 2,000 acre area.

In the fall of the year, it is needed for ducks and other game, Gibbs said. During the summer months, it will provide water for irrigation and agricultural purposes along little Bayou La Fourche and Crew Lake, he added.

Anglo-French Landings In Egypt Reported Imminent

Disaster May Claim 126 Lives

SPRINGHILL, N. S., Nov. 2 —UP— Rescue crews went down the slanting shaft of a coal mine Friday night in a final frantic effort to reach 111 miners trapped and feared dead more than a mile underground.

Mine officials said there was little hope that any of the trapped men would be alive because of deadly coal gas that seeped into the tunnel after a surface level explosion Thursday. The miners have been entombed for nearly 26 hours. Fifteen were known dead in the disaster.

The only chance, one official said was that some of the miners may have reached an air compressor hose pumping oxygen into the tunnel.

A fire that forced workers to retreat from the tunnel this afternoon was smothered by sealing off the shaft. The rescuers re-entered the tunnel after the smoke cleared. Fifteen ambulances waited at the pithead with about 25 doctors and 40 nurses.

No contact has been made with the trapped men since the blast. Mine officials said a tapping heard earlier on the compressor hose could not have come from the miners.

The potential death toll of 126 in the disaster would top the 125 killed in an 1891 mine disaster in this same area.

African-Asian Block Demanding Further Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—The U.N. Asian-African bloc demanded tonight that the special U. N. Assembly make new and stronger efforts to halt British, French and Israeli action against Egypt. Some of the group want military, economic and financial restrictions imposed quickly.

Appeals were also reported being made by some group members to President Eisenhower and Prime Ministers Nehru of India and St. Laurent of Canada to send personal messages to Prime Minister Eden asking him to accept the Assembly recommendations for a cease-fire.

As the pace of diplomatic moves was accelerated. Egypt informed U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold she accepted the cease-fire plan provided that the "aggressors" would do likewise.

The Asian African group, made up of 23 U.N. members plus Japan, dispatched a memorandum to Hammarskjold pointing out that Britain, France and Israel had not complied with the cease-fire resolution and demanding action.

The chairman of the Asian-African group, Ambassador Djalal Abdoh of Iran, delivered the memorandum to Hammarskjold. He declined to discuss its contents but diplomatic sources said it insisted that the Assembly must follow

The communique added that British-French planes also raided Egyptian land forces as they were crossing the Canal, especially in the Perdan area which is north of Ismailia.

Eisenhower Offers Food, Medical Supplies To Aid Rebel Forces In Hungary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 —UP— President Eisenhower Friday offered $20 million worth of American food and medical supplies to revolt-torn Hungary to help bolster it in its struggle for freedom from Russia.

He made the offer after conferring with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr. Dulles had just returned from the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York.

"All America pays tribute in these troubled days to the courage and sacrificies of the Hungarian people in their determination to secure freedom," the President said.

There was no immediate reply from Hungary. But Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty have appealed to the United States for help of any kind.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's offer would include about $15 million worth of such surplus foods as corn, wheat, flour and skim milk. The other $5 million would be in the form of meats, oils, fats and medical supplies.

Agriculture Department officials said the administration may be considering a similar gift of food in its offer of economic help to Poland.

Adlai Outlines Plan For Ending Mid-East Fight

DETROIT, Nov. 2 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson tonight came up with a four-point plan that he said "a determined American government could use "to stop the war and strike a blow for peace" in the Middle East.

"Whatever the provocation," Stevenson said "aggression can no longer be tolerated in the atomic age."

Stevenson flew here today after making a noon-day speech in Cleveland.

And in each the Democratic presidential candidate bore down heavily on what he evidently believes to be the major issue of the campaign:

How well has President Eisenhower handled this nation's foreign policy?

Stevenson said what he calls "the incredible blunders" of the Eisenhower administration could be solved if the "grand alliance upon which the fate of all free men depends" is restored.

Then he laid down this plan for peace:

"First, security must be restored along the frontiers dividing Israel from her neighbors. One root of all the trouble in the Middle East is that Israel's neighbors have denied her right to exist and have engaged in continual hos-

Crossword puzzle workers again failed to solve the Morning World puzzle during the week, missing the jackpot of $125 and bringing the coming week's award to $150.

As during the past numerous weeks, hundreds of completed puzzle forms piled into the World office with several missing by only one letter.

The following is an explanation of the more difficult clues in answer to the puzzle published October 26th and 27th:

CLUES ACROSS:

2. Cat is best. Why shouldn't she want to keep a "pretty old" COT since age would hardly affect the usefulness of a COT. A CAT that was "pretty old" might well be a real nuisance.

6. Since a SAW is a SAYING, while a LAW is in documentary form, the word "sounds" points to SAW.

9. LAME is best. A person who is LATE presumably CAN hurry. The idea of "making desperate ATTEMPTS" points to LAME.

12. Obviously SALT is a good

Move Would Be Defiance Of UN Order

Eden To Answer UN Appeal Before Parliament Today

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 3 (AP)— British and French troops were poised today to jump into Egypt.

The French Defense Ministry announced British-French air forces have completed softening-up attacks on Egypt and said all is set for the leap.

A junior minister in Prime Minister Eden's Cabinet said late last night:

"A few hours from now British and French troops will be occupying territory in the canal zone."

Egypt already has been invaded and beaten in Sinai by Israeli Gaza, headquarters of the Egyptian-held Gaza strip, fell to Israeli forces.

Israel claims control of all the Sinai Peninsula up to points within 10 miles of the Suez Canal.

But a menace to Israel loomed to the east. Radio Israel said troops are moving into neighboring Jordan from both Iraq and Syria.

Egypt, Syria and Jordan are linked in defense pacts against Israel and Iraq had promised aid in case of attack by the Jewish state.

An authoritative source said Britain and France will defy the United Nations Assembly's demand of Friday for an immediate cease-fire.

Eden is expected to tell Parliament today that British and French troops will occupy the Suez Canal zone until the U. N. establishes an international police force to keep peace in the Middle East.

The Prime Minister is making a TV address to the British people tonight.

Harold Macmillan, chancellor of the exchequer, told a political rally:

"Things will move rapidly in the next few days . . . of course we want American cooperation . . . but I think America begins to understand our position as each day passes."

The Egyptians claimed a second time that the Suez Canal had been blocked, this time by the sinking

British Consul Says Nation May Reject UN Order

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 2 (AP)— R. G. Dundas, British counsel general in New Orleans, said here today Great Britain probably will not comply with the UN order to get out of the Suez Canal area.

He said the UN needs a police force before it can enforce decisions, but "Great Britain will probably have to continue despite the UN order" since she is not in Egypt by her own wish.

British Prime Minister Eden will make a statement tomorrow in the House of Commons on the UN call for a cease-fire in Egypt.

Dundas, speaking to the Shreveport Rotary Club, said "What would suit us best is for the UN to take over where Britain leaves off."

He said Britain and France acted partly because "Our object was to get in between two contestants and keep them apart. This situation is not permanent. We have said we would get out when our mission has been completed."

He called it "not a war, but a police action."

Dundas also revealed a proposal by Great Britain for a massive reconstruction program for the Suez Canal which would allow ships to go through without special pilots. He said the program would only be possible under international control of the Canal.

Abdel Hakim Amer, a right-hand man of Egypt's President Nasser. Amer, now in his mid-30's, long has been regarded as the boy wonder of the Egyptian army.

The Syrian Embassy in Washington announced Syria is carrying out its defense pact with Egypt and devoting all its military forces and resources "to their common cause." It said Syrian armed forces are taking orders from Gen. Amer.

Dr. Mamun Hamui, Syrian charge d'affaires, had an interview with U. S. Asst. Secretary of State Lampton Berry in Washington and gave him this note, a Syrian spokesman said:

"The Syrian government has decided to implement, as of this moment, the joint Egyptian-Syrian defense pact. . . . Syria is now standing side-by-side with Egypt."

Syria, like Egypt, has been a recipient of arms from behind the Iron Curtain in recent months.

2,000-Acre Game Management Area Planned In Area

Plans and specifications for the development of a 2,000-acre game management area on Crew Lake, South of U.S. Highway 80, are being prepared and will be advertised for bids in the immediate future, according to State Rep. Lawrence Gibbs.

This project, Gibbs explained, will divert water from Erwin Lake and Bayou Boeuf through Little Lake, La Fourche and Crew Lake into this 2,000 acre area.

In the fall of the year, it is needed for ducks and other game, Gibbs said. During the summer months, it will provide water for irrigation and agricultural purposes along little Bayou La Fourche and Crew Lake, he added.

Anglo-French Landings In Egypt Reported Imminent

Disaster May Claim 126 Lives

SPRINGHILL, N. S., Nov. 2 —UP— Rescue crews went down the slanting shaft of a coal mine Friday night in a final frantic effort to reach 111 miners trapped and feared dead more than a mile underground.

Mine officials said there was little hope that any of the trapped men would be alive because of deadly coal gas that seeped into the tunnel after a surface level explosion Thursday. The miners have been entombed for nearly 26 hours. Fifteen were known dead in the disaster.

The only chance, one official said was that some of the miners may have reached an air compressor hose pumping oxygen into the tunnel.

A fire that forced workers to retreat from the tunnel this afternoon was smothered by sealing off the shaft. The rescuers re-entered the tunnel after the smoke cleared. Fifteen ambulances waited at the pithead with about 25 doctors and 40 nurses.

No contact has been made with the trapped men since the blast. Mine officials said a tapping heard earlier on the compressor hose could not have come from the miners.

The potential death toll of 126 in the disaster would top the 125 killed in an 1891 mine disaster in this same area.

African-Asian Block Demanding Further Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—The U.N. Asian-African bloc demanded tonight that the special U. N. Assembly make new and stronger efforts to halt British, French and Israeli action against Egypt. Some of the group want military, economic and financial restrictions imposed quickly.

Appeals were also reported being made by some group members to President Eisenhower and Prime Ministers Nehru of India and St. Laurent of Canada to send personal messages to Prime Minister Eden asking him to accept the Assembly recommendations for a cease-fire.

As the pace of diplomatic moves was accelerated. Egypt informed U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold she accepted the cease-fire plan provided that the "aggressors" would do likewise.

The Asian African group, made up of 23 U.N. members plus Japan, dispatched a memorandum to Hammarskjold pointing out that Britain, France and Israel had not complied with the cease-fire resolution and demanding action.

The chairman of the Asian-African group, Ambassador Djalal Abdoh of Iran, delivered the memorandum to Hammarskjold. He declined to discuss its contents but diplomatic sources said it insisted that the Assembly must follow BLOCKED — An Egyptian communique has announced that British and French bombers sank an Egyptian naval vessel in the Suez Canal Nov. 1, blocking the vital waterway. The communique said the "naval unit Akka" was hit by British-French bombs while "transiting the Canal near Lake Timsah." The communique added that British-French planes also raided Egyptian land forces as they were crossing the Canal, especially in the Perdan area which is north of Ismailia.

Eisenhower Offers Food, Medical Supplies To Aid Rebel Forces In Hungary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 —UP— President Eisenhower Friday offered $20 million worth of American food and medical supplies to revolt-torn Hungary to help bolster it in its struggle for freedom from Russia.

He made the offer after conferring with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr. Dulles had just returned from the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York.

"All America pays tribute in these troubled days to the courage and sacrificies of the Hungarian people in their determination to secure freedom," the President said.

There was no immediate reply from Hungary. But Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty have appealed to the United States for help of any kind.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's offer would include about $15 million worth of such surplus foods as corn, wheat, flour and skim milk. The other $5 million would be in the form of meats, oils, fats and medical supplies.

Agriculture Department officials said the administration may be considering a similar gift of food in its offer of economic help to Poland.

Adlai Outlines Plan For Ending Mid-East Fight

DETROIT, Nov. 2 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson tonight came up with a four-point plan that he said "a determined American government could use "to stop the war and strike a blow for peace" in the Middle East.

"Whatever the provocation," Stevenson said "aggression can no longer be tolerated in the atomic age."

Stevenson flew here today after making a noon-day speech in Cleveland.

And in each the Democratic presidential candidate bore down heavily on what he evidently believes to be the major issue of the campaign:

How well has President Eisenhower handled this nation's foreign policy?

Stevenson said what he calls "the incredible blunders" of the Eisenhower administration could be solved if the "grand alliance upon which the fate of all free men depends" is restored.

Then he laid down this plan for peace:

"First, security must be restored along the frontiers dividing Israel from her neighbors. One root of all the trouble in the Middle East is that Israel's neighbors have denied her right to exist and have engaged in continual hos-

Crossword puzzle workers again failed to solve the Morning World puzzle during the week, missing the jackpot of $125 and bringing the coming week's award to $150.

As during the past numerous weeks, hundreds of completed puzzle forms piled into the World office with several missing by only one letter.

The following is an explanation of the more difficult clues in answer to the puzzle published October 26th and 27th:

CLUES ACROSS:

2. Cat is best. Why shouldn't she want to keep a "pretty old" COT since age would hardly affect the usefulness of a COT. A CAT that was "pretty old" might well be a real nuisance.

6. Since a SAW is a SAYING, while a LAW is in documentary form, the word "sounds" points to SAW.

9. LAME is best. A person who is LATE presumably CAN hurry. The idea of "making desperate ATTEMPTS" points to LAME.

12. Obviously SALT is a good

Eden To Answer UN Appeal Before Parliament Today

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 3 (AP)— British and French troops were poised today to jump into Egypt.

The French Defense Ministry announced British-French air forces have completed softening-up attacks on Egypt and said all is set for the leap.

A junior minister in Prime Minister Eden's Cabinet said late last night:

"A few hours from now British and French troops will be occupying territory in the canal zone."

Egypt already has been invaded and beaten in Sinai by Israeli Gaza, headquarters of the Egyptian-held Gaza strip, fell to Israeli forces.

Israel claims control of all the Sinai Peninsula up to points within 10 miles of the Suez Canal.

But a menace to Israel loomed to the east. Radio Israel said troops are moving into neighboring Jordan from both Iraq and Syria.

Egypt, Syria and Jordan are linked in defense pacts against Israel and Iraq had promised aid in case of attack by the Jewish state.

An authoritative source said Britain and France will defy the United Nations Assembly's demand of Friday for an immediate cease-fire.

Eden is expected to tell Parliament today that British and French troops will occupy the Suez Canal zone until the U. N. establishes an international police force to keep peace in the Middle East.

The Prime Minister is making a TV address to the British people tonight.

Harold Macmillan, chancellor of the exchequer, told a political rally:

"Things will move rapidly in the next few days . . . of course we want American cooperation . . . but I think America begins to understand our position as each day passes."

The Egyptians claimed a second time that the Suez Canal had been blocked, this time by the sinking

British Consul Says Nation May Reject UN Order

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 2 (AP)— R. G. Dundas, British counsel general in New Orleans, said here today Great Britain probably will not comply with the UN order to get out of the Suez Canal area.

He said the UN needs a police force before it can enforce decisions, but "Great Britain will probably have to continue despite the UN order" since she is not in Egypt by her own wish.

British Prime Minister Eden will make a statement tomorrow in the House of Commons on the UN call for a cease-fire in Egypt.

Dundas, speaking to the Shreveport Rotary Club, said "What would suit us best is for the UN to take over where Britain leaves off."

He said Britain and France acted partly because "Our object was to get in between two contestants and keep them apart. This situation is not permanent. We have said we would get out when our mission has been completed."

He called it "not a war, but a police action."

Dundas also revealed a proposal by Great Britain for a massive reconstruction program for the Suez Canal which would allow ships to go through without special pilots. He said the program would only be possible under international control of the Canal.

Kefauver Ending Vote-Getting Tour In Pennsylvania

EN ROUTE WITH KEFAUVER, Nov. 2 (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver campaigned through heavily industrialized western Pennsylvania Friday in his final bid to draw the state's 32 electoral votes to the Democratic column.

While his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, spoke for votes cross state at Hershey, Pa., the Tennessee senator told an audience at Beaver Falls the Eisenhower administration "squandered" $110 million appropriated by Congress for military aircraft.

Kefauver rode triumphantly into Beaver Falls sprinkled by confetti and tossing a football with a practiced hand with schoolboys who ran alongside his open car as it moved down the main street.

The reception, which cheered western Pennsylvania leaders, was easily one of the best Kefauver has received in his final week of campaigning.

Kefauver's convertible, preceeded by a horse - drawn wagon, moved slowly through the downtown streets as the former University of Tennessee substitute football player polished up his passing form with the rolicking schoolboys. When the car stopped at the hotel where he was to rest before his evening speaking engagement, the crowd ringed him and he made a brief speech of thanks before going inside.

In his prepared address later, Kefauver told a Democratic rally that Congress in 1953 appropriated $110 million for a fleet of aircraft capable of carrying tanks into the heart of battle. The Eisenhower administration "re-programmed" the money, he said, to buy "six dozen passenger planes which were then plushed up, equipped with upholstered seats, headrests, hatracks, galleys and other equiment which haven't the remotest connection with combat readiness."

The planes are now "flying passengers between the Atlantic Coast and Europe in direct competition with private enterprise," he said.

"As a result $110 million of your taxes was squandered by the Republican administration."

Eden Comes Under Stop The War Laborite Pressure

LONDON, NoNv. 2 (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, came under increasing pressure today to find a face-saving way out of the hostilities against Egypt.

Britain's organized labor movement launched a nationwide "stop the war" campaign with the announcement of a massive rally Sunday in London's Trafalgar Square. Protest meetings in a score of other major cities will follow.

Individual union members talked openly of staging protest strikes which could seriously hamper the campaign to seize the Suez Canal zone. The rumblings persisted despite a statement by Sir Thomas Williamson, chairman of the giant Trades Union Congress, that the TUC "will not countenance unofficial industrial action."

After bitter debate in the House of Commons, Eden won four votes of confidence on the government's action in the Middle East. But the voting — ranging from 324-255 to 320-253 — was on strict party lines, and London newspapers estimated that at least 30 of the prime minister's own Conservative followers in the House felt he made a mistake in acting outside the United Nations.

Lord Altrincham, a Conservative who edits the monthly National and English Review, told reporters, "There is a definite move in the party to get rid of Eden as prime minister."

The Daily Express, which has strongly supported Eden's action against Egypt, commented:

"It is not thought that these discontented Tories will be held in check beyond the weekend. One senior Tory back-bencher (member of the Commons rank and file) put it this way: 'There has got to be a showdown very soon now.' "

Eden gave no outward sign of retreat from his plan to take over the canal zone with the French in order — as he put it — to "stabilize the position" for peace.

"If the United Nations was then willing to take over the physical task of maintaining peace in that area," he told Commons, "no one would be better pleased than we. But police action there must be."

The influential, independent Times, which is normally strongly pro-Conservative, expressed serious misgivings over Britain's failure to consult with America in advance of the military action.

"This is no side issues," the Times declared. "It is one of the most vital in the present crisis. On Britain's and America's ability to trust each other, even in disagreement, the peace of the world depends."

The Liberal News Chronicle declared: "Our present policy must be reversed. The attack on Egypt must be called off."

But the Conservative Daily Telegraph, backing Eden to the hilt, predicted that if he and his Conservative ministers successfully bring off the "police action," they "can be sure that many of those now sincerely and violently against them will change their minds."

The Conservative Daily Mail predicted that Anthony Nutting, Britain's 35-year-old minister of state for foreign affairs, will soon resign.

Six Applications Filed On Friday

Applications to drill six new wells were filed Friday with the Monroe District office of the state Conservation Department. One completion and one abandonment was also reported. answer. SALE can refer to the simple transaction of selling in which case every merchant WOULD think a SALE necessary.

15. WRY, twisted or paradoxical humor certainly evades some people. Of humor, "DRY" simply means "restrained," and does not imply any particularly subtle type of humor.

16. PARK is preferred to DARK. For one reason one speaks of night driving, say, rather than of driving "in the DARK." Having lights, you aren't entirely in the DARK anyway. In a PARK, however, it pays to take special care.

21. IDEALISM, simply regarded as an abstract mental quality, is too indirect. It is specific exhibitions of IDEALISM, such as the acts of, or views expressed by, an IDEALIST that may have the effect mentioned.

22. FAN is an excellent answer, particularly in view of the "big game" setting of the clue. A MAN who gets excited at a big game presumably IS a FAN anyway.

23. MISERY is the neater answer since MISERY is a condition and "joy and gladness" are also conditions. MISERS are men.

CLUES DOWN:

1. The clue would seem to favor either WALK of TALK equally. However, the word "learns" in the clue favors TALK since a child "learns" to TALK since it has to "learn" the words and "starts" to WALK since walking is a natural procedure which comes automatically. Thus, TALK is best.

2. The clue reads as though he might do so but it would be exceptional. This favors CHESS over CRESS. A lone man might well enjoy some CRESS but rarely does a man play CHESS alone although it is done.

5. PLAN, yes; but in musical hits, many a poor PLAY has been a highly successful vehicle for musical entertainment.

7. Having a few hours to WAIT, you might go to a movie or something. Having to suffer hours of WAILING would certainly be enough to get on your nerves.

11. A muscle is pulled by one sudden movement, favoring SPRING. A SPRINT may last for some seconds or longer.

13. An "affray" is defined by Webster as a brawl, street fight or disturbance. This clearly rules out CRUISER and makes BRUISER the only possible answer.

17 An AXE is, of course, but an APE is a very unpredictable thing whether handled or not.

20. Most men SING, with some sort of voice, but relatively few of them SING VERY LOW. Relatively few men SINK (in the sense implied by the clue) AT ALL.

Food Price Climb Expected In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP)—Food prices will be higher in the first four to five months next year, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

In the 1957 outlook issue of "The National Food Situation," the department predicted a "little less meat per person" late this year and early next year at prices will "continue somewhat higher than the low ones of a year earlier."

Food supplies in general will be a "little lower" in 1957.

FLASH FIRE KILLS

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (UP)—Eban Garcia, a 35-year-old employe of the State Highway Department, died Thursday of burns he received in a flash fire at the department's maintenance shop here. Investigators said gasoline he was using was ignited by a spark.

Administration Defends Public Welfare Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration, defending its record on public welfare, today accused Adlai Stevenson of having shown "reckless disregard for known facts" in this field.

"The plain truth is that in the past four years more resources have been summoned to the cause of better health, education and economic security than ever before," Welfare Secretary Folsom said in a report to President Eisenhower.

The report was released by the White House to counter attacks made on the administration's record by the Democratic presidential nominee.

Folsom quoted Stevenson as saying the Republicans "drag their feet on every proposal" to improve social insurance. In fact, Folsom said, improvements sponsored by the Eisenhower administration are bringing more than one billion dollars of additional social security benefits to aged persons, widows and orphans this year.

When the administration took office in 1953, the report said, it found "wide gaps and deficiencies' in the Social Security program. Folsom said that since then protection has been extended to more than 13 million persons and benefits have been increased by up to $35 a month for a retired couple.

The report also took issue with what it said was Stevenson's assertion that Republicans don't like to spend money for public welfare projects.

The administration asked Congress this year for a 500-million-dollar increase in funds for his department, Folsom said although Congress did not grant that much, the level of federal activities in this field is at the highest point in history.

Saying that Eisenhower was the first president in history to send a special message to Congress on school needs, the report added:

"The administration time and again urged enactment of a five-year two-billion-dollar program of federal grants and other aids to build more schools.

"Congress failed to pass this urgently needed program. Next year, we will press for legislation to get the job done in four years instead of five."

POLICEMAN CHARGED

Pontiff Appeals For Restricting War In Mid-East

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 2 (UP) — Pope Pius XII appealed to world leaders Friday to keep the "small spark" of war in the Middle East from growing into an "enormous flame."

The Pontiff, heartened by the response to his appeal last week for a crusade of prayer for "blood-bathed" Hungary, issued a new encyclical urging prayers for peace in the Middle East.

He noted that the "war-like action" there is taking place "not far from the Holy Land, where the angels ......announced peace for men of good will."

A portion of the letter directed to "those who hold in their hands the fate of peoples" urged moderation in the new Suez crisis.

"It is not with arms, not with slaughter, not with ruins that disputes among men are solved, but only through reason, law, prudence and equity," it said.

Arms Shipments To Israel, Egypt Banned By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The United States has banned all weapons shipments to Israel and Egypt.

Up to now, it has been allowing small amounts to go to Israeli, and very little to Egypt.

The United States also has blocked development of new economic aid programs for these two warring countries, as well as neighboring Syria and Jordan.

The State Department announced these twin steps today less than 10 hours after the United Nations Assembly urgently appealed for an end to the five-day-old fighting in the Mideast.

Press officer Lincoln White said the arms ban was in keeping with an American-sponsored resolution calling for all countries to "refrain from introducing military goods in the area."

White was asked whether the action had not actually been ordered yesterday—as other officials reported privately. He said he was not clear on the time, that there may have been preparatory steps or an actual decision yesterday.

Top government officials were reported split over whether to begin a program of economic pressure against Britain and France for their attack on Egypt.

Informants said some State Department officials favored quick financial and economic action against America's traditional British and French allies, believing it would be unfair to crack down solely on Israel and its Arab foes.

Further hotly debated backstage discussions on this are in prospect during the next few days as the Eisenhower administration seeks to localize the Mideast fighting and eventually halt the bloodshed.

The ban on military shipments hits Israel harder than Egypt which has been able to buy few American military supplies during the past year.

Florida Pipeline Hearing Recessed

The recess was called so that witnesses, many of whom live at a distance, would be able to vote in Tuesday's general election.

The pipeline would be built from Texas and Louisiana gas fields by the Coastal Transmission Corp. and the Houston Texas Gas & Oil Corp.

The hearing is expected to end about the middle of this month.

Eden Comes Under Stop The War Laborite Pressure

LONDON, NoNv. 2 (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, came under increasing pressure today to find a face-saving way out of the hostilities against Egypt.

Britain's organized labor movement launched a nationwide "stop the war" campaign with the announcement of a massive rally Sunday in London's Trafalgar Square. Protest meetings in a score of other major cities will follow.

Individual union members talked openly of staging protest strikes which could seriously hamper the campaign to seize the Suez Canal zone. The rumblings persisted despite a statement by Sir Thomas Williamson, chairman of the giant Trades Union Congress, that the TUC "will not countenance unofficial industrial action."

After bitter debate in the House of Commons, Eden won four votes of confidence on the government's action in the Middle East. But the voting — ranging from 324-255 to 320-253 — was on strict party lines, and London newspapers estimated that at least 30 of the prime minister's own Conservative followers in the House felt he made a mistake in acting outside the United Nations.

Lord Altrincham, a Conservative who edits the monthly National and English Review, told reporters, "There is a definite move in the party to get rid of Eden as prime minister."

The Daily Express, which has strongly supported Eden's action against Egypt, commented:

"It is not thought that these discontented Tories will be held in check beyond the weekend. One senior Tory back-bencher (member of the Commons rank and file) put it this way: 'There has got to be a showdown very soon now.' "

Eden gave no outward sign of retreat from his plan to take over the canal zone with the French in order — as he put it — to "stabilize the position" for peace.

"If the United Nations was then willing to take over the physical task of maintaining peace in that area," he told Commons, "no one would be better pleased than we. But police action there must be."

The influential, independent Times, which is normally strongly pro-Conservative, expressed serious hisgivings over Britain's failure to consult with America in advance of the military action.

"This is no side issues," the Times declared. "It is one of the most vital in the present crisis. On Britain's and America's ability to trust each other, even in disagreement, the peace of the world depends."

The Liberal News Chronicle declared: "Our present policy must be reversed. The attack on Egypt must be called off."

But the Conservative Daily Telegraph, backing Eden to the hilt, predicted that if he and his Conservative ministers successfully bring off the "police action," they "can be sure that many of those now sincerely and violently against them will change their minds."

The Conservative Daily Mail predicted that Anthony Nutting, Britain's 35-year-old minister of state for foreign affairs, will soon resign.

Six Applications Filed On Friday

Applications to drill six new wells were filed Friday with the Monroe District office of the state Conservation Department. One completion and one abandonment was also reported. A number of the original members of this group have died but eight still survive and they went through the usual formality of business. Here is a list of survivors, all of whom attended the breakfast. President, Eugene Shows; Luther Reed, secretary-treasurer; S. C. Blackmon, Longview, Tex.; J. B. Mangham, Shreveport; R. Downes Jr., Houston, Tex.; J. M. Goodnight, Collinston; John Gernon, E. M. Henderson, the last two from Monroe.

The appearance here of R. Downes, popularly known as "Dick' Downes, who served for many years as vice - president of the Ouachita National bank was of interest for his friends here are legion. Also S. C. Blackmon, years ago was one of the best known business men in Monroe. Now he is retired and lives in Longview, Tex.

answer. SALE can refer to the simple transaction of selling in which case every merchant WOULD think a SALE necessary.

15. WRY, twisted or paradoxical humor certainly evades some people. Of humor, "DRY" simply means "restrained," and does not imply any particularly subtle type of humor.

16. PARK is preferred to DARK. For one reason one speaks of night driving, say, rather than of driving "in the DARK." Having lights, you aren't entirely in the DARK anyway. In a PARK, however, it pays to take special care.

21. IDEALISM, simply regarded as an abstract mental quality, is too indirect. It is specific exhibitions of IDEALISM, such as the acts of, or views expressed by, an IDEALIST that may have the effect mentioned.

22. FAN is an excellent answer, particularly in view of the "big game" setting of the clue. A MAN who gets excited at a big game presumably IS a FAN anyway.

23. MISERY is the neater answer since MISERY is a condition and "joy and gladness" are also conditions. MISERS are men.

CLUES DOWN:

1. The clue would seem to favor either WALK of TALK equally. However, the word "learns" in the clue favors TALK since a child "learns" to TALK since it has to "learn" the words and "starts" to WALK since walking is a natural procedure which comes automatically. Thus, TALK is best.

2. The clue reads as though he might do so but it would be exceptional. This favors CHESS over CRESS. A lone man might well enjoy some CRESS but rarely does a man play CHESS alone although it is done.

5. PLAN, yes; but in musical hits, many a poor PLAY has been a highly successful vehicle for musical entertainment.

7. Having a few hours to WAIT, you might go to a movie or something. Having to suffer hours of WAILING would certainly be enough to get on your nerves.

11. A muscle is pulled by one sudden movement, favoring SPRING. A SPRINT may last for some seconds or longer.

13. An "affray" is defined by Webster as a brawl, street fight or disturbance. This clearly rules out CRUISER and makes BRUISER the only possible answer.

17 An AXE is, of course, but an APE is a very unpredictable thing whether handled or not.

20. Most men SING, with some sort of voice, but relatively few of them SING VERY LOW. Relatively few men SINK (in the sense implied by the clue) AT ALL.

Food Price Climb Expected In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP)—Food prices will be higher in the first four to five months next year, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

In the 1957 outlook issue of "The National Food Situation," the department predicted a "little less meat per person" late this year and early next year at prices will "continue somewhat higher than the low ones of a year earlier."

Food supplies in general will be a "little lower" in 1957.

FLASH FIRE KILLS

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (UP)—Eban Garcia, a 35-year-old employe of the State Highway Department, died Thursday of burns he received in a flash fire at the department's maintenance shop here. Investigators said gasoline he was using was ignited by a spark.

Administration Defends Public Welfare Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration, defending its record on public welfare, today accused Adlai Stevenson of having shown "reckless disregard for known facts" in this field.

"The plain truth is that in the past four years more resources have been summoned to the cause of better health, education and economic security than ever before," Welfare Secretary Folsom said in a report to President Eisenhower.

The report was released by the White House to counter attacks made on the administration's record by the Democratic presidential nominee.

Folsom quoted Stevenson as saying the Republicans "drag their feet on every proposal" to improve social insurance. In fact, Folsom said, improvements sponsored by the Eisenhower administration are bringing more than one billion dollars of additional social security benefits to aged persons, widows and orphans this year.

When the administration took office in 1953, the report said, it found "wide gaps and deficiencies' in the Social Security program. Folsom said that since then protection has been extended to more than 13 million persons and benefits have been increased by up to $35 a month for a retired couple.

The report also took issue with what it said was Stevenson's assertion that Republicans don't like to spend money for public welfare projects.

The administration asked Congress this year for a 500-million-dollar increase in funds for his department, Folsom said although Congress did not grant that much, the level of federal activities in this field is at the highest point in history.

Saying that Eisenhower was the first president in history to send a special message to Congress on school needs, the report added:

"The administration time and again urged enactment of a five-year two-billion-dollar program of federal grants and other aids to build more schools.

"Congress failed to pass this urgently needed program. Next year, we will press for legislation to get the job done in four years instead of five."

POLICEMAN CHARGED

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (UP)—The Bexar county grand jury Friday returned an indictment charging murder with malice against Dan Nixon, a former city policeman accused of shooting his wife to death at their home Oct. 5. He was freed in $10,000 bond.

Pontiff Appeals For Restricting War In Mid-East

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 2 (UP) — Pope Pius XII appealed to world leaders Friday to keep the "small spark" of war in the Middle East from growing into an "enormous flame."

The Pontiff, heartened by the response to his appeal last week for a crusade of prayer for "blood-bathed" Hungary, issued a new encyclical urging prayers for peace in the Middle East.

He noted that the "war-like action" there is taking place "not far from the Holy Land, where the angels ......announced peace for men of good will."

A portion of the letter directed to "those who hold in their hands the fate of peoples" urged moderation in the new Suez crisis.

"It is not with arms, not with slaughter, not with ruins that disputes among men are solved, but only through reason, law, prudence and equity," it said.

Arms Shipments To Israel, Egypt Banned By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The United States has banned all weapons shipments to Israel and Egypt.

Up to now, it has been allowing small amounts to go to Israeli, and very little to Egypt.

The United States also has blocked development of new economic aid programs for these two warring countries, as well as neighboring Syria and Jordan.

The State Department announced these twin steps today less than 10 hours after the United Nations Assembly urgently appealed for an end to the five-day-old fighting in the Mideast.

Press officer Lincoln White said the arms ban was in keeping with an American-sponsored resolution calling for all countries to "refrain from introducing military goods in the area."

White was asked whether the action had not actually been ordered yesterday—as other officials reported privately. He said he was not clear on the time, that there may have been preparatory steps or an actual decision yesterday.

Top government officials were reported split over whether to begin a program of economic pressure against Britain and France for their attack on Egypt.

Informants said some State Department officials favored quick financial and economic action against America's traditional British and French allies, believing it would be unfair to crack down solely on Israel and its Arab foes.

Further hotly debated backstage discussions on this are in prospect during the next few days as the Eisenhower administration seeks to localize the Mideast fighting and eventually halt the bloodshed.

The ban on military shipments hits Israel harder than Egypt which has been able to buy few American military supplies during the past year.

Israel has been buying small quantities of light American weapons, electronic gear, replacements and communications material.

Florida Pipeline Hearing Recessed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Federal Power Commission hearing on applications to construct natural gas pipelines in Florida was recessed today until Nov. 8.

The recess was called so that witnesses, many of whom live at a distance, would be able to vote in Tuesday's general election.

The pipeline would be built from Texas and Louisiana gas fields by the Coastal Transmission Corp. and the Houston Texas Gas & Oil Corp.

The hearing is expected to end about the middle of this month.

Louisiana produces 90 per cent of the sugar cane in the nation.

U.S. Accuses Britain Of Giving Erroneous Reports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP) American officials have accused Britain of giving this country deliberately misleading reports to mask British - French plans for seizure of the Suez Canal, it was learned Friday.

Additional details of the undercover intrigues of the past several days have come to light showing how British diplomats kept this country in the dark about plans for military action against Egypt.

The United States has protested the maneuvering. Cables are humming between London and Washington in an effort to re-establish diplomatic understanding disrupted by the surprise British-French move.

As reconstructed by American authorities here is what happened:

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles became alarmed at signs of trouble building up in the Middle East. U.S. envoys in London and Paris were asked to find out what was going on. But when they contacted the British and French foreign offices they got no inkling that a power play was shaping up. Some information obtained now is described as "misleading."

Recently, according to American sources, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd notified Dulles he planned to see him in advance of the Nov. 12 meeting of the UN General Assembly. The purpose of the conference, it is said, would have been to discuss a "peaceful" solution of the Suez crisis. Dulles took this as a sign Lloyd was not thinking in terms of using force.

Lloyd also is said to have passed up opportunities in talks with U.S. Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich in London to keep the United States abreast of developments. Aldrich had been seeking information on an urgent basis.

Lloyd conferred in London with Aldrich Monday morning — the day before the British and French started military action against Egypt. The British diplomat complained about American plans to put the Israeli aggression against Egypt before the UN Security Council. But he gave no hint, officials said, that a military move against Suez was under consideration that day.

Elvis Courting His Lady Fair On Motorcycle

MEMPHIS, Nov. 2 (AP) — The teen agers' rock 'n' roll idol took his Hollywood lady fair out for a fast whirl on a motorcycle last night.

Elvis (The Pelvis) Presley, dapper in tight jeans, leather jacket and peaked cap, roared out of his drivewar, past a small cluster of fans, and sped away with screen star Natalie Wood clinging behind him on the seat.

Natalie, the rising young actress who starred in "Rebel Without a Cause" with the late James Dean, and "Johnny Concho" with Frank Sinatra, was whooping with glee. She too wore jeans.

But what's fun for Natalie and Elvis is a headache for Hollywood producers, who cringe every time a valuable property gets aboard a motorcycle. They think it's dangerous.

The motorcycle is Presley's pet. His manager's urgent requests that he lay it by, at least until he makes a pile, gets small heed.

Presley also rates the lovely Miss Wood highly. He calls her his "favorite actress." They dated frequently when he was in Hollywood recently making a picture.

Natalie arrived Wednesday night to spend a couple of days at the home of Presley's parents.

"My studio doesn't know I'm here," she said. "But I guess they will find out."

Natalie's studio did.

"She's on vacation," said a spokesman for Warner Bros. last night, "and can do what she wants to."

Hal March Feels He's Finally Been Accepted As Actor

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 (UP)—Hal March, on one TV spectacular tonight and with two more in the oven, figures he's finally been accepted as an actor and not a $64,000 freak of show business.

The affable, handsome March is in Hollywood to guest on the Dinah Shore program. Next he'll tackle starring roles on NBC in "High Button Shoes" and "The George M. Cohan Story."

Yet it wasn't long ago he was afraid he'd never get another acting job—but would be left forever moving gabby contestants from one plateau to the next.

"When 'The $64,000 Question' got famous, I got famous along with it—accidentally "as the emcee," said March over lunch.

"It began to drive me crazy. I felt like a non-entity. The show, not me, was successful. I decided I'd better do an acting job real fast, so I did 'Dream Girl.' I knew if I waited four months longer I'd never get a job as an actor again.

"Thirty per cent of the critics around the country didn't know I was an actor, and expressed surprise in their reviews. And I'd been in vaudeville, nightclubs and TV for 19 years as an actor and singer! It was very frustrating.

After he did "The Bachelor" on TV March was in as an all-round actor. But sitting with him it's still hard not to think of that slinky music and contestant's booth on "The $64,000 Question."

March paused in our interview to autograph a menu for a man who boomed, "my mother-in-law in Shreveport says you're the biggest thing in town there."

Negro Killed As Car Turns Over In East Carroll

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 1 (Special) — An early morning accident about four miles north of Lake Providence left one Negro boy dead and his twin sister hospitalized with serious injuries, according to East Carroll parish authorities.

Elijah Clark, Jr., 17, died instantly from multiple skull fractures, and his twin sister, Hattie, is in the East Carroll parish hospital with undetermined injuries.

The trooper who investigated the accident said that it occurrd about 1:20 a. m. Friday when a 1950 Chevrolet driven by Hezekiah Diggs, 26, and carrying the accident victims and Sol Gilbert, Jr., 19, failed to make a sharp curve and turned over several times.

The dead boy was pinned in the wreckage, the trooper said. Diggs and Gilbert were not seriously injured.

Diggs is being held in the East Carroll jail on a charge of negligent homicide. His bond has been set at $1,000.

Shreveporter And Utah Man Killed In Head-On Crash

WELLS, Nev., Nov. 2 (AP)—Two men died today when their car crashed head-on into a semi-trailer truck on U. S. Highway 40, 6 miles east of Wells.

Officers late last night still didn't know where the men are from, although papers in their billfolds listed them as Samuel Bolt, [illegible], a native of Little Rock, Ark., and James G. Wagner, 34, a native of Shreveport, La. The papers gave their address as a Salt Lake City hotel, but police there said the men checked out more than a month ago.

Lloyd Sullivan, 35, Granger, Utah, driver of the truck, told Nevada state patrol officers the car crossed into his lane and he pulled as far as he could to the right to avoid the collision. He wasn't hurt.

Negro Killed As Car Turns Over In East Carroll

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 1 (Special) — An early morning accident about four miles north of Lake Providence left one Negro boy dead and his twin sister hospitalized with serious injuries, according to East Carroll parish authorities.

Elijah Clark, Jr., 17, died instantly from multiple skull fractures, and his twin sister, Hattie, is in the East Carroll parish hospital with undetermined injuries.

The trooper who investigated the accident said that it occurrd about 1:20 a. m. Friday when a 1950 Chevrolet driven by Hezekiah Diggs, 26, and carrying the accident victims and Sol Gilbert, Jr., 19, failed to make a sharp curve and turned over several times.

The dead boy was pinned in the wreckage, the trooper said. Diggs and Gilbert were not seriously injured.

Diggs is being held in the East Carroll jail on a charge of negligent homicide. His bond has been set at $1,000.

Shreveporter And Utah Man Killed In Head-On Crash

WELLS, Nev., Nov. 2 (AP)—Two men died today when their car crashed head-on into a semi-trailer truck on U. S. Highway 40, 6 miles east of Wells.

Officers late last night still didn't know where the men are from, although papers in their billfolds listed them as Samuel Bolt, 52, a native of Little Rock, Ark., and James G. Wagner, 34, a native of Shreveport, La. The papers gave their address as a Salt Lake City hotel, but police there said the men checked out more than a month ago.

Lloyd Sullivan, 35, Granger, Utah, driver of the truck, told Nevada state patrol officers the car crossed into his lane and he pulled as far as he could to the right to avoid the collision. He wasn't hurt.

As Nasser Sowed Now So He Reaps

Israel's invasion of the Egyptian frontier may be viewed at first glance as aggression against a neighboring state but studied more closely the action against Egypt by her northern neighbor is revealed as a retaliatory action and possibly a strike against an ominous threat to Israel.

For years Egypt has harrassed the new state of Israel and even refused to recognize the just rights of the Israeli government.

After the Israeli state was created by the United Nations in 1947, Arab forces invaded Israel in an effort to prevent the new government from functioning.

A constant series of Israeli-Egyptian conflicts raged until an armistice was reached in 1949. The Egyptian government maintained blockades against Israeli shipping and stood as a constant threat to the economic survival of the struggling new country.

Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal despite long standing treaties with the British and French governments certainly does not entitle him to expect Anglo-French favor to his cause. Thus, when Israel invades the Egyptian frontier and open war breaks out, it is not hard to see that Britain and France saw an opportunity to return to the Canal Zone, and seize the operation.

In his efforts to bully the Suez issue, Nasser over played his hand and sowed the seeds of his current trouble.

Apparently President Eisenhower considers Nasser, to a large measure, responsible for the current crisis. Though the United States has expressed exasperation at Britain and France's abrupt invasion without first conferring with our government, President Eisenhower has, in effect, announced a position of neutrality in the Middle East conflict. He has said that Israel "did not act without provocation."

Israel's invasion of Egypt to a great degree may be blamed on Egypt. Nasser, himself has not subscribed to peaceful efforts to solve his country's age old dispute with Israel.

As far as Nasser is concerned, his current troubles appear as a fullfilment of the Biblical warning, "As you sow, so shall you reap." Now his government appears doomed.

Threat To Civil Service

Amendment No. 26 is supposed to "clarify" certain provisions of present constitutional civil service. Actually, it is just another Earl K. Long administration effort to weaken constitutional civil service. This amendment is so ambiguously phrased that experts have found it difficult to determine just what it does mean in its provision for public hearings of civil service employes against whom any charges may have been brought. It makes "public hearings" mandatory but doesn't even say who is to conduct them.

The present constitutional provisions on civil service amply cover every subject that is covered in this amendment and do it much better than this amendment proposes. All efforts to weaken the present system of constitutional civil service should be opposed, and that includes Amendment No. 26.

Amendment No. 46 Should Be Defeated

In 1954, the people adopted a constitutional amendment requiring annual sessions of the Legislature in place of the biennial sessions. The new odd year sessions are limited to budgetary or fiscal matters except through consent of three-fourths of the elected members of each branch, and to 30 days duration.

This amendment was a good step in the direction of trying to solve the problems created by biennial sessions alone—such matters as lack of time for genuine consideration of legislation and for those who might oppose proposed legislation to study it and make known their opposition.

Further, the odd year fiscal sessions were a step toward elimination of the use being made by various recent governors of their power to call special sessions. Special sessions, instead of being called only for genuine emergency, had become frequently called sessions, usually for the purpose of getting rid of any public money that might have piled up unexpectedly.

The fiscal session system has not yet had a really fair trial. The one fiscal session of the Kennon administration violated its own principle by going beyond the field of fiscal matters—through a three-fourths vote of each branch—and it may have been justified in doing so. But it was no real trial.

The fiscal session system is not a full answer to the evils of the biennial sessions but at least it is in the right direction.

Amendment No. 46 would abolish the fiscal session system. The Morning World believes that this amendment should be defeated.

Plenty Of Energy

A few countries, of which England is one, are embarking on all-out "crash" programs to produce electricity from atomic energy—despite the fact that such programs almost inevitably must be wasteful, and that the end result may be a huge investment in facilities which will quickly become obsolete.

The United States, happily, does not require that kind of atomic program. Here the work can go ahead in an orderly manner, with minimum of waste and error.

The reason is that we have an abundance of other energy sources from which to produce power—the most important of those sources being coal. Britian, by contrast, is finding it impossible to mine enough coal for her needs—hence the emphasis on the atom.

The use of coal in power generation is increasing at a rapid pace. It is expected that this trend will continue for a great many years to come. Coal is not only an efficient producer of power—and a product of which we have virtually unlimited reserves — but an exceedingly economical one. Extraordinary progress has been made in getting more and more electricity from a given amount of coal.

We have the world's finest coal industry, with the most advanced mining methods. That is a national asset of the first importance.

THESE DAYS

Is There A Connection?

On October 6, Konstantin Orlov, commentator in English to North America, on the Moscow Radio, said:

" . . . Spokesmen for the Republican administration assert that they stand for disarmament, if such measures can be controlled—but why, in that case, do they spurn the Soviet Union's proposal to prohibit by agreement the testing of nuclear weapons which it is easy to keep tabs on, even now, without waiting for any elaborate system of control?

"To check up on the fulfillment of such an agreement is a simple matter, because instruments can immediately detect any nuclear weapons tests and the whole world would at once point its finger at the transgressor. Obviously it is not the absence of control that is keeping the problem unsolved, but the absence of desire."

This same argument is being used by Thomas K. Finletter and Adlai Stevenson. The idea is that as the Russians refuse to agree to a universal treaty for inspection and control, why not agree to stop testing the H-bomb anyhow? The Russians have rejected international inspection and control since 1946 when the Baruch plan was introduced.

What guarantee is there that every test can be discovered? It can be said that up to now, the United States has succeeded in discovering some Russian explosions, perhaps all of them, but nobody can be sure that we discovered all of them. Nobody knows. Without inspection, nobody can know.

Then Orlov said:

" . . . Adlai Stevenson says in his campaign speeches that he supports the proposal to ban atomic tests and argues that new ideas, which the Republicans do not have, are needed to find a solution to the disarmament problem.

"That, of course, is true—especially when we speak of ideas that could help reach agreement, for we all know how things have been so far with the representatives of the Republicans. Every time the Soviet Union agreed with American proposals, the U.S. representative promptly retracted and offered something else. Under such circumstances, it is indeed hard to find a way to disarmament, but what I would like to know is: What prevented the Democrats from suggesting new ideas heretofore, particularly with regard to disarmament?"

Actually the Baruch proposal was made when the Democratic Harry Truman was President. At that time, there was another proposal, called the Acheson-Lilienthal Plan. The Russians gave no indication of wanting to accept that. In fact, there is nothing in the record to show that the Russians ever accepted any American proposal to limit or outlaw the atomic bomb; the fact being that the Americans insisted upon inspection and control which the Russians regularly rejected. What have the Russians to say about the Conference at the Summit at Geneva where Bulganin and Khrushchev met with Eisenhower and Eden? A proposal was made then which could have outlawed the bomb. What became of that? What have the Russians done about the "open sky" proposal?

Orlov does not have much to say in favor of the Democrats. This is his comment:

"The leaders of the Democratic Party, judging from their statements, are disclaiming Washington's policies, but what are they offering instead? Nothing special, as far as I can see. They seem to actually favor the same course of conduct, because none of the Democratic leaders who are leveling criticism at the Republicans are inclined to condemn the mailed first policy or the arms drive."

This is one point of view. On the same October 6, Alexeyev, another Soviet commentator, speaking in Japanese, said:

"A majority of people have often been puzzled by the American attitude toward disarmament and a ban of nuclear weapons tests. American officials have offered a great number of proposals and schemes on these issues. The proposals and schemes, however, have been changed so often that the people, ignorant of the reasons for the changes, have often been puzzled.

"They may have the impression that America is searching for the best way to achieve disarmament. In fact, however, America has made no practical proposal, nor has it accepted any proposals during 11 years of discussion on disarmament in both general and nuclear weapons. This fact gives us the contrary impression—that America has no interest in disarmament."

Bernard Baruch will be interested in knowing that his proposal to outlaw the A-bomb is not even in the record. Baruch took his work in this connection very seriously. (Copyright, 1956, King Features

Our Children

Election Day

Election Day is the high mark of our way of doing things that affect the great mass of us, the people. On this day we decide who is to lead the nation for the next four years as President of these United States, this being Presidential Election Day. Once the votes are counted and the winner announced, we accept the answer and go ahead with what good sense and philosophy we can muster.

There being two sides to the election, of course, one side is not too happy — but they go along and do the best they can to uphold their side for the next four years. The opposition will argue and they will point out that the nation is going to the dogs under the ruling party, but should a national emergency arise they will, to a man, forget their partisanship and stand by for action.

This way of governing is rare in our world of struggle and strife. We hear of lands where one selfishly insane man seizes the government and denies the people any right, any voice, any part in their government. When we hear of such happenings, we are likely to be reminded of the blessings of the freedom we enjoy.

This day ought to be used as a core of study in secondary school social studies classes. It ought to be emphasized so that the young people begin to glimpse what their government means to them. Students should be allowed to bring the family newspaper to class and discuss the leading articles freely. They should be allowed to take sides and argue, battle, for their points of view.

There seems to be a notion in many a community that politics have no place in school. Government has a place and how that can be taught to the exclusion of politics is beyond me. Politics are critical in our way of life, and surely the oncoming generation should be prepared to understand them, to view the actions of the politicians with a critical mind, a well-informed and open mind. Else how can our form of government stand?

Give and take is our way of doing things. Fair play, the right to think and to say what we think and be responsible accordingly, are fundamental to national being and the acceptance of them, respect for them, must be stimulated and cultivated in the schools. Election days, not only President Election Days, should become highlights of the course in social studies and not just a day off from school.

A cowardly attitude is often due to shyness. Dr. Patri discusses this trait and offers his advice in leaflet P-12, "The Shy Child." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Labor Vote Aims At Democratic Congress

The old time machine politicians could learn something from organized labor in getting out the vote, and being sure that it is cast for the right candidates.

Labor's methods are neither illegal nor improper by usual standards of political judgment. But in many precincts they will be high pressured and difficult to counter.

This is mentioned simply because within the major political organizations, the labor vote on Nov. 6 will be the largest integrated bloc and it will be shepherded to the polls by the most efficient organization union labor has ever put into a national political campaign.

The combined AFL-CIO organization often, through its officials, speaks of its 15 million members as supporting or seeking this or that. And though these same officials, under the American system, have no right to tell the worker how he should vote, they come as close to doing so as the law permits.

Their final gesture will be a closed circuit television program carried to labor election rallies in 27 northern and western cities on Thursday night, November 1. Ostensibly it will not be a partisan political affair, but an appeal to get out the vote. The closed circuit arrangement enables the AFL-CIO to circumvent the provisions of the Taft - Hartley law, which forbids use of union dues for partisan political purposes.

The cost of the telecast, estimated at $30,000 will be paid out of union dues. In contrast contributions to political campaigns are made from the fund raised by COPE, which stands for committee for political education. This committee has raised an unreported sum, estimated to be in excess of $1,500,000, to aid candidates for congress and for the Democratic presidential ticket of Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

None of the three speakers at the rally, who will be George Meany, president of the combined unions and Jack Kroll and James L. McDevitt, co - chairmen of COPE will urge support of specific parties or candidates. If any of them should mention that AFL-CIO has endorsed Stevenson, the question arises whether Senator Albert Gore (Dem. - Tenn.) chairman of the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, would call the committee officials in to ask them why the use of union dues did not violate the Taft - Hartley law, since the favorable mention of any candidate would seem to make it a partisan - political show.

Adding the votes of families of union members to those of the members themselves would raise their potential voting total to an estimated 25,000,000. Polls have indicated that at least 40 per cent of this vote in 1952 went to the Eisenhower - Nixon ticket. Thus the support of union members and their families may have accounted for some 10,000,000 of the approximately 34,000,000 popular vote for the Republican ticket.

This year, the political labor wing is concentrating on election of a Democratic senate and house. That does mean, however, that all Democrats receive its approval. Its record of "right and wrong" votes, sent to all AFL - CIO members shows that only 38 Democratic senators and 168 Democratic congressmen had records meeting with its approval. These include all Democratic senators running for reelection in two - party states, while fifteen Republican senators up for reelection are opposed.

COPE thus concentrates in favor of legislators who have supported labor approved measures. Only one Republican senator met this test —Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont.

Recent polls have shown in prospect the highest percentage of the union family vote for the Republican ticket of any presidential election since the present polls were established — about 40 per cent, while rises to close to 50 per cent when the count is taken among families of manual workers, regardless of union affiliation.

It seems plain from the type of campaign made by union leaders this year that their aim is a Democratic congress rather than a Democratic president. In congress, with the methods they have evolved to get out the vote, they expect to establish a balance of power, which could give the Democrats an edge in this and future congressional elections. That is the plan of Walter Reuther, vice president of AFL-CIO, who wants eventually to make labor the controlling factor within the Democratic party.

Farm Problem Is Top Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON — Among the half - dozen top campaign issues picked in a Congressional Quarterly poll of newspaper editors, the farm problem easily rates as the nation's No. 1 political football.

The reason is simple: while the rest of the economy is booming, farmers have been taking a licking. For this state of affairs, each party blames the other, knowing full well that victory on Nov. 6 may hinge on the farm vote in one-third of the states.

Beyond this elementary fact, however, the farm issue begins to get complicated. It takes a full-length speech for either the Republican or the Democratic candidate to explain the utter fallacy of his opponent's farm program and to contrast this with the rectitude of his own approach.

The gist of the Republican argument: Surpluses, built up by Democratic high price supports, drove down farm prices. Not until this year did the GOP flexible supports program go into effect. Now things are looking up.

The essence of the Democratic argument: Farmers can't look for relief to an administration dominated by big - business interests. The Republicans broke their 1952 farm pledges and can't be trusted. Only Democrats will help the farmer.

Whether there is, in fact, a solid "farm vote" is open to some question. But the assumption is implicit in every major farm speech, as the opposing candidates make their contradictory appeals to self-interest.

Following are some of the points of conflict, as seen by the respective presidential and vice presidential nominees:

On price supports — Eisenhower: "The old price - depressing Democratic farm programs stayed in effect right up to harvest last year. Relentlessly they drove prices down as they had for years before. Eighty - five per cent of the price decline after the Korean war inflation came while rigid price supports were still in effect. Our opponents today are criticizing the mess that they themselves left behind."

Kefauver — In 1952 Candidate Eisenhower " 'said the farmers' returns must be boosted from the 90 per cent of parity to a full 100 per cent.' . . . What was President Eisenhower's performances? . . . Returns to farmers have dropped as low as 80 per cent of parity. He forgot 100 per cent of parity — and he forgot 100 per cent of the farmers."

On Small farmers — Eisenhower: The Democrats "had 20 long years to do something for the most needy families on our farms. At the end of those 20 years, they had done nothing — except to by-pass the small farmer as they made corporation and big area farming more profitable than ever before. And the administration's new rural development program is the first . . . full - scale and integrated federal effort to help these lowest-income families."

Stevenson: "The president tried to claim that this Republican administration was the first to take up the cause of the needy farmer. The fact is that the Democrats initiated the program of federal aid to the family farm with the farm security administration nearly 20 years ago. President Eisenhower may have forgotten this — but the farmers who worked their way from tenancy to ownership through this and other Democratic programs have not forgotten."

On drought relief — Eisenhower: "During the past three years the department of agriculture has spent some $550 million for disaster relief . . . Despite these efforts, the drought this year has reached disastrous proportions for ranchers and farmers in some areas . . . We will continue to use freely every existing program and legal authority to ease the plight of these hard-hit families."

Kefauver: "For many farmers, the natural disaster of drought came to afflict them, along with the unnatural disaster of Ezra Taft Benson. And the millionaire-dominated Eisenhower administration raised the interest rate on disaster loans to these farmers from 3 per cent to 5 per cent. Not satisfied with this, they withdrew crop insurance protection from farmers in the counties that were afflicted worst by the drought."

And so it goes. About the only thing on which the two sides agree is that the farmer must not be treated as a "political prize" whose vote can be won with bigger and better promises. But each accuses the other of doing just that.

During the two weeks ending Oct. 12, the department of agriculture shelled out $50 million in soil bank payments. More is on the way. Whether this particular pump can be primed in this fashion remains to be seen.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

A 3-months' internship in house-to-house sales work is better insurance for a topnotch clergyman than 3 years of Greek! For a good salesman never lets prospects doze. He keeps his eyes on the customer at all times and stresses the "HERE & NOW" formula. Older clergymen often grow lazy. As their oratory wanes, their stress on ritual waxes!

Case T-[illegible]: William T. Barbre is a former clergyman in Indiana.

"Dr. Crane, since I have also done a great deal of community work," he began, "I am doubly interested in your cases dealing with salesmanship.

"I am an inveterate reader of your column in the Indianapolis STAR and am sure other clergymen follow it closely.

"It has been my experience that the minister who understands salesmanship, is usually the best sermonizer, the best organizer and also the most successful in his personal contacts with people.

"Don't you think our theological schools should offer a special course on salesmanship for the benefit of seminary students?

"It seems to me that such a course would be doubly valuable to them."

Church Psychology

The late Dr. Glenn Frank lauded salesmen as the sparkplugs of civilization.

And among salesmen he included not just the purveyors of insurance, stocks and bonds, automobiles and other tangible merchandise.

No, he considered teachers and clergymen and other leaders in that same category.

If I were president of a university, I'd veto any prospective teacher who hadn't spent a few months in house-to-house selling.

For that is probably the most rigorous type of salesmanship. But it pays dividends in all other fields.

A physcian who has sold books or magazines during college vacations, is far more likely to succeed in modern medical practice. The same holds for a dentist, an attorney and all other private practitioners in the professions.

A clergyman who has served even a 3-months' internship in sales work is not likely to put his parishioners to sleep with dull sermons.

What Makes Dullness

"And what makes a dull sermon?" you may logically inquire.

Well, any address that is full of 5-syllable words; that lacks several human interest episodes, like these Case Records; that is devoid of any humor; that is laid in the distant past or remote parts of this world and thus fails to meet the needs of the people "HERE & NOW.'

"HERE & NOW" should be the keynote of every sermon.

The secret of human interest is wrapped up in our epidermis. Every inch that a speaker gets away from our skin and every second that he leaves the present moment of time, causes a reduction in our curiosity.

Salesmen know that they must keep the attention of the customer on the "HERE & NOW".

So he lets the prospect sample the merchandise or push the vacuum sweeper over the rug. He also asks the customer's opinions and gets him to answering queries with a "Yes". This "Yes" habit then comes in handy at the dotted line stage.

No salesman could make a living if he let his prospects doze. In fact, they'd slam the door in his face if he didn't capture their curiosity in the first 3-minutes of his talk.

It is actually more productive of success in the pulpit for a theological student to know salesmanship, than to read Greek, though a lot of professors will have a fit at this supposedly radical view.

Salesmanship requires brains and much physical energy. Lazy salesmen can't imitate lazy clergymen and lean upon the "crutches" of stained glass windows, a paid choir and a great deal of responsive reading, the Gloria Patri and excessive genuflections.

As clergymen grow older, they often degenerate in their oratory. That is often why they subconsciously try to cover up such a deficiency by more ritual, acolytes, candles and other methods of trying to impress the emotions.

Christ never used any of those "crutches" to hold a crowd's interest!

Though the United States has expressed exasperation at Britain and France's abrupt invasion without first conferring with our government, President Eisenhower has, in effect, announced a position of neutrality in the Middle East conflict. He has said that Israel "did not act without provocation."

Israel's invasion of Egypt to a great degree may be blamed on Egypt. Nasser, himself has not subscribed to peaceful efforts to solve his country's age old dispute with Israel.

As far as Nasser is concerned, his current troubles appear as a fullfilment of the Biblical warning, "As you sow, so shall you reap." Now his government appears doomed.

Threat To Civil Service

Amendment No. 26 is supposed to "clarify" certain provisions of present constitutional civil service. Actually, it is just another Earl K. Long administration effort to weaken constitutional civil service. This amendment is so ambiguously phrased that experts have found it difficult to determine just what it does mean in its provision for public hearings of civil service employes against whom any charges may have been brought. It makes "public hearings" mandatory but doesn't even say who is to conduct them.

The present constitutional provisions on civil service amply cover every subject that is covered in this amendment and do it much better than this amendment proposes. All efforts to weaken the present system of constitutional civil service should be opposed, and that includes Amendment No. 26.

Amendment No. 46 Should Be Defeated

In 1954, the people adopted a constitutional amendment requiring annual sessions of the Legislature in place of the biennial sessions. The new odd year sessions are limited to budgetary or fiscal matters except through consent of three-fourths of the elected members of each branch, and to 30 days duration.

This amendment was a good step in the direction of trying to solve the problems created by biennial sessions alone—such matters as lack of time for genuine consideration of legislation and for those who might oppose proposed legislation to study it and make known their opposition.

Further, the odd year fiscal sessions were a step toward elimination of the use being made by various recent governors of their power to call special sessions. Special sessions, instead of being called only for genuine emergency, had become frequently called sessions, usually for the purpose of getting rid of any public money that might have piled up unexpectedly.

The fiscal session system has not yet had a really fair trial. The one fiscal session of the Kennon administration violated its own principle by going beyond the field of fiscal matters—through a three-fourths vote of each branch—and it may have been justified in doing so. But it was no real trial.

The fiscal session system is not a full answer to the evils of the biennial sessions but at least it is in the right direction.

Amendment No. 46 would abolish the fiscal session system. The Morning World believes that this amendment should be defeated.

Plenty Of Energy

A few countries, of which England is one, are embarking on all-out "crash" programs to produce electricity from atomic energy—despite the fact that such programs almost inevitably must be wasteful, and that the end result may be a huge investment in facilities which will quickly become obsolete.

The United States, happily, does not require that kind of atomic program. Here the work can go ahead in an orderly manner, with minimum of waste and error.

The reason is that we have an abundance of other energy sources from which to produce power—the most important of those sources being coal. Britian, by contrast, is finding it impossible to mine enough coal for her needs—hence the emphasis on the atom.

The use of coal in power generation is increasing at a rapid pace. It is expected that this trend will continue for a great many years to come. Coal is not only an efficient producer of power—and a product of which we have virtually unlimited reserves — but an exceedingly economical one. Extraordinary progress has been made in getting more and more electricity from a given amount of coal.

We have the world's finest coal industry, with the most advanced mining methods. That is a national asset of the first importance.

Is There A Connection?

On October 6, Konstantin Orlov, commentator in English to North America, on the Moscow Radio, said:

" . . . Spokesmen for the Republican administration assert that they stand for disarmament, if such measures can be controlled—but why, in that case, do they spurn the Soviet Union's proposal to prohibit by agreement the testing of nuclear weapons which it is easy to keep tabs on, even now, without waiting for any elaborate system of control?

"To check up on the fulfillment of such an agreement is a simple matter, because instruments can immediately detect any nuclear weapons tests and the whole world would at once point its finger at the transgressor. Obviously it is not the absence of control that is keeping the problem unsolved, but the absence of desire."

This same argument is being used by Thomas K. Finletter and Adlai Stevenson. The idea is that as the Russians refuse to agree to a universal treaty for inspection and control, why not agree to stop testing the H-bomb anyhow? The Russians have rejected international inspection and control since 1946 when the Baruch plan was introduced.

What guarantee is there that every test can be discovered? It can be said that up to now, the United States has succeeded in discovering some Russian explosions, perhaps all of them, but nobody can be sure that we discovered all of them. Nobody knows. Without inspection, nobody can know.

Then Orlov said:

" . . . Adlai Stevenson says in his campaign speeches that he supports the proposal to ban atomic tests and argues that new ideas, which the Republicans do not have, are needed to find a solution to the disarmament problem.

"That, of course, is true—especially when we speak of ideas that could help reach agreement, for we all know how things have been so far with the representatives of the Republicans. Every time the Soviet Union agreed with American proposals, the U.S. representative promptly retracted and offered something else. Under such circumstances, it is indeed hard to find a way to disarmament, but what I would like to know is: What prevented the Democrats from suggesting new ideas heretofore, particularly with regard to disarmament?"

Actually the Baruch proposal was made when the Democratic Harry Truman was President. At that time, there was another proposal, called the Acheson-Lilienthal Plan. The Russians gave no indication of wanting to accept that. In fact, there is nothing in the record to show that the Russians ever accepted any American proposal to limit or outlaw the atomic bomb; the fact being that the Americans insisted upon inspection and control which the Russians regularly rejected. What have the Russians to say about the Conference at the Summit at Geneva where Bulganin and Khrushchev met with Eisenhower and Eden? A proposal was made then which could have outlawed the bomb. What became of that? What have the Russians done about the "open sky" proposal?

Orlov does not have much to say in favor of the Democrats. This is his comment:

"The leaders of the Democratic Party, judging from their statements, are disclaiming Washington's policies, but what are they offering instead? Nothing special, as far as I can see. They seem to actually favor the same course of conduct, because none of the Democratic leaders who are leveling criticism at the Republicans are inclined to condemn the mailed first policy or the arms drive."

This is one point of view. On the same October 6, Alexeyev, another Soviet commentator, speaking in Japanese, said:

"A majority of people have often been puzzled by the American attitude toward disarmament and a ban of nuclear weapons tests. American officials have offered a great number of proposals and schemes on these issues. The proposals and schemes, however, have been changed so often that the people, ignorant of the reasons for the changes, have often been puzzled.

"They may have the impression that America is searching for the best way to achieve disarmament. In fact, however, America has made no practical proposal, nor has it accepted any proposals during 11 years of discussion on disarmament in both general and nuclear weapons. This fact gives us the contrary impression—that America has no interest in disarmament."

Bernard Baruch will be interested in knowing that his proposal to outlaw the A-bomb is not even in the record. Baruch took his work in this connection very seriously. (Copyright, 1956, King Features

Farm Problem Is Top Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON — Among the half - dozen top campaign issues picked in a Congressional Quarterly poll of newspaper editors, the farm problem easily rates as the nation's No. 1 political football.

The reason is simple: while the rest of the economy is booming, farmers have been taking a licking. For this state of affairs, each party blames the other, knowing full well that victory on Nov. 6 may hinge on the farm vote in one-third of the states.

Beyond this elementary fact, however, the farm issue begins to get complicated. It takes a full-length speech for either the Republican or the Democratic candidate to explain the utter fallacy of his opponent's farm program and to contrast this with the rectitude of his own approach.

The gist of the Republican argument: Surpluses, built up by Democratic high price supports, drove down farm prices. Not until this year did the GOP flexible supports program go into effect. Now things are looking up.

The essence of the Democratic argument: Farmers can't look for relief to an administration dominated by big - business interests. The Republicans broke their 1952 farm pledges and can't be trusted. Only Democrats will help the farmer.

Whether there is, in fact, a solid "farm vote" is open to some question. But the assumption is implicit in every major farm speech, as the opposing candidates make their contradictory appeals to self-interest.

Following are some of the points of conflict, as seen by the respective presidential and vice presidential nominees:

On price supports — Eisenhower: "The old price - depressing Democratic farm programs stayed in effect right up to harvest last year. Relentlessly they drove prices down as they had for years before. Eighty - five per cent of the price decline after the Korean war inflation came while rigid price supports were still in effect. Our opponents today are criticizing the mess that they themselves left behind."

Kefauver — In 1952 Candidate Eisenhower " 'said the farmers' returns must be boosted from the 90 per cent of parity to a full 100 per cent.' . . . What was President Eisenhower's performances? . . . Returns to farmers have dropped as low as 80 per cent of parity. He forgot 100 per cent of parity — and he forgot 100 per cent of the farmers."

On Small farmers — Eisenhower: The Democrats "had 20 long years to do something for the most needy families on our farms. At the end of those 20 years, they had done nothing — except to by-pass the small farmer as they made corporation and big area farming more profitable than ever before. And the administration's new rural development program is the first . . . full - scale and integrated federal effort to help these lowest-income families."

Stevenson: "The president tried to claim that this Republican administration was the first to take up the cause of the needy farmer. The fact is that the Democrats initiated the program of federal aid to the family farm with the farm security administration nearly 20 years ago. President Eisenhower may have forgotten this — but the farmers who worked their way from tenancy to ownership through this and other Democratic programs have not forgotten."

On drought relief — Eisenhower: "During the past three years the department of agriculture has spent some $550 million for disaster relief . . . Despite these efforts, the drought this year has reached disastrous proportions for ranchers and farmers in some areas . . . We will continue to use freely every existing program and legal authority to ease the plight of these hard-hit families."

Kefauver: "For many farmers, the natural disaster of drought came to afflict them, along with the unnatural disaster of Ezra Taft Benson. And the millionaire-dominated Eisenhower administration raised the interest rate on disaster loans to these farmers from 3 per cent to 5 per cent. Not satisfied with this, they withdrew crop insurance protection from farmers in the counties that were afflicted worst by the drought."

And so it goes. About the only thing on which the two sides agree is that the farmer must not be treated as a "political prize" whose vote can be won with bigger and better promises. But each accuses the other of doing just that.

During the two weeks ending Oct. 12, the department of agriculture shelled out $50 million in soil bank payments. More is on the way. Whether this particular pump can be primed in this fashion remains to be seen.

Election Day

Election Day is the high mark of our way of doing things that affect the great mass of us, the people. On this day we decide who is to lead the nation for the next four years as President of these United States, this being Presidential Election Day. Once the votes are counted and the winner announced, we accept the answer and go ahead with what good sense and philosophy we can muster.

There being two sides to the election, of course, one side is not too happy — but they go along and do the best they can to uphold their side for the next four years. The opposition will argue and they will point out that the nation is going to the dogs under the ruling party, but should a national emergency arise they will, to a man, forget their partisanship and stand by for action.

This way of governing is rare in our world of struggle and strife. We hear of lands where one selfishly insane man seizes the government and denies the people any right, any voice, any part in their government. When we hear of such happenings, we are likely to be reminded of the blessings of the freedom we enjoy.

This day ought to be used as a core of study in secondary school social studies classes. It ought to be emphasized so that the young people begin to glimpse what their government means to them. Students should be allowed to bring the family newspaper to class and discuss the leading articles freely. They should be allowed to take sides and argue, battle, for their points of view.

There seems to be a notion in many a community that politics have no place in school. Government has a place and how that can be taught to the exclusion of politics is beyond me. Politics are critical in our way of life, and surely the oncoming generation should be prepared to understand them, to view the actions of the politicians with a critical mind, a well-informed and open mind. Else how can our form of government stand?

Give and take is our way of doing things. Fair play, the right to think and to say what we think and be responsible accordingly, are fundamental to national being and the acceptance of them, respect for them, must be stimulated and cultivated in the schools. Election days, not only President Election Days, should become highlights of the course in social studies and not just a day off from school.

A cowardly attitude is often due to shyness. Dr. Patri discusses this trait and offers his advice in leaflet P-12, "The Shy Child." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Labor Vote Aims At Democratic Congress

The old time machine politicians could learn something from organized labor in getting out the vote, and being sure that it is cast for the right candidates.

Labor's methods are neither illegal nor improper by usual standards of political judgment. But in many precincts they will be high pressured and difficult to counter.

This is mentioned simply because within the major political organizations, the labor vote on Nov. 6 will be the largest integrated bloc and it will be shepherded to the polls by the most efficient organization union labor has ever put into a national political campaign.

The combined AFL-CIO organization often, through its officials, speaks of its 15 million members as supporting or seeking this or that. And though these same officials, under the American system, have no right to tell the worker how he should vote, they come as close to doing so as the law permits.

Their final gesture will be a closed circuit television program carried to labor election rallies in 27 northern and western cities on Thursday night, November 1. Ostensibly it will not be a partisan political affair, but an appeal to get out the vote. The closed circuit arrangement enables the AFL-CIO to circumvent the provisions of the Taft - Hartley law, which forbids use of union dues for partisan political purposes.

The cost of the telecast, estimated at $30,000 will be paid out of union dues. In contrast contributions to political campaigns are made from the fund raised by COPE, which stands for committee for political education. This committee has raised an unreported sum, estimated to be in excess of $1,500,000, to aid candidates for congress and for the Democratic presidential ticket of Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

None of the three speakers at the rally, who will be George Meany, president of the combined unions and Jack Kroll and James L. McDevitt, co - chairmen of COPE will urge support of specific parties or candidates. If any of them should mention that AFL-CIO has endorsed Stevenson, the question arises whether Senator Albert Gore (Dem. - Tenn.) chairman of the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, would call the committee officials in to ask them why the use of union dues did not violate the Taft - Hartley law, since the favorable mention of any candidate would seem to make it a partisan - political show.

Adding the votes of families of union members to those of the members themselves would raise their potential voting total to an estimated 25,000,000. Polls have indicated that at least 40 per cent of this vote in 1952 went to the Eisenhower - Nixon ticket. Thus the support of union members and their families may have accounted for some 10,000,000 of the approximately 34,000,000 popular vote for the Republican ticket.

This year, the political labor wing is concentrating on election of a Democratic senate and house. That does mean, however, that all Democrats receive its approval. Its record of "right and wrong" votes, sent to all AFL - CIO members shows that only 38 Democratic senators and 168 Democratic congressmen had records meeting with its approval. These include all Democratic senators running for reelection in two - party states, while fifteen Republican senators up for reelection are opposed.

COPE thus concentrates in favor of legislators who have supported labor approved measures. Only one Republican senator met this test —Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont.

Recent polls have shown in prospect the highest percentage of the union family vote for the Republican ticket of any presidential election since the present polls were established — about 40 per cent, while rises to close to 50 per cent when the count is taken among families of manual workers, regardless of union affiliation.

It seems plain from the type of campaign made by union leaders this year that their aim is a Democratic congress rather than a Democratic president. In congress, with the methods they have evolved to get out the vote, they expect to establish a balance of power, which could give the Democrats an edge in this and future congressional elections. That is the plan of Walter Reuther, vice president of AFL-CIO, who wants eventually to make labor the controlling factor within the Democratic party.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

A 3-months' internship in house-to-house sales work is better insurance for a topnotch clergyman than 3 years of Greek! For a good salesman never lets prospects doze. He keeps his eyes on the customer at all times and stresses the "HERE & NOW" formula. Older clergymen often grow lazy. As their oratory wanes, their stress on ritual waxes!

Case T-?'2: William T. Barbre is a former clergyman in Indiana.

"Dr. Crane, since I have also done a great deal of community work," he began, "I am doubly interested in your cases dealing with salesmanship.

"I am an inveterate reader of your column in the Indianapolis STAR and am sure other clergymen follow it closely.

"It has been my experience that the minister who understands salesmanship, is usually the best sermonizer, the best organizer and also the most successful in his personal contacts with people.

"Don't you think our theological schools should offer a special course on salesmanship for the benefit of seminary students?

"It seems to me that such a course would be doubly valuable to them."

Church Psychology

The late Dr. Glenn Frank lauded salesmen as the sparkplugs of civilization.

And among salesmen he included not just the purveyors of insurance, stocks and bonds, automobiles and other tangible merchandise.

No, he considered teachers and clergymen and other leaders in that same category.

If I were president of a university, I'd veto any prospective teacher who hadn't spent a few months in house-to-house selling.

For that is probably the most rigorous type of salesmanship. But it pays dividends in all other fields.

A physcian who has sold books or magazines during college vacations, is far more likely to succeed in modern medical practice. The same holds for a dentist, an attorney and all other private practitioners in the professions.

A clergyman who has served even a 3-months' internship in sales work is not likely to put his parishioners to sleep with dull sermons.

What Makes Dullness

"And what makes a dull sermon?" you may logically inquire.

Well, any address that is full of 5-syllable words; that lacks several human interest episodes, like these Case Records; that is devoid of any humor; that is laid in the distant past or remote parts of this world and thus fails to meet the needs of the people "HERE & NOW.'

"HERE & NOW" should be the keynote of every sermon.

The secret of human interest is wrapped up in our epidermis. Every inch that a speaker gets away from our skin and every second that he leaves the present moment of time, causes a reduction in our curiosity.

Salesmen know that they must keep the attention of the customer on the "HERE & NOW".

So he lets the prospect sample the merchandise or push the vacuum sweeper over the rug. He also asks the customer's opinions and gets him to answering queries with a "Yes". This "Yes" habit then comes in handy at the dotted line stage.

No salesman could make a living if he let his prospects doze. In fact, they'd slam the door in his face if he didn't capture their curiosity in the first 3-minutes of his talk.

It is actually more productive of success in the pulpit for a theological student to know salesmanship, than to read Greek, though a lot of professors will have a fit at this supposedly radical view.

Salesmanship requires brains and much physical energy. Lazy salesmen can't imitate lazy clergymen and lean upon the "crutches" of stained glass windows, a paid choir and a great deal of responsive reading, the Gloria Patri and excessive genuflections.

As clergymen grow older, they often degenerate in their oratory. That is often why they subconsciously try to cover up such a deficiency by more ritual, acolytes, candles and other methods of trying to impress the emotions.

Christ never used any of those "crutches" to hold a crowd's interest!

Five Ouachita Students Seek Degrees At NSC

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 2 (Special) — Five Ouachita parish students are candidates for graduation for the fall semester, at Northwestern State college, according to Otis Crew, registrar.

Vashti Ham Shrum of Fairbanks is a home economics major, and a candidate for the bachelor of science degree. Doris B. Smith Gibson, Monroe, is a candidate for the bachelor of science degree in nursing. A candidate for the three-year nursing diploma is Mrs. Margaret Tesdale Purcell, Eros. Elvin Augusta Burgess and William Edward Russell, both of Monroe, are candidates for the master of education degress in administration and supervision.

Two Will Face Forgery Counts

Two persons, one a former resident of Monroe, are being held in the Ouachita parish jail in connection with eleven counts of forgery, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Friday morning. Both were returned to Monroe following the dissemination of information on the pair by the local department.

Sheriff Grant identified the two as Beatrice D. McGartha, Negro, formerly of Monroe, and Kenneth Johnson of Wisconsin.

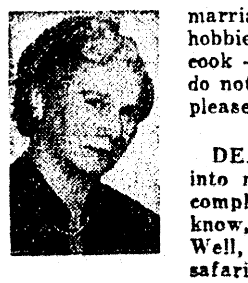
The McGartha woman who had just received a one-year prison sentence in Leesville on charges of theft-by-check will face nine counts of forgery here, Sheriff Bailey Grant said.

The Johnson man will face 2 counts of forgery, he added.

YOU WERE WARNED, DAD — YOU'RE STUCK WITH HER

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Four months ago I married Enid, a woman of 42 — 16 years my junior. She lived with her mother, who is financially independent. The two fought continuously. Her mother, her friends and co-workers warned me that I would have the same problem, but she seemed all right to me. So we were married, but didn't live happily for more than two weeks. I discovered Enid's real personality.



She's a jealous, mean, envious woman. Before marriage, she pretended to be interested in my hobbies, claimed to be a perfect housekeeper and cook — all of which turned out to be false. I can do nothing to please her, and she won't attempt to please me. What can I do?

Ferdie

DEAR FERDIE: When you were finally enticed into marriage, you certainly managed to make a complete wreck of it. You can't say you "didn't know," either, since you had adequate warning. Well, Ferdie, unless you care to join an African safari to get away from it all, I guess you're stuck with the situation. The only help I can offer is that you stop giving in to the lady, since you know it will get you nowhere.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I only completed the fourth grade. My husband is a successful businessman and none of our friends know how little education I have. This problem bothers me so much I'm getting sick and nervous. My oldest daughter is a high-school freshman. Doesn't the state offer grade-school education for adults?

Greta

DEAR GRETA: You're letting yourself be upset over a situation that can be very easily solved. There is certainly no reason why you can't take free courses in high-school work. From your writing, I don't feel you need grade school. Doesn't your local school or college offer night courses? Let study supplant your brooding, and you won't have time for nervousness.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Sally, my best friend, is having a party soon. She's asking girls to bring their boy friends. I haven't a boy friend, but did have one several months ago. Would it be all right for her to ask him for me?

Mable

DEAR MABLE: Of course it would! And show him how mature you've grown since he last saw you. Turn on your charm, and rekindle his interest.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A neighbor of mine is storing several wedding presents for her newly married daughter. She is using many of these gifts as her own, which I don't think is right. What is your opinion?

C.E.W.

DEAR C.E.W.: The temptation to use these lovely things is understandable, but your neighbor should not yield to it. The bride will be annoyed, to say the least, when she learns that her precious new things have become second-hand.

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Or write for her free leaflet D-24, "Alcoholism." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

Founder's Day Event Scheduled By Local Store

The Monroe J. C. Penney store is joining other Penney stores across the nation Friday and Saturday in Founder's Day Event honoring J. C. Penney, according to announcement by S. S. Hollan, local manager.

Mr. Penney opened his first store in Kemmerer, Wyoming in 1902. Today there are a total of 1692 stores operating in every state in the Union.

Mr. Hollan said the volume of business done during the first year of the original store was a total of $29,000.00 in sales as compared today with a volume of sales exceeding a billion dollars per year in the far-flung chain of department stores.

Mr. Hollan said the local celebration would also include his appreciation of the business enjoyed in Penney's new and expanded store at 330 DeSiard.

Students Hang 'Unmentionables' On Flagpole

RICHMOND, Ky., Nov. 2 (AP)—Several hundred hooting Eastern Kentucky State College men "raided" a girl's dormitory, then hoisted unmentionables up a campus flagpole.

City and state police were called in after threats of a panty raid were shouted following a pep rally and snake dance in preparations for the school's homecoming program.

Police said no arrests were made, and a college official ordered the items removed from the flagpole. The students dispersed quietly.

Building Permits In West Monroe Exceed Monroe's

Building permits in West Monroe during October totaled $31,598 more than the city of Monroe, a town with more than twice the population of her sister city.

Building permits amounted to $206,360 in West Monroe during the past month and $174,762 in Monroe.

The West Monroe Chamber of Commerce lists the city's population as 18,000 while the population of the city of Monroe, according to the Chamber of Commerce here, is 47,500.

The city of Monroe issued 53 permits while West Monroe recorded 26.

The biggest West Monroe permit was $116,465 issued to the city of West Monroe for building a central fire station on North Fifth street, Building Inspector C. E. Frost said.

The city of West Monroe issued permits for eight dwelling units compared to 24 for Monroe; 13 additions and repairs compared to 22 for Monroe; one business compared to seven businesses for Monroe; plus others.

In Monroe the yearly amount up to date is $5,812,156, Sam Awl, city building inspector, said.

During the first six months of 1956, Monroe issued permits amounting to $4,275,788 compared to $4,619,104 for the first six months in 1955, Awl stated.

The total amount of permits issued in 1955 reached $7,040,393.

Five Ouachita Students Seek Degrees At NSC

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 2 (Special) — Five Ouachita parish students are candidates for graduation for the fall semester, at Northwestern State college, according to Otis Crew, registrar.

Vashti Ham Shrum of Fairbanks is a home economics major, and a candidate for the bachelor of science degree. Doris B. Smith Gibson, Monroe, is a candidate for the bachelor of science degree in nursing. A candidate for the three-year nursing diploma is Mrs. Margaret Tesdale Purcell, Eros. Elvin Augusta Burgess and William Edward Russell, both of Monroe, are candidates for the master of education degress in administration and supervision.

Two Will Face Forgery Counts

Two persons, one a former resident of Monroe, are being held in the Ouachita parish jail in connection with eleven counts of forgery, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Friday morning. Both were returned to Monroe following the dissemination of information on the pair by the local department.

Sheriff Grant identified the two as Beatrice D. McGartha, Negro, formerly of Monroe, and Kenneth Johnson of Wisconsin.

The McGartha woman who had just received a one-year prison sentence in Leesville on charges of theft-by-check will face nine counts of forgery here, Sheriff Bailey Grant said.

The Johnson man will face 2 counts of forgery, he added.

YOU WERE WARNED, DAD — YOU'RE STUCK WITH HER

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Four months ago I married Enid, a woman of 42 — 16 years my junior. She lived with her mother, who is financially independent. The two fought continuously. Her mother, her friends and co-workers warned me that I would have the same problem, but she seemed all right to me. So we were married, but didn't live happily for more than two weeks. I discovered Enid's real personality.

She's a jealous, mean, envious woman. Before marriage, she pretended to be interested in my hobbies, claimed to be a perfect housekeeper and cook — all of which turned out to be false. I can do nothing to please her, and she won't attempt to please me. What can I do?

Ferdie

DEAR FERDIE: When you were finally enticed into marriage, you certainly managed to make a complete wreck of it. You can't say you "didn't know," either, since you had adequate warning. Well, Ferdie, unless you care to join an African safari to get away from it all, I guess you're stuck with the situation. The only help I can offer is that you stop giving in to the lady, since you know it will get you nowhere.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I only completed the fourth grade. My husband is a successful businessman and none of our friends know how little education I have. This problem bothers me so much I'm getting sick and nervous. My oldest daughter is a high-school freshman. Doesn't the state offer grade-school education for adults?

Greta

DEAR GRETA: You're letting yourself be upset over a situation that can be very easily solved. There is certainly no reason why you can't take free courses in high-school work. From your writing, I don't feel you need grade school. Doesn't your local school or college offer night courses? Let study supplant your brooding, and you won't have time for nervousness.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Sally, my best friend, is having a party soon. She's asking girls to bring their boy friends. I haven't a boy friend, but did have one several months ago. Would it be all right for her to ask him for me?

Mable

DEAR MABLE: Of course it would! And show him how mature you've grown since he last saw you. Turn on your charm, and rekindle his interest.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A neighbor of mine is storing several wedding presents for her newly married daughter. She is using many of these gifts as her own, which I don't think is right. What is your opinion?

C.E.W.

DEAR C.E.W.: The temptation to use these lovely things is understandable, but your neighbor should not yield to it. The bride will be annoyed, to say the least, when she learns that her precious new things have become second-hand.

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Or write for her free leaflet D-24, "Alcoholism." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

Founder's Day Event Scheduled By Local Store

The Monroe J. C. Penney store is joining other Penney stores across the nation Friday and Saturday in Founder's Day Event honoring J. C. Penney, according to announcement by S. S. Hollan, local manager.

Mr. Penney opened his first store in Kemmerer, Wyoming in 1902. Today there are a total of 1692 stores operating in every state in the Union.

Mr. Hollan said the volume of business done during the first year of the original store was a total of $29,000.00 in sales as compared today with a volume of sales exceeding a billion dollars per year in the far-flung chain of department stores.

Mr. Hollan said the local celebration would also include his appreciation of the business enjoyed in Penney's new and expanded store at 330 DeSiard.

Students Hang 'Unmentionables' On Flagpole

RICHMOND, Ky., Nov. 2 (AP)—Several hundred hooting Eastern Kentucky State College men "raided" a girl's dormitory, then hoisted unmentionables up a campus flagpole.

City and state police were called in after threats of a panty raid were shouted following a pep rally and snake dance in preparations for the school's homecoming program.

Police said no arrests were made, and a college official ordered the items removed from the flagpole. The students dispersed quietly.

Scientist Lack Is Blamed On Low Teacher Prestige

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 2 (Special) — A Louisiana State University committee of scientists claims that the decreasing prestige of teachers today is largely responsible for the lack of student interest in science and engineering.

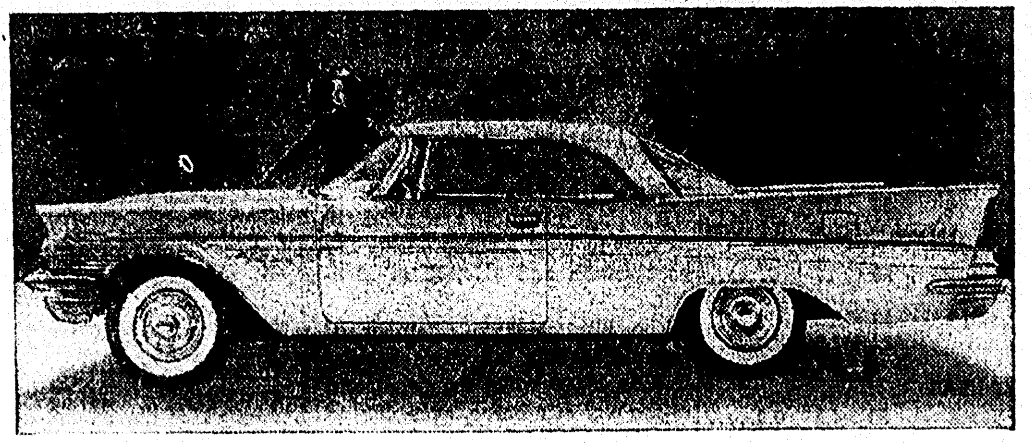
The conclusion is presented in a prize - winning article submitted by members of the LSU chapter of Sigma Xi. It will share the $1650 first prize in a contest sponsored by the national scientific society on solving the current problem of the shortage of scientists and engineers in the United States.

LSU's contribution to the solution of the problem was one of eight published in the October issue of the American Scientist, quarterly publication of Sigma Xi. Eight institutions were judged co-winners.

The article was submitted by a committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Harry J. Bennett, professor of zoology. Other LSU scientists on the committee were Dr. Arthur R. Colmer, Dr. Robert V. Nauman, Dr. Vincent E. Wheeler, Dr. Hulen B. Williams and Dr. Adolph E. Sandberg.

The LSU committee's article said that the "respect for and the prestige of a profession, above all else determines the number seeking to enter that profession." Their article claimed that if scientific research and science teaching were held in equally high regard as law and medicine there would be no shortage of young people seeking careers in these fields.

1957 CHRYSLER OFFERS NEW STYLING, NEW POWER



The Chrysler New Yorker for 1957 offers advanced Forward Look styling, a revolutionary new Torsion-Aire torsion bar suspension, a new three-speed push-button Torque-Flite transmission, twin headlights and smoother-riding lower-pressure tires on 14-inch wheels. Approximately four-inches lower than last year, they feature a combined heater-air conditioner, up to 40 per cent larger windshield and a new 392 cubic-inch FirePower V-8 engine. Shown above is the Chrysler New Yorker two-door hardtop. They are available in a four-door sedan, four-door hardtop, convertible coupe and Town and Country wagon in a choice of 21 colors.

Road-Hugging Is Featured By 1957 Chrysler

The 1957 Chrysler, featuring new road - hugging design with floors and seats dropped allowing roofs to be lowered as much as five inches, was announced today. It will be shown Saturday at Olcott Motors.

Combining such innovations as twin headlights, three - speed push-button Torque - Flite transmission and a revolutionary new Torsion-Aire suspension, the '57 Chryslers are offered in the New Yorker and Windsor series, plus an all-new Saratoga series in the middle-price range.

Three new V-8 engines — a more powerful FirePower V-8 in the New Yorker series, a new Spitfire V-8 in the Saratoga series and a new improved Spitfire V-8 in the Windsor series — offer performance and increased economy.

For 1957 Chrysler also introduces improved full - time coaxial power steering, lower - pressure tires, deep-section safety steering wheel, aluminum - framed window openings on sedans, and improved total contact center - plane brakes, which, Chrysler engineering tests show, have the longest life of any brake yet developed.

The Saratoga series, a newcomer to the Chrysler line in 1957, is built to market between the Chrysler Windsor and the Chrysler New Yorker. It is offered in a four-door sedan, a two - door hardtop and a four-door hardtop.

The Chrysler Windsor, lowest-priced Chrysler, is offered in a four - door sedan, two - door hardtop, four door hardtop and four-door Town and Country station wagon.

The Chrysler New Yorker is offered in a four - door sedan, two-door hardtop, four - door hardtop, convertible coupe and Town and Country station wagon.

Among a complete range of power, luxury and safety equipment are power brakes, power steering, power windows, six-way power seats, seat belts, instant-heat aircraft - type heater, HiWay HiFi record player, instrument panel safety cushion, Solex tinted glass, and power radio antenna.

Corn picked at 32 per cent moisture in an Indiana test and stored in an air-tght silo put faster and cheaper gains on cattle than corn picked at 17 per cent moisture and sored in a regular crib.

Farmer's Loans From Government Are Explained

Additional details of Farmers Home administration loans for refinancing of debts were explained Friday by C. Ray McEachern, the agency's local supervisor.

These loans help farmers who are otherwise in a sound position but who are unable to meet their present credit obligations and need credit on more favorable terms and conditions than are currently available from other lenders. Both real estate and operating loans are available for refinancing purposes to owner-operators of farms no larger than family-size. Operating loans for refinancing purposes may also be made to part-owners and tenant operators. The applicants must have adequate security and be carrying on sound farming operations.

The purposes for which loans may be made include refinancing secured real estate debts and the payment of debts secured by liens on livestock, farm equipment, and harvested feed. Under certain conditions loans also may be made for the payment of unsecured debts.

Loans will not be used to refinance any debt until it has been determined that the present creditor or other credit sources are not able to provide the applicant with adequate credit on terms that he could reasonably be expected to meet.

The applicant must be of legal age, be a citizen of the United States and have had farm experience sufficient to indicate reasonable prospects of conducting successful farming operations.

Like other Farmers Home administration loans, the eligiblity of the applicant is determined by the local county committee composed of James E. Larche, Garland A. Shipp and Henry B. Zeagler.

Building Permits

The following building permits were issued Friday by City Building Inspector Sam Awl:

Margaret Williams, to add one room to a frame dwelling at 2600 Oak street at a cost of $150.

Ellen Jiles, to add to a one story frame home at 2614 College street at a cost of $500.

Zion Traveler Baptist churh to remodel a two story brick church at 200 11th street at a cost of $10,000.

OLCOTT MOTORS, INC. ...presents....

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER FOR 1957

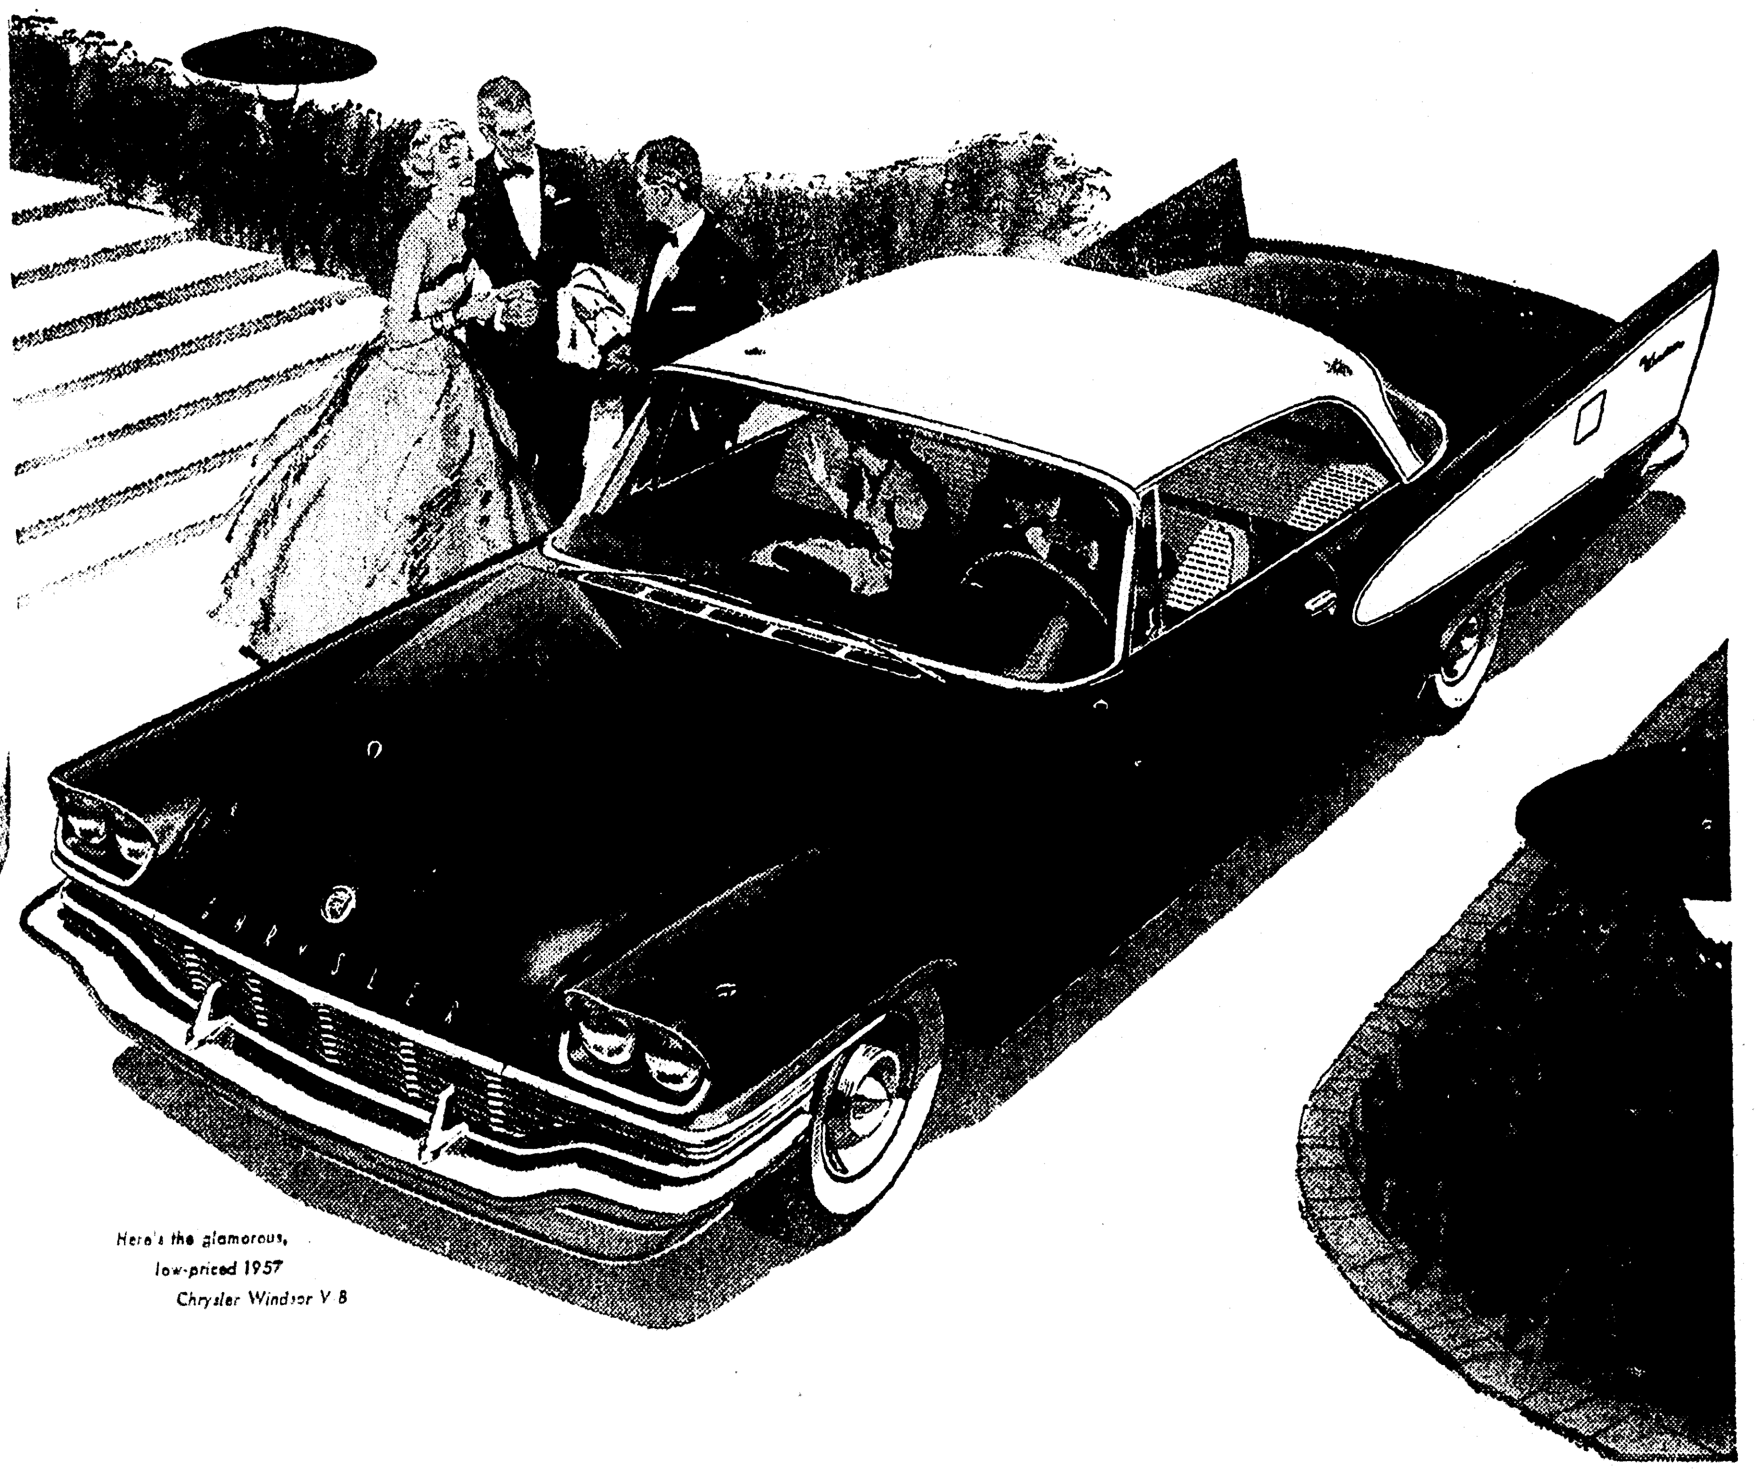
the most glamorous cars in a generation

America's first family of fine cars

the car of supreme satisfaction

the finest engineered cars in Chrysler history

a car which has everything of modern, new design



Here's the glamorous, low-priced 1957 Chrysler Windsor V 8

Announcing the most glamorous car in a generation!

You never looked or felt as good in anything before!

Other cars have changed models . : : this one changes motoring. Look at its rich; racy lines . . . at the long, low silhouette . : . at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle. A new Pushbutton TorqueFlite Transmission teams with a mighty airplane-type V-8 engine, developing up to 325 horsepower, to give you a new high-velocity getaway, matchless passing power when you need it.

Come in this week and visit our showrooms. See and drive the most completely new car of the year!

Torsion-Aire Ride

pours the road under you!

Try Chrysler's new Torsion-Aire Ride and you'll think some of the laws of gravity, motion and inertia have been suspended in your favor. No more rock and roll. No more pitch when you stop. Chrysler's new torque rod suspension and lower center of gravity give you a brand new ground-skimming "feel" of the road. The wheels ride the contours . . . but you don't. The road just pours under you.

Farmer's Loans From Government Are Explained

Additional details of Farmers Home administration loans for refinancing of debts were explained Friday by C. Ray McEachern, the agency's local supervisor.

These loans help farmers who are otherwise in a sound position but who are unable to meet their present credit obligations and need credit on more favorable terms and conditions than are currently available from other lenders. Both real estate and operating loans are available for refinancing purposes to owner-operators of farms no larger than family-size. Operating loans for refinancing purposes may also be made to part-owners and tenant operators. The applicants must have adequate security and be carrying on sound farming operations.

The purposes for which loans may be made include refinancing secured real estate debts and the payment of debts secured by liens on livestock, farm equipment, and harvested feed. Under certain conditions loans also may be made for the payment of unsecured debts.

Loans will not be used to refinance any debt until it has been determined that the present creditor or other credit sources are not able to provide the applicant with adequate credit on terms that he could reasonably be expected to meet.

The applicant must be of legal age, be a citizen of the United States and have had farm experience sufficient to indicate reasonable prospects of conducting successful farming operations.

Like other Farmers Home administration loans, the eligiblity of the applicant is determined by the local county committee composed of James E. Larche, Garland A. Shipp and Henry B. Zeagler.

Building Permits

The following building permits were issued Friday by City Building Inspector Sam Awl:

Margaret Williams, to add one room to a frame dwelling at 2600 Oak street at a cost of $150.

Ellen Jiles, to add to a one story frame home at 2614 College street at a cost of $500.

Zion Traveler Baptist churh to remodel a two story brick church at 200 11th street at a cost of $10,000.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

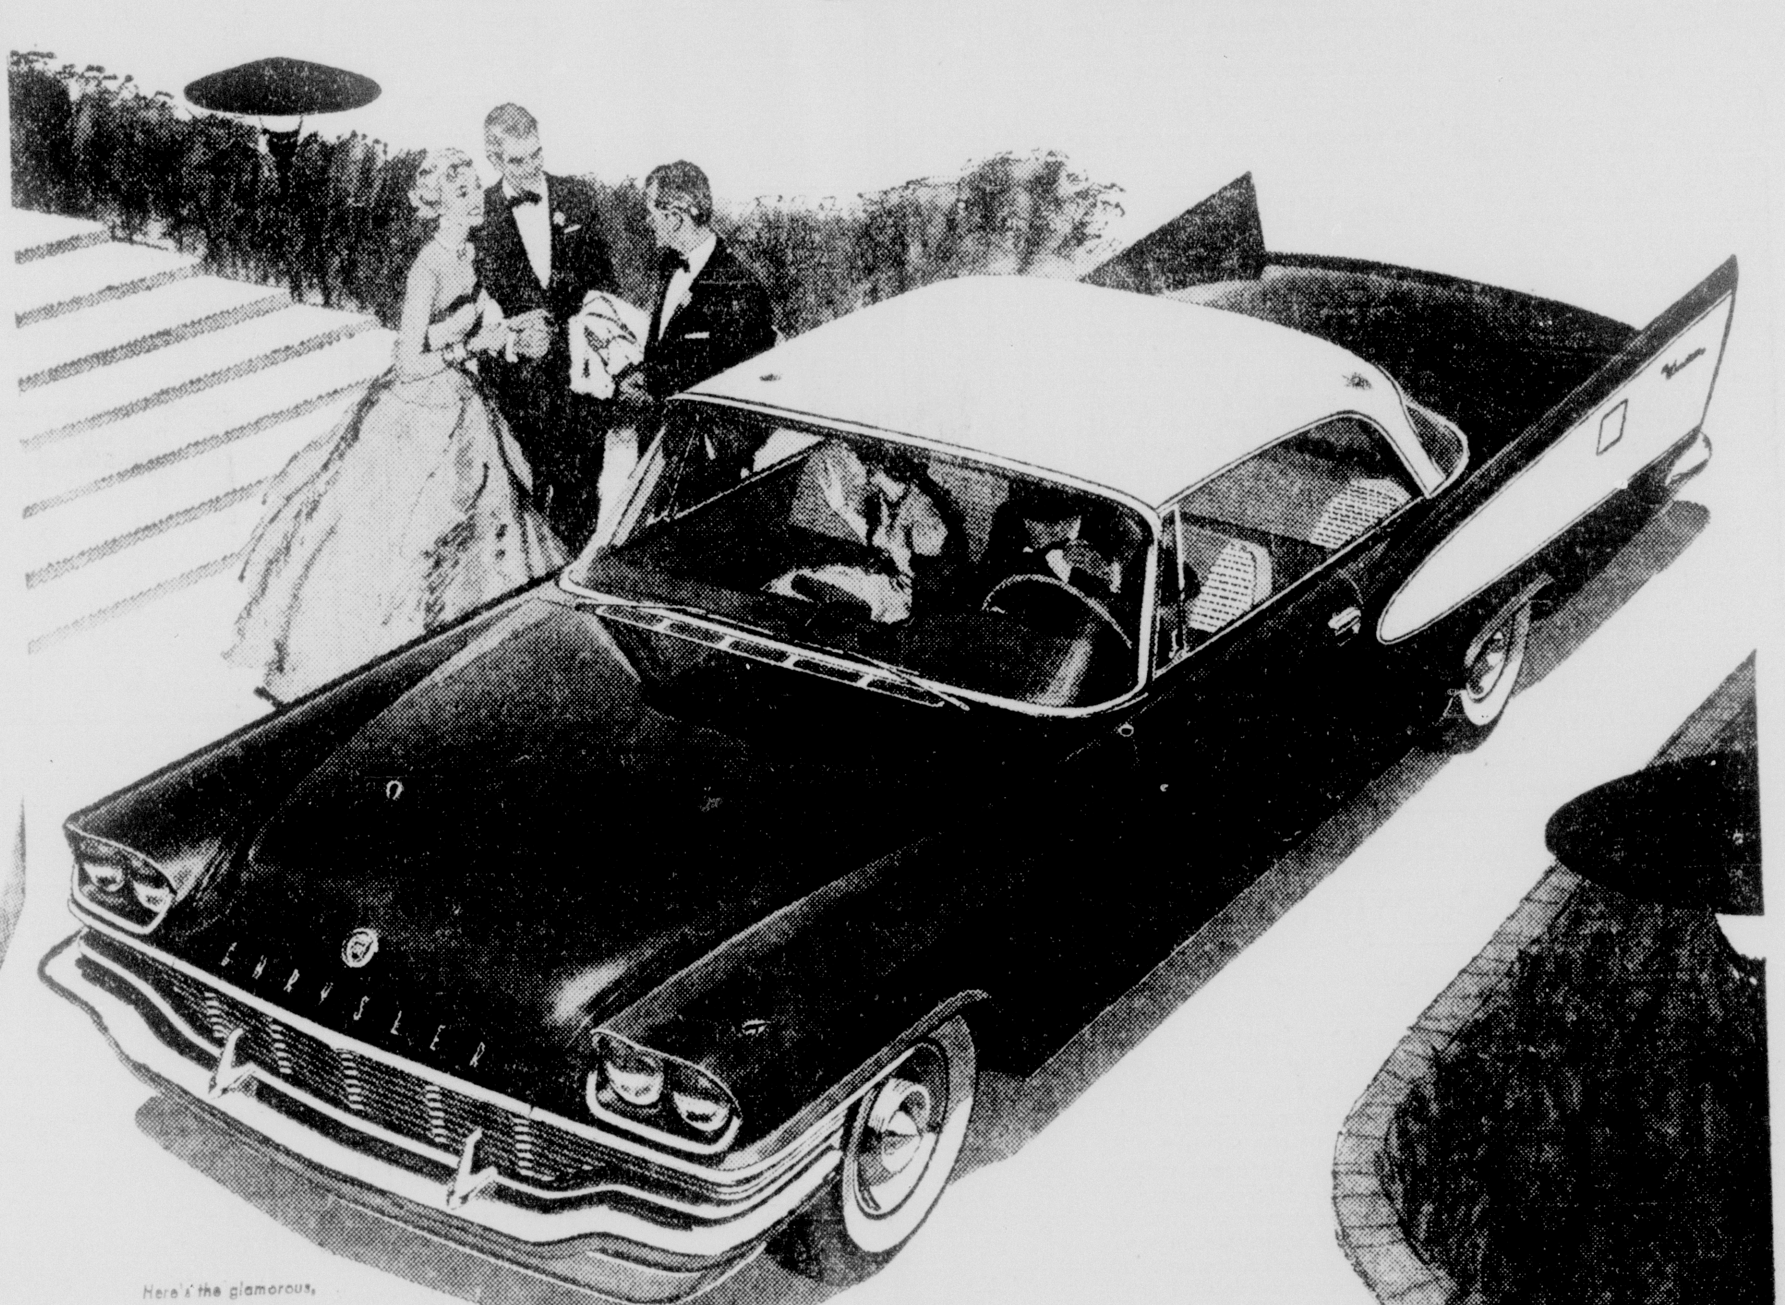
the most glamorous cars in a generation

America's first family of fine cars

the car of supreme satisfaction

the finest engineered cars in Chrysler history

a car which has everything of modern, new design



Here's the glamorous, low-priced 1957 Chrysler Windsor V-8

Announcing the most glamorous car in a generation!

You never looked or felt as good in anything before!

Other cars have changed models : : : this one changes motoring. Look at its rich; racy lines . . . at the long, low silhouette . : . at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle. A new Pushbutton TorqueFlite Transmission teams with a mighty airplane-type V-8 engine, developing up to 325 horsepower, to give you a new high-velocity getaway, matchless passing power when you need it.

Come in this week and visit our showrooms. See and drive the most completely new car of the year!

Torsion-Aire Ride
pours the road under you!

Try Chrysler's new Torsion-Aire Ride and you'll think some of the laws of gravity, motion and inertia have been suspended in your favor. No more rock and roll. No more pitch when you stop. Chrysler's new torque rod suspension and lower center of gravity give you a brand new ground-skimming "feel" of the road. The wheels ride the contours . . . but you don't. The road just pours under you.

How To Care For Patent Leather

Those patent leather shoes and bags need a lot of care to keep them at their gleaming best.

Patent leather is very sensitive to heat and cold and few manufacturers guarantee that the shoes will not crack or peel.

Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, has some tips for babying along patent leather.

She suggests warming the shoes by rubbing them with the hands before going out, especially when the shoes are new or on a cold day. Or the shoes may be worn for a while in the house to accustom them to body temperature and to soften the leather.

Patent leather shoes or accessories, she advises, should be kept in a dry closet, never too near a radiator and never where cold will crack them.

Check your shoe dealer before using creams, oils or greases on patent leather, she advises.

Patent leather handbags also should be handled with care, the clothing expert says, especially when opening or closing them in cold weather.

Country Club Luncheon Fetes Mrs. Caldwell

Mrs. J. C. Liner, III, entertained at a luncheon at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Billy R. Caldwell, a recent bride.

Centering the luncheon table was a three - tiered pink cake decorated with pink and white rosebuds and matching streamers extending to the corners of the table.

Mrs. Caldwell chose for the party a black fall model with white accessories. Both she and her mother, Mrs. Irma Nectoux, were presented white camellias by the hostess.

Guests included other than the hostess, the honoree and her mother were Mrs. Frank Heyl, Mrs. Donald Bell, Miss Sally Smith, Mrs. A. D. Hanks, Mrs. James Irvin and Mrs. Mark Whitfield.

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Heflin, of Oak Grove, were honored Sunday, Oct. 28, at an open house celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. The party was given by their daughter, Mrs. A. W. Kyser and Mr. Kyser in their home in Greenville, Miss.

Pink and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the house and table in the dining room. The large white wedding cake embossed in yellow roses and tiny yellow birds formed the centerpiece for the dining table.

Mr. and Mrs. Heflin were married October 25, in 1906, in Mindenhall, Miss., where they resided for 13 years. Since that time they have made their home in Oak Grove.

Attending were five of their six children, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Heflin, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas and grandson, of Texarkana, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Kyser and four children, of Kenner;, and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Heflin, of Monroe. The Rev. and Mrs. Jimmie Heflin and family, of Leonard, Texas, were unable to be present.

Many friends called during the hours of 1 and 4 p.m.

Sixty Volunteers For Funds Drive Finish Training

Sixty women volunteers for the Ouachita parish United Givers Fund drive completed their training meetings yesterday and will be soliciting contributions from small businesses and neighborhood stores beginning today.

The group is working under the direction of Mrs. George Forman. George Moses is chief of the Business division.

It was also announced yesterday that plaques will be awarded to business firms that reach a prescribed minimum level of contributions in the campaign.

The plaques will be given to firms in which 70 per cent or more of the employes pledge annual minimum gifts amounting to one hour's pay per month or according to the fair share guide for executives.

Driver Education Program Honored

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 2 (AP) — Louisiana today was honored for its driver education program by the accident prevention department of the Assn. of Casualty and Surety Companies.

Education Supt. Shelby Jackson received the special progress citation from Emerson H. Westwick, Chicago, field representative of the accident prevention department.

State driver education supervisor Forrest Gaines said 27 per cent of Louisiana's public schools now offer driver education.

Patent leather is very sensitive to heat and cold and few manufacturers guarantee that the shoes will not crack or peel.

Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, has some tips for babying along patent leather.

She suggests warming the shoes by rubbing them with the hands before going out, especially when the shoes are new or on a cold day. Or the shoes may be worn for a while in the house to accustom them to body temperature and to soften the leather.

Patent leather shoes or accessories, she advises, should be kept in a dry closet, never too near a radiator and never where cold will crack them.

Check your shoe dealer before using creams, oils or greases on patent leather, she advises.

Patent leather handbags also should be handled with care, the clothing expert says, especially when opening or closing them in cold weather.

Country Club Luncheon Fetes Mrs. Caldwell

Mrs. J. C. Liner, III, entertained at a luncheon at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Billy R. Caldwell, a recent bride.

Centering the luncheon table was a three - tiered pink cake decorated with pink and white rosebuds and matching streamers extending to the corners of the table.

Mrs. Caldwell chose for the party a black fall model with white accessories. Both she and her mother, Mrs. Irma Nectoux, were presented white camellias by the hostess.

Guests included other than the hostess, the honoree and her mother were Mrs. Frank Heyl, Mrs. Donald Bell, Miss Sally Smith, Mrs. A. D. Hanks, Mrs. James Irvin and Mrs. Mark Whitfield.

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Heflin, of Oak Grove, were honored Sunday, Oct. 28, at an open house celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. The party was given by their daughter, Mrs. A. W. Kyser and Mr. Kyser in their home in Greenville, Miss.

Pink and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the house and table in the dining room. The large white wedding cake embossed in yellow roses and tiny yellow birds formed the centerpiece for the dining table.

Mr. and Mrs. Heflin were married October 25, in 1906, in Mindenhall, Miss., where they resided for 13 years. Since that time they have made their home in Oak Grove.

Attending were five of their six children, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Heflin, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas and grandson, of Texarkana, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Kyser and four children, of Kenner;, and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Heflin, of Monroe. The Rev. and Mrs. Jimmie Heflin and family, of Leonard, Texas, were unable to be present.

Many friends called during the hours of 1 and 4 p.m.

States Righters Vow Support Of Byrd If Victor

JACKSON, Miss. Nov. 2 (AP)—Mississippi States Righters today promised their vote, if they carry the state, to Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va) for President and Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) for vice president.

The first positive announcement on the subject came from W. B. Fontaine, Jackson lawyer who is one of the States Rights presidential electors. He is a former chairman of the group's state steering committee.

Fontaine said that if his slate wins on Tuesday, they will "counsel with independent electors chosen in other states . . . and we will urge them to join with us in supporting Senator Byrd and congressman Williams" for President and vice president.

The Byrd-Williams slate already has been endorsed by an independent movement in South Carolina. Williams, only Mississippi congressman to desert the Democratic ticket, described himself as "highly flattered" by the South Carolina endorsement.

The States Righters will be on the Mississippi ballot as independent and unpledged. It was the only way they could get on the ballot inasmuch as they did not hold the precinct, county and state conventions needed to qualify them as a registered political party.

Gov. J. P. Coleman, who supports the Stevenson-Kefauver slate has charged the States Righters are mostly 1952 Eisenhower supporters and has said they will be free to support anyone they want to this time—including Eisenhower again.

Shortly after the Memphis conference of States Righters last summer, state Sen. Earl Evans of Canton, Miss., said in a public address the Mississippi electors would support T. Coleman Andrews and Rep. Werdel (R-Cal.), the slate endorsed at Memphis.

On the basis of Evans' annoucement, Coleman threatened to keep the States Righters off the ballot, saying they apparently were not truly independent and unpledged. Mississippi States Rights leaders then denied they had committed themselves to Andrews and Werdel.

Williams could not be reached for comment on the new endorsement. He spent the night in a Natchez hotel and friends said he was fishing today.

Whoopers Expected To Head For Aransas Refuge

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 2 (AP) — The only flock of whooping cranes in the world will probably complete their fall migration to the Aransas Wildlife Refuge here in two or three weeks, acting refuge manager Jim Harmon said yesterday.

Harmon said 17 of the expected 26 cranes completed their flight from northern Canada and the remainder of the giant birds are expected from Wood Buffalo National Park in northern Canada.

With the exception of the flock, there are only three other whooping cranes in the world. They are in zoos.

Harmon said there is a possibility a whooper chick may have been hatched last summer in Canada. A report he heard states that a young crane was seen with the flock in Nebraska.

Railroads, Unions Agree On Long-Term Wage Pact

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP) — The National railway Mediation Board announced today that the nation's railroads and 11 nonoperating unions, representing some 700,000 workers have reached agreement on a long term wage contract.

The board said the new pact calls for a first-year wage increase of 10 cents an hour effective yesterday, 7 cents an hour Nov. 7, 1957, and another 7 cents an hour Nov. 1. 1958.

The railroads agreed to apply an additional 2½-cent wage increase, or $4.25 a month per employe, toward the cost of an employe dependents hospital, medical and surgical plan.

Negotiators said a cost-of-living secalator clause is provided. Pay rates will increase or decrease a cent an hour for each half-point change in the government's cost-of-living index. Adjustments will be made beginning May 1, 1957 and each six months thereafter.

Railroad representatives placed the first year cost of the agreement at 330 million dollars when extended to cover both nonoperating and operating employes. The two subsequent 7 cent increases will each add 185 million, the representatives said.

Still in mediation are disputes affecting some 200,000 operating railmen—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brother of Railroad Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

There was no announcement as to how close the operating unions and the railroads are to a new contract.

The new agreement with the nonoperating unions established a moratorium until Nov. 1, 1959, on wage increases or decreases or other rules applicable to compensation.

Interstate Commerce Commission figures placed the average pay for nonoperating railroaders before the new contract at $365 a month and $4,266 yearly.

The nonoperating group includes the clerks, track crews, shop employes and others who maintain and operate the rail system, not the moving trains. They had sought a 25-cent wage hike.

James E. Moore, Rayville Merchant, Dies At Residence

RAYVILLE, Nov. 2 (Special—James Earl Moore, 59, operator of a feed and seed store in Rayville, died at his home here at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

A native of the Shiloh community near Bernice, Moore had lived in Rayville since 1932. He was a member of the First Baptist church of Rayville.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the First Baptist church with the Rev. H. R. Herrington, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Shiloh cemetery under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral home of West Monroe.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lela Pardue Moore of Rayville; one sister, Mrs. R. B. Mabry of Bernice; two brothers, George Moore of Bernice and Allen Moore of Farmington, N. M.; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Honorary pallbearers will be Charlie Cupples, Dave Swetman, Loy Cloninger, Vernon Boles, Howard Bennett, Charlie Muyer, Roy Faust, Douglas Robinson, Louie Fike, Woodrow Coats, Alton Johnson, George Tabor, Dr. Thomas Sayer and Dr. J. C. Ellington.

Negro Given 20 Years On Four Burglary Counts

RAYVILLE, Nov. 2 (Special)—A Richland parish Negro, Ephrim Griffin, drew four sentences totaling 20 years imprisonment on four burglary charges in Fifth district court here last week.

Griffin was arrested by authorities of the Richland parish sheriff's office about two months ago, and was sentenced Friday by Judge J. Vernon Sims.

The four charges were for robberies at Hale's store east of Archibald, where Griffin allegedly hauled off the safe, broke it open and took about $300; burglary of the Rushing store east of Archibald; and burglaries at Albritton's store and Cater's store.

After his arrest here it was found that Griffin is wanted by authorities over a wide area. He was taken to Lake Providence for trial following his trial here. He is also wanted in Madison parish and for a jail break charge in Decatur, Miss.

The Negro allegedly had served two terms in the Mississippi state prison and one term in federal prison in Atlanta.

Sentences handed down by Judge Sims were for five years on each charge, not to run concurrently.

Other charges brought before the court here included:

Roy and Ruth Samletz, charged on two counts of passing worthless checks, pleaded guilty and were each sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary. The two are also wanted on similar charges in Ohio and Kentucky.

George Jones entered a plea of guilty to the charge of attempted murder, and was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

James C. Yeats and Robert Whitlock pleaded guilty to charges of drunk driving and were each fined $250 and costs or 90 days in jail.

Negro Given 20 Years On Four Burglary Counts

RAYVILLE, Nov. 2 (Special)—A Richland parish Negro, Ephrim Griffin, drew four sentences totaling 20 years imprisonment on four burglary charges in Fifth district court here last week.

Griffin was arrested by authorities of the Richland parish sheriff's office about two months ago, and was sentenced Friday by Judge J. Vernon Sims.

The four charges were for robberies at Hale's store east of Archibald, where Griffin allegedly hauled off the safe, broke it open and took about $300; burglary of the Rushing store east of Archibald; and burglaries at Albritton's store and Cater's store.

After his arrest here it was found that Griffin is wanted by authorities over a wide area. He was taken to Lake Providence for trial following his trial here. He is also wanted in Madison parish and for a jail break charge in Decatur, Miss.

The Negro allegedly had served two terms in the Mississippi state prison and one term in federal prison in Atlanta.

Sentences handed down by Judge Sims were for five years on each charge, not to run concurrently.

Other charges brought before the court here included:

Roy and Ruth Samletz, charged on two counts of passing worthless checks, pleaded guilty and were each sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary. The two are also wanted on similar charges in Ohio and Kentucky.

George Jones entered a plea of guilty to the charge of attempted murder, and was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

James C. Yeats and Robert Whitlock pleaded guilty to charges of drunk driving and were each fined $250 and costs or 90 days in jail.

Youthful Killer Of Teacher Given Life Sentence

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Billy Ray Prevatte, charged with killing one teacher and wounding two others in a shooting spree at his junior high school, was convicted of first degree murder tonight.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Young Prevatte at first took the sentence as he has taken the trial, calmly. But then he sagged to a table and had to be carried from the courtroom. His face appeared blank.

State's Atty. Blair H. Smith asked for a verdict of first degree murder, but not the death penalty.

The defense based its case on a plea of innocence because of insanity, a plea that was supported by the testimony of Prevatte's mother, Mrs. Delma Prevatte of Raleigh, N. C., who tearfully testified yesterday that she believed there was "something wrong somewhere" with her son's mind.

Prevatte was charged with the fatal shooting of a teacher, Fraser K. Cameron, in Maryland Park Junior High School, which the boy attended. He was charged also with the wounding of two other teachers in the same school, Francis D. Wagner and Robert W. Hicks. The shooting occurred May 4.

Prevatte testified briefly yesterday while lawyers argued the admissibility of a signed statement he had given police, and while jurors were absent from the courtroom. He said he had blacked out May 4 and didn't recall the shooting.

Police said at the time of the incident they were told that Prevatte left school, went home, got a .22 rifle, returned to school and shot the teachers.

Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, a psychiatrist, testified a pressure of hate built up in Prevatte on May 4. The stresses leading to this condition, he said, included scoldings by teachers and the refusal of a classmate to elope with him. The classmate testified earlier that she had been intimate with Prevatte and that the intimacies became known at school. Other classmates testified that Prevatte threatened to kill Cameron to prevent him from telling the girl's father about the intimacies.

Prevatte came to Maryland from Raleigh, where he was expelled from school for threatening a teacher.

Citizen Councils Defended In Miss. By Atty.-General

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson described the Citizens Councils' action toward continued segregation as the "constitutional right to protect what we believe is morally and legally right."

Addressing some 1,200 delegates to the countywide annual meeting of the Coahoma County Citizens Council last night, Patterson said:

"We are not a race hatred organization as our critics have said. We seek to bring about better understanding between the races within the framework of segregation.

"The best friends the Negroes of Mississippi have are in the councils, which are organizations of the leading citizens of most communities."

The attorney general called the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People "a well-heeled, closely knit organization which is exploiting the Negro race."

Absentee Balloting Will End At Noon

Absentee balloting for the Nov. 6 general election will end at noon today.

Sixty-three residents of Ouachita parish cast absentee ballots yesterday, bringing the overall total to 155. Seventy-five military ballots have been received through the mail, which ups the parish total to 230.

Absentee ballots may be cast in the clerk of court's office at the parish courthouse.

Parish Juvenile Probation Officer To Assume Duties

Buster Crowley, 29 - year - old Southside High School faculty member, has accepted appointment as the Ouachita parish juvenile probation officer.

Judge David I. Garrett, who announced the appointment yesterday, said Crowley will begin his new duties Monday.

"I am pleased to have been selected to fill this responsible post and will strive to serve to the fullest expectations of those who have placed such confidence in me," Crowley said yesterday.

"I regret leaving the training institute, but am glad to say I am leaving with the good will of those with whom I have been associated there. I will always appreciate my broad experience there and leave with great admiration for Mr. A. L. Swanson and his staff," Crowley added.

Crowley has served as coach, counselor and teacher at the training school for the past two years. He is a graduate of Northeast Louisiana State College.

A veteran of World War II, Crowley also served in Germany after the war as a military police prison officer. He helped launch a program for juvenile services for children of American personnel stationed in Germany.

Judge Garrett said the action was taken upon recommendation by a citizens group aiding in the selection of qualified personnel. "We are extremely fortunate to secure Mr. Crowley for this position," he added.

Crowley will act in a capacity of advisor to juveniles who are on probation but not placed in the training school, it was pointed out. He will maintain an office in the parish courthouse.

DeSiard Street Grocery Store Is Gutted By Flames

An early morning fire flashed through a DeSiard street grocery Friday leaving in its wake the gutted hull of a building and debris from a large stock of groceries.

Damages in dollars and cents to the grocery, which is run by J. E. Thomas, had not been determined last night.

The one-story frame building is owned by Rocco Giurlando, of 712 Jackson street, fire officials said.

Firemen were still investigating the fire but the origin had not been determined last night.

Monroe firemen battled the blaze for about 2 hours before bringing the flames under control.

Mrs. P. Tanner, turned in the alarm at 7:07 a.m. with engines five and three making the run.

Firemen speculated that the blaze could have originated in the storage room and spread throughout the building.

Powell Ends Tour Of Campaigning For Ike, Nixon

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., Negro congressman from New York City, returned today from a cross-country speaking tour and predicted anew that there will be a marked switch of Negro votes from Democratic candidates to Republican.

Powell, who spoke for the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket on his tour, denied he had "bolted" the Democratic Party as claimed by Democratic national chairman Paul Butler.

He said he has refused to endorse any Republican candidates except for President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and New York State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits, who is running for the Senate.

Powell said that if he is re-elected he will vote with the Democrats in the organization of the new Congress in January.

He visited 14 major population centers across the country during his speaking tour. He predicted that the Negro vote, which favored the Democrats three to one in 1952 would shift to a margin of three to two in next Tuesday's election.

Five From Parish Candidates For Graduation At NW

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 2 (Special) — Five Ouachita parish students are candidates for graduation for the fall semester, 1956, according to Otis Crew, Northwestern State College registrar.

Vashti Ham Shrum of Fairbanks is a home economics major, and a candidate for the bachelor of science degree. Doris B. Smith Gibson, Monroe, is a candidate for the bachelor or science degree in nursing. A candidate for the 3-year nursing diploma is Mrs. Margaret Tesdale Purcell, Eros. Elvin Agusta Burgess and William Edward Russell, both of Monroe, are candidates for the master of education degree in administration and supervision.

Heart Attack Suffered While Duck Hunting

A 47-year-old Monroe man who suffered a heart attack yesterday while alone in a Wham brake duck blind was reported in "satisfactory" condition here last night.

Hospital authorities identified the man as C. L. Roberts, of 307 Egan street.

Mrs. Roberts said Friday her husband had just distributed his duck decoys when he suffered the attack.

He came to shore where he was rushed to the St. Francis Hospital by a Peters Funeral Home ambulance.

Mrs. Roberts said it was the first time that her husband had suffered a heart attack.

Solon Doubts Any Effort Slated To Penalize Williams

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss) said tonight he doubts any attempt will be made to strip Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) of committee seniority as punishment for deserting the Democratic Party.

Paul Butler, national Democratic chairman, recently said the party should strip Williams of his seniority standings because he switched his support to the Mississippi States Rights group. Williams also has been endorsed as States Rights vice presidential candidate.

Colmer's statement was telegraphed to state Sen. Earl Evans after the States Rights leader queried the entire Mississippi congressional delegation on their stand in the matter.

Colmer's statement, released by Evans, said in a contest between Butler and Williams "I would be found on the side of my great fellow statesman from Mississippi."

"It is contrary to all precedent and tradition and moreover such a proposal (as Butler's) smacks of totalitarian tactics and thought control as now practiced in Russia, and I am confident that Butler's suggestion will be deplored by all good Mississippians of all political faiths," Colmer's telegram read.

None of the other congressmen has answered Evans. Rep. Arthur Winstead (D-Miss) labeled Butler's statement "premature and out of order" but did not make clear whether he would support Williams in a seniority fight.

Bond Jumper Is Sought In Miss.

RALEIGH, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — The entire force of sheriff's deputies continued their search for Anse Blakney, former Smith County supervisor who failed to turn up for his fraud trial yesterday.

Circuit Judge Homer Currie ordered forfeited Blakney's bonds of $750 each on three counts of fraud involving county payrolls and instructed the sheriff to "bring him in."

Blakney was convicted on one count of fraud in October 1955 and the State Supreme Court ordered a new trial. He did not show up for his trial yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Hooker Martin said the sheriff ordered out the whole force to find Blakney.

AUTO THEFT CHARGED

P. C. Yates, of Monroe, paid a fine of $800 for two counts of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

B. C. Brown, 56, of Monroe, was given a 30-day compulsory jail sentence for habitual drunkenness.

Seven persons were fined a total of $175 for drunkenness, and nine traffic violators paid a total of $62 in fines.

WEST MONROE

Six traffic violators were fined a total of $114.50 in court Friday by Judge Jasper Jones.

Rapidly-Moving Cold Front Rips Through Texas

By UNITED PRESS

A fast-moving cold front pushed rain, hail and dust storms through Texas Friday and brought the threat of the first hard freeze of the season to the northwest.

The cold Arctic air triggered a series of thunderstorms as it rolled across the state. A reddish cloud of dust kicked up by 30-mile an-hour winds followed on the heels of the rain.

Forecasters predicted temperatures would drop to 24 to 32 degrees in the Panhandle, upper South Plains and El Paso areas by early Saturday. Lows of 35 to 45 degrees were predicted for North Central Texas.

Rain mixed with fine hail, that looked almost like sleet, pelted Dallas shortly after the front passed that area. Within an hour, though, visibility was down to three miles from a dust storm.

By later afternoon, dust spread from Abilene, to Childress and Wichita Falls, into East Texas to Tyler, south to Waco and back north to Lubbock. Visibility over the area was limited to from one and one-half to eight miles.

The front by nightfall was on a line from Shreveport, La., south to the Texas coast to south of Corpus Christi and south of Laredo.

Skies were clearing over West and North Central Texas Friday night and temperatures were expected to continue dropping. Early Friday the temperature had dropped to 33 at Dalhart, and was expected to dip into the lower 20s by early Saturday there.

Texas was on the edge of an intense storm centered over north centra Nebraska, where a severe blizzard hit Friday. Forecasters said conditions would gradually improve in Texas Friday night and Saturday.

Norvell Girdy, 14-year-old Negro, was killed by an automobile 14 miles east of San Antonio as he waited for a school bus Friday morning just after the frontal passage brought showers and heavy clouds to the area.

The weather bureau put a wide area of the state under tornado alert Friday morning. Although strong winds accompanied the cold front, there was no report of twisters.

In Austin, the mercury dipped from 73 to 56 in 45 minutes as the front pushed in and Fort Worth recorded a drop from 68 to 51.

In the Midwest, Blizzard warnings were issued for extreme northwest Kansas into western Nebraska and the Dakotas. Winds up to 40 to 60 miles an hour whipped from two to six inches of snow into big drifts as the blizzard raged over that area. For many areas in the Midwest, it was the first snow of the season.

Snow was forecast as far south as the western Oklahoma Panhandle.

Partly cloudy skies and colder temperatures were predicted for all of Texas for Saturday.

Hunter Stalks, Kills Chickens

MARLBORO, Mass., Nov. 2 (UP)—Coastas Economu, 76-year-old hunter, successfully stalked and blasted two quail Friday.

Only they weren't quail.

On complaint of Mrs. Alice Haynes, Economu was fined $25 in district court. She said he shot two chickens on her lawn.

Commits Suicide In Lions' Cage

CORDOBA, Argentina, Nov. 2 (UP)—The body of Amado Majul, 21, was found Friday in a cage of the local zoo, between two lions.

Police said Najul had been deranged mentally and committed suicide by climbing into the cage Thursday night. His body was mauled.

He said he has refused to endorse any Republican candidates except for President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and New York State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits, who is running for the Senate.

Powell said that if he is re-elected he will vote with the Democrats in the organization of the new Congress in January.

He visited 14 major population centers across the country during his speaking tour. He predicted that the Negro vote, which favored the Democrats three to one in 1952 would shift to a margin of three to two in next Tuesday's election.

Five From Parish Candidates For Graduation At NW

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 2 (Special) — Five Ouachita parish students are candidates for graduation for the fall semester, 1956, according to Otis Crew, Northwestern State College registrar.

Vashti Ham Shrum of Fairbanks is a home economics major, and a candidate for the bachelor of science degree. Doris B. Smith Gibson, Monroe, is a candidate for the bachelor or science degree in nursing. A candidate for the 3-year nursing diploma is Mrs. Margaret Tesdale Purcell, Eros. Elvin Agusta Burgess and William Edward Russell, both of Monroe, are candidates for the master of education degree in administration and supervision.

Heart Attack Suffered While Duck Hunting

A 47-year-old Monroe man who suffered a heart attack yesterday while alone in a Wham brake duck blind was reported in "satisfactory" condition here last night.

Hospital authorities identified the man as C. L. Roberts, of 307 Egan street.

Mrs. Roberts said Friday her husband had just distributed his duck decoys when he suffered the attack.

He came to shore where he was rushed to the St. Francis Hospital by a Peters Funeral Home ambulance.

Mrs. Roberts said it was the first time that her husband had suffered a heart attack.

Solon Doubts Any Effort Slated To Penalize Williams

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss) said tonight he doubts any attempt will be made to strip Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) of committee seniority as punishment for deserting the Democratic Party.

Paul Butler, national Democratic chairman, recently said the party should strip Williams of his seniority standings because he switched his support to the Mississippi States Rights group. Williams also has been endorsed as States Rights vice presidential candidate.

Colmer's statement was telegraphed to state Sen. Earl Evans after the States Rights leader queried the entire Mississippi congressional delegation on their stand in the matter.

Colmer's statement, released by Evans, said in a contest between Butler and Williams "I would be found on the side of my great fellow statesman from Mississippi."

"It is contrary to all precedent and tradition and moreover such a proposal (as Butler's) smacks of totalitarian tactics and thought control as now practiced in Russia, and I am confident that Butler's suggestion will be deplored by all good Mississippians of all political faiths," Colmer's telegram read.

None of the other congressmen has answered Evans. Rep. Arthur Winstead (D-Miss) labeled Butler's statement "premature and out of order" but did not make clear whether he would support Williams in a seniority fight.

Bond Jumper Is Sought In Miss.

RALEIGH, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — The entire force of sheriff's deputies continued their search for Anse Blakney, former Smith County supervisor who failed to turn up for his fraud trial yesterday.

Circuit Judge Homer Currie ordered forfeited Blakney's bonds of $750 each on three counts of fraud involving county payrolls and instructed the sheriff to "bring him in."

Blakney was convicted on one count of fraud in October 1955 and the State Supreme Court ordered a new trial. He did not show up for his trial yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Hooker Martin said the sheriff ordered out the whole force to find Blakney.

AUTO THEFT CHARGED

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 2 (UP) —James Moriarty, 31, of San Antonio, Tex., was arrested here Friday on charges of stealing an automobile in San Antonio July. 8. It was charged he failed to return a rented automobile but instead drove it here and tried to trade it.

Rapidly-Moving Cold Front Rips Through Texas

By UNITED PRESS

A fast-moving cold front pushed rain, hail and dust storms through Texas Friday and brought the threat of the first hard freeze of the season to the northwest.

The cold Arctic air triggered a series of thunderstorms as it rolled across the state. A reddish cloud of dust kicked up by 30-mile an-hour winds followed on the heels of the rain.

Forecasters predicted temperatures would drop to 24 to 32 degrees in the Panhandle, upper South Plains and El Paso areas by early Saturday. Lows of 35 to 45 degrees were predicted for North Central Texas.

Rain mixed with fine hail, that looked almost like sleet, pelted Dallas shortly after the front passed that area. Within an hour, though, visibility was down to three miles from a dust storm.

By later afternoon, dust spread from Abilene, to Childress and Wichita Falls, into East Texas to Tyler, south to Waco and back north to Lubbock. Visibility over the area was limited to from one and one-half to eight miles.

The front by nightfall was on a line from Shreveport, La., south to the Texas coast to south of Corpus Christi and south of Laredo.

Skies were clearing over West and North Central Texas Friday night and temperatures were expected to continue dropping. Early Friday the temperature had dropped to 33 at Dalhart, and was expected to dip into the lower 20s by early Saturday there.

Texas was on the edge of an intense storm centered over north centra Nebraska, where a severe blizzard hit Friday. Forecasters said conditions would gradually improve in Texas Friday night and Saturday.

Norvell Girdy, 14-year-old Negro, was killed by an automobile 14 miles east of San Antonio as he waited for a school bus Friday morning just after the frontal passage brought showers and heavy clouds to the area.

The weather bureau put a wide area of the state under tornado alert Friday morning. Although strong winds accompanied the cold front, there was no report of twisters.

In Austin, the mercury dipped from 73 to 56 in 45 minutes as the front pushed in and Fort Worth recorded a drop from 68 to 51.

In the Midwest, Blizzard warnings were issued for extreme northwest Kansas into western Nebraska and the Dakotas. Winds up to 40 to 60 miles an hour whipped from two to six inches of snow into big drifts as the blizzard raged over that area. For many areas in the Midwest, it was the first snow of the season.

Snow was forecast as far south as the western Oklahoma Panhandle.

Partly cloudy skies and colder temperatures were predicted for all of Texas for Saturday.

Hunter Stalks, Kills Chickens

MARLBORO, Mass., Nov. 2 (UP)—Coastas Economu, 76-year-old hunter, successfully stalked and blasted two quail Friday.

Only they weren't quail.

On complaint of Mrs. Alice Haynes, Economu was fined $25 in district court. She said he shot two chickens on her lawn.

Commits Suicide In Lions' Cage

CORDOBA, Argentina, Nov. 2 (UP)—The body of Amado Majul, 21, was found Friday in a cage of the local zoo, between two lions.

Police said Najul had been deranged mentally and committed suicide by climbing into the cage Thursday night. His body was mauled.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Industry sources report the Pentagon has now decided to set back back the target date for getting an A-bomber into the air. Originally a tentative completion date of 1958 had been figured on. Now, with the new stretch out, it's unlikely an American A-plane will fly until the early 1960s. Main reason for the Pentagon move, it is understood, is the high priority begin given to designing a bomber powered by new super fuels. These special fuels are compounds of boron, lithium, and other metals packing tremendous energy and little weight.

Wholesale prices for refined sugar were boosted 10 points to 8.75 cents a pound in the Southeast by cane refiners serving that territory. The Southeast had not been included in the second advance during October by major Eastern refiners announced earlier this week.

The Air Material Command of the Air Force announced the award of more than $16 million in contracts. The largest contracts went to Curtiss Wright and Thompson Products.

The State Department announced it has stopped shipments of military aid to Israel. State Department press officer Lincoln White also announced that there has been an obvious slow down in delivery of economic aid to the Middle East but that no order to suspend this aid has been given.

Loans to business by major New York banks jumped $163 million in the week-end Wednesday, Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported.

The Army awarded Raytheon Manufacturing contracts totaling approximately $35 million for further development and production of military electronic equipment.

Hoffman Laboratories has been awarded a $22 million contract by the Navy for air navigation equipment, Hoffman Electronics, the parent company announced.

Lucius D. Clay, chairman of Continental Can denied that Continental's merger with Robert Gair violated either the letter or the spirit of the antitrust laws and said it did not measurably lessen competition in the areas served by the company.

Stock Market In Continued Climb

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — Oils, coppers, chemicals and some steels paced a continued stock market rise on expanded volume today.

Gains among international oils ran over 4 points. Other pivotal issues advanced fractions to a point or so.

Aircrafts, however, took losses as the prospect of United States involvement, directly or indirectly, in the Middle East conflict appear more remote.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 80 cents to $180.20 with the industrials up $1.40, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

Of 1,158 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines by 655 to 281. There were 25 new highs for the year and 26 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,180,000 shares compared with 1,890,000 yesterday.

The most active stock was Standard Oil (New Jersey) up 1¼ at 57 on 43,000 shares. Second was U. S. Steel, up ⅝ at 70⅝ on 42,300 shares. Third was Avco, up ⅛ at 6⅛ on 30,800 shares.

Corporate bonds were higher.

U. S. government bonds declined in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 40 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower today.

The market was nervous over the Middle East developments and the situation in Hungary, with prices fluctuating over a range of almost $1 a bale.

Current crop months firmed toward the close on increased trade buying.

New crop months sagged, after early firmness, on scattered liquidation.

Futures closed 40 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower than the previous close.

Futures were little changed in moderately active dealings as uncertainty over the foreign situation kept traders cautious while the trade continues to place some hedges from the south which was offset by mill price fixing. Clayton continued to sell December at 33.85. A press report that the United States expects to export at least five millions of bales of cotton during the present season and possibly six million brought in some commission house buying. This report, however, failed to attempt to predict the amount of cotton that might be entering loan which would tend to offset the bullish export figures and the trade sold on the advance.

Unfixed call sales for the week declined 14,900 bales to 1,169,800 vs. 821,700 a year ago. There are 316,700 bales yet to be fixed on December.

Liverpool futures were unchanged to slightly higher and Bremen futures were reported somewhat higher as that new contract has now been trading about thirty contracts per day.

Farm Income In Mississippi Dips

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today state farm income dropped in mid-October compared to mid-September.

"The usual seasonal decline which occurs during the harvest season was reflected in lower prices for cotton, corn, soybeans and hay crops," the report said. "Meat animals also were down seasonally from mid-September.

"Cottonseed, rice, milk products, eggs, wheat and oats were above the Sept. 15 averages . . . .

"Mississippi farmers paid less for most major feed items on Oct. 15 than during the previous month. Mixed dairy feed averaged five cents higher per hundred pounds while broiler mash and cottonseed meal were unchanged.

"Changes from Oct. 15, 1955 are mixed with broiler mash and bran averaging the same."

Swift Family Buys Plantation

CANTON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — Mrs. T. Gayle Taylor of Paducah, Ky., has sold her 9,100-acre Cameron plantation and ante-bellum home to members of the Swift meat packing family chancery court records showed today.

The records show Mrs. Taylor sold the plantation to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Chicago and Canton who plan to convert it into a cattle ranch.

The Taylors already operate the AT&T ranch, also an ante-bellum site.

Mrs. Taylor, the former Miss Virginia Cameron, had operated the Cameron plantation on a rental basis and visited it only infrequently.

New Discovery Reported In Miss.

MERIDIAN, Miss, Nov 2 (AP)—Oil men today announced a new discovery in Clarke County near Shubuta.

M. H. Hall of Meridian, Gardner Green, R. M. Moon and Sonny Ball of Laurel, announced what oil men believe was an extension of the north Yellow Creek oil field.

The well is on Hal's land about 2½ miles west of Shubuta.

Sonny Land Contracting Co. of Rayne, La, drilled the well to 4,800 feet and brought in oil.

Bastrop, La., has the largest paper milk container plant in the world—the Single Service Container corporation.

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Industry sources report the Pentagon has now decided to set back back the target date for getting an A-bomber into the air. Originally a tentative completion date of 1958 had been figured on. Now, with the new stretch out, it's unlikely an American A-plane will fly until the early 1960s. Main reason for the Pentagon move, it is understood, is the high priority begin given to designing a bomber powered by new super fuels. These special fuels are compounds of boron, lithium, and other metals packing tremendous energy and little weight.

Wholesale prices for refined sugar were boosted 10 points to 8.75 cents a pound in the Southeast by cane refiners serving that territory. The Southeast had not been included in the second advance during October by major Eastern refiners announced earlier this week.

The Air Material Command of the Air Force announced the award of more than $16 million in contracts. The largest contracts went to Curtiss Wright and Thompson Products.

The State Department announced it has stopped shipments of military aid to Israel. State Department press officer Lincoln White also announced that there has been an obvious slow down in delivery of economic aid to the Middle East but that no order to suspend this aid has been given.

Loans to business by major New York banks jumped $163 million in the week-end Wednesday, Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported.

The Army awarded Raytheon Manufacturing contracts totaling approrimately $35 million for further development and production of military electronic equipment.

Hoffman Laboratories has been awarded a $22 million contract by the Navy for air navigation equipment, Hoffman Electronics, the parent company announced.

Lucius D. Clay, chairman of Continental Can denied that Continental's merger with Robert Gair violated either the letter or the spirit of the antitrust laws and said it did not measurably lessen competition in the areas served by the company.

Stock Market In Continued Climb

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — Oils, coppers, chemicals and some steels paced a continued stock market rise on expanded volume today.

Gains among international oils ran over 4 points. Other pivotal issues advanced fractions to a point or so.

Aircrafts, however, took losses as the prospect of United States involvement, directly or indirectly, in the Middle East conflict appear more remote.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 80 cents to $180.20 with the industrials up $1.40, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

Of 1,158 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines by 655 to 281. There were 25 new highs for the year and 26 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,180,000 shares compared with 1,890,000 yesterday.

The most active stock was Standard Oil (New Jersey) up 1¼ at 57 on 43,000 shares. Second was U. S. Steel, up ⅝ at 70⅝ on 42,300 shares. Third was Avco, up ⅛ at 6⅛ on 30,800 shares.

Corporate bonds were higher. U. S. government bonds declined in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 40 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower today.

The market was nervous over the Middle East developments and the situation in Hungary, with prices fluctuating over a range of almost $1 a bale.

Current crop months firmed toward the close on increased trade buying.

New crop months sagged, after early firmness, on scattered liquidation.

Futures closed 40 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower than the previous close.

Futures were little changed in moderately active dealings as uncertainty over the foreign situation kept traders cautious while the trade continues to place some hedges from the south which was offset by mill price fixing. Clayton continued to sell December at 33.85. A press report that the United States expects to export at least five millions of bales of cotton during the present season and possibly six million brought in some commission house buying. This report, however, failed to attempt to predict the amount of cotton that might be entering loan which would tend to offset the bullish export figures and the trade sold on the advance.

Liverpool futures were unchanged to slightly higher and Bremen futures were reported somewhat higher as that new contract has now been trading about thirty contracts per day.

Farm Income In Mississippi Dips

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today state farm income dropped in mid-October compared to mid-September.

"The usual seasonal decline which occurs during the harvest season was reflected in lower prices for cotton, corn, soybeans and hay crops," the report said. "Meat animals also were down seasonally from mid-September.

"Cottonseed, rice, milk products, eggs, wheat and oats were above the Sept. 15 averages . . . .

"Mississippi farmers paid less for most major feed items on Oct. 15 than during the previous month. Mixed dairy feed averaged five cents higher per hundred pounds while broiler mash and cottonseed meal were unchanged.

"Changes from Oct. 15, 1955 are mixed with broiler mash and bran averaging the same."

Swift Family Buys Plantation

CANTON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — Mrs. T. Gayle Taylor of Paducah, Ky., has sold her 9,100-acre Cameron plantation and ante-bellum home to members of the Swift meat packing family chancery court records showed today.

The records show Mrs. Taylor sold the plantation to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Chicago and Canton who plan to convert it into a cattle ranch.

The Taylors already operate the AT&T ranch, also an ante-bellum site.

Mrs. Taylor, the former Miss Virginia Cameron, had operated the Cameron plantation on a rental basis and visited it only infrequently.

New Discovery Reported In Miss.

MERIDIAN, Miss, Nov 2 (AP)—Oil men today announced a new discovery in Clarke County near Shubuta.

M. H. Hall of Meridian, Gardner Green, R. M. Moon and Sonny Ball of Laurel, announced what oil men believe was an extension of the north Yellow Creek oil field.

The well is on Hal's land about 2½ miles west of Shubuta.

Sonny Land Contracting Co. of Rayne, La, drilled the well to 4,800 feet and brought in oil.

Lumpkin Rapped For Endorsement Of Rights Ticket

GULFPORT, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP)—Bidwell Adam, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, today charged state Rep. Sam Lumpkin had his eye on a federal judgeship when he shifted to President Eisenhower's camp.

The Lee County representative was a member of Democrats for Eisenhower in 1952. He recently announced a series of speeches in behalf of the President's campaign for re-election.

Adam's reference to a federal judgeship obviously was to the northern district of Mississippi from where Judge Allen Cox plans to retire in February.

Adam said Lumpkin's shift was a "political maneuver which a blind man can see through.

"I saw in the press where Sam has jumped overboard again," Adam's statement continued. "But on Nov. 7 (the day after the election), he'll be swimming back to the Democratic shores.

"If Sam don't quit jumping, he'll find himself out in the rain one day and there won't be a Republican umbrella to keep him dry."

'Ole Wooden Ear' Pleads Innocent

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 2 (AP) — William E. Sadler, better known as "Ole Wooden Ear," editor of the weekly newspaper at the state penitentiary, today pleaded innocent to a charge of forgery. Trial was set Nov. 15.

Sadler, who won fame with his witty editing of the Angolite, was freed last spring and went to work on an Opelousas newspaper.

A few weeks ago he fled the state and was arrested in Georgia on the bad check charge.

The charge today involved a forged check made out for $13.10, but officials said when he fled a number of other forgeries were involved.

Sadler, a multiple offender, has a prison record dating back into the 1929's.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Dallas Woman Describes Austrian Aid For Rebels

DALLAS Tex., Nov. 2 (UP) — A Dallas girl who is taking special studies in Vienna, Austria, says that thousands of Austrians are emptying their medicine cabinets and giving bread and blood to help Hungarians revolting against the Communists.

The girl is Allesandra Comini. She told her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Raiberto Comini of Dallas, about the sympathy the revolt has aroused among Austrians in a letter written last Sunday.

"They appealed over the radio for people to come to the centers in different districts and donate first blood, then in this order: bread, bandages, chocolates, citrons and oranges," Miss Comini 21 wrote.

"I drove to the center of Graven and there were about 2,000 people there. The streets for blocks around were too jammed to even attempt to drive down.

"Housewives from all over the city came just to bring a kilo or even a half kilo of bread. Many people brought the entire contents of their medicine cabinet. Others brought clothes and blankets.

"It is reported that about 35,000 persons have already donated blood."

"The Austrian automobile association is asking all its members to donate trucks and private cars to take supplies to the border. I have just heard for the first time an appeal to the Austrian Child Care Society to families in Vienna to house Hungarian children temporarily.

"I saw a demonstration at the Hungarian embassy of about 300 Hungarian refugees carrying banners. "We Hungarians wish to help our brothers. And the Russian murderers must leave our homeland." They were carrying the old Hungarian flag with wreaths of mourning flowers on them.

"It was very moving when they sang. It was the old Hungarian national anthem and many onlookers as well as demonstrators were crying."

Miss Comini, a graduate of Barnard college who is working toward her master's degree at the University of Vienna, said the revolt can almost be followed by listening to the radio.

"Listening to the radio is especially exciting, as I get not only Vienna and Austrian news, but also Budapest, Prague, Ljubljana, Koschice Munich and Luxembourg," she wrote.

A few weeks ago he fled the state and was arrested in Georgia on the bad check charge.

The charge today involved a forged check made out for $13.10, but officials said when he fled a number of other forgeries were involved.

Sadler, a multiple offender, has a prison record dating back into the 1929's.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Dallas Woman Describes Austrian Aid For Rebels

DALLAS Tex., Nov. 2 (UP) — A Dallas girl who is taking special studies in Vienna, Austria, says that thousands of Austrians are emptying their medicine cabinets and giving bread and blood to help Hungarians revolting against the Communists.

The girl is Allesandra Comini. She told her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Raiberto Comini of Dallas, about the sympathy the revolt has aroused among Austrians in a letter written last Sunday.

"They appealed over the radio for people to come to the centers in different districts and donate first blood, then in this order: bread, bandages, chocolates, citrons and oranges," Miss Comini 21 wrote.

"I drove to the center of Graven and there were about 2,000 people there. The streets for blocks around were too jammed to even attempt to drive down.

"Housewives from all over the city came just to bring a kilo or even a half kilo of bread. Many people brought the entire contents of their medicine cabinet. Others brought clothes and blankets.

"It is reported that about 35,000 persons have already donated blood."

"The Austrian automobile association is asking all its members to donate trucks and private cars to take supplies to the border. I have just heard for the first time an appeal to the Austrian Child Care Society to families in Vienna to house Hungarian children temporarily.

"I saw a demonstration at the Hungarian embassy of about 300 Hungarian refugees carrying banners. "We Hungarians wish to help our brothers. And the Russian murderers must leave our homeland." They were carrying the old Hungarian flag with wreaths of mourning flowers on them.

"It was very moving when they sang. It was the old Hungarian national anthem and many onlookers as well as demonstrators were crying."

Miss Comini, a graduate of Barnard college who is working toward her master's degree at the University of Vienna, said the revolt can almost be followed by listening to the radio.

"Listening to the radio is especially exciting, as I get not only Vienna and Austrian news, but also Budapest, Prague, Ljubljana, Koschice Munich and Luxembourg," she wrote.

The first public school in Louisiana was established by the Spanish crown in 1772, but pride forbade many people to attend it as it was considered charity.

Mike Todd's future seems to be composed of blue skies and stars. He has become a prosperous movie producer and Elizabeth Taylor is starring in "The Private Life of Mike Todd"....One of Miguel's major problems for many years was his passion for gambling. He literally lost millions. He participated in Hollywood's most fantastic gin rummy game. At one sitting he lost $200,000.

Mike shares the philosophy of B'way Confucius: Money isn't everything — when you have everything money can buy.

In the realm of criticism, this reporter has been a member of the firing squad as well as the target. It is difficult, almost impossible, to accept criticism with any degree of tranquility. The exception is the imperturbable Ethel Merman, who will soon brighten Neon Valley again. . . Her philosophy: "The way I look at reviews, if they're good, they're good and if they're bad, they're bad. All a performer has to care about is whether she knows inside herself that she's done a good job. You can't make a critic praise you by wanting him to."

The tv testimonial to Cole Porter offered a torrent of happy melodies. Strangely, Cole once declared: "I don't know how to write a hit. 'My Heart Belongs to Daddy' was a hit. It was written simply to fill a stage wait in 'Leave It To Me.' 'I Love Paris' in 'Can-Can' was written because Jo Mielziner had designed such a beautiful set. I once wrote a song called 'Rosalie' for a picture called 'Rosalie.' My sole inspiration is a telephone call from a producer."

If Sen. Kefauver were running for Chief Handshake, he'd win in a landslide....Sen. and Mrs. Kefauver recently arrived in a town during a windstorm. Mrs. Kefauver used one hand to hold her hat, the other to prevent her skirt from ballooning. "Someone thrust a bouquet at me," declared Mrs. Kefauver, "but not having three hands, I frantically considered gripping it with my teeth. Above the commotion, Estes looked over at me a little annoyed and called out: 'Honey, why can't you shake hands with all these good people?"

The Steve Allen-Jayne Meadows upcoming blessed event adds another happy chapter to their love story. For a Broadway yarn—it began in an unusual manner...On their first date Steve didn't escort her to a show or nightclub. He took her to the Planetarium ...After ten months he proposed... But a girl is a girl is a girl... Mrs. A. recently confessed: "I kept saying no for a year but the whole time I was thinking yes."

Bereaved Father Gives Advice To Reckless Drivers

POMPANO BEACH, Fla., Nov. 2 (AP) — Speeders and drunken drivers got this advice yesterday from a bereaved father

"Please think and drive carefully. May God bless you and save our children.

"If you speed or drink while driving, I think your license should be revoked forever . . ."

The letter in the Fort Lauderdale Daily News was from M. V. Chaney. Chaney's 14-year-old son Roger and another boy were killed Aug. 25 by an automobile that overran their motor scooter.

Interpreting The News

Nasser Appears Doomed As Premier Of Egyptians

Britain and France gave no indication that they will heed the United Nations appeal for a cease-fire in Egypt.

Instead, reports from Paris and Anthony Eden's refusal to promise abstinence indicate the two Western powers are about to begin land operations. France says reduction of Egypt's air power in preparation for the entry of troops is about complete.

It appears that whatever reply the two governments will make to the U.N. will be made against the background of a continuing operation.

The United States went to the U.N. with a limited objective, at any rate, and it was achieved. It was to focus world opinion against the use of war as an arm of diplomacy. Seldom has there been such a display of unanimity in the organization. Even among the Commonwealth members, Britain was able to carry along only Australia and New Zealand.

The United States and the United Nations now face a period in which they can do little except talk and wait until something happens to end the fighting.

There seems to be a possibility that Israel will withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula, keeping the Gaza Strip and ending operations in that sector. Prompt world reaction against her attack especially the disapproval of the United States, may make her think twice before undertaking operations in Jordan.

The Anglo - French operation seems likely to continue until there is an imposed quiet or until President Nasser of Egypt is forced out in favor of a regime which will accept international control of the Suez Canal.

Two ironies have developed out of the situation.

Britain and France, who made such a to-do about keeping the canal open to international traffic, have closed it.

Nasser, who was going to get Anglo-American financing for his big Aswan Dam project, lost it by mortgaging Egypt's economic future to Russia in return for arms. Now the airplanes, the most important part of the Russian shipments, are gone or practically gone, and the rest seems likely to go, so that Egypt will be left with nothing except a big debt.

Nasser himself seems likely to go, too.

France and Britain could have destroyed Nasser but not the arms without resorting to war. There is a good chance that they could have neutralized the arms without resorting to war. Economic and political pressures would have done it in time.

World opinion having been established, the question now is what the West will have to pay for the Anglo-French action. Egypt can be brought to her knees. Can the rest of the Arab world be prevented from rising?

Reservation Fee For Tech Dorm Rooms Is Raised

RUSTON, Nov. 2 (Special) — Deposits for reserving rooms in the dormitories at Louisiana Tech have been increased from $5 to $10, effective now, officials of the college announced.

The $10 deposit will be retained by the college until such time as the student withdraws permanently from the dormitory, an announcement states.

"In the event that a person decides not to occupy the room which has been reserved," the announcement continues, "he or she must so notify the dean of men or the dean of women at least thirty days prior to the beginning of the term in order to obtain a refund of the $10; otherwise, the deposit will be forfeited."

Dormitory room reservations already are being taken for as far ahead as the 1957-58 college year, it was reported.

Texan Describes Events In Cairo Before Assault

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 2 (UP)—State Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, national and state chairman of the American Legion's foreign relations committee, returned from Cairo Friday but reported that he hadn't gotten to see anything of the Israeli - Egyptian war.

He went to Egypt with W. C. Daniel of Danville, Va., national commander of the Legion; Paul Griffith of Washington, D. C., former deputy secretary of Defense, and Louis Gough of Pasadena, Calif., a past Legion commander.

They were members of a committee appointed by the Legion to look into the Middle East situation. Kelley said they arrived in Cairo last Monday morning and embassy officials met them and took them to the embassy.

"The embassy was all agog," he said. "U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare showed us a cablegram he had received, saying that Israel was mobilizing and the situation looked bad.

"While we were reading that cablegram, another arrived, saying the situation looked worse. A few minutes later, an attache brought in another cablegram, which Ambassador hare looked at and said, 'Gentlemen this is it.' He put it into his pocket without saying what was in it."

Hare told the Legionnaires that all non essential U. S. civilians were going to be evacuated and he gave Kelley and the others to understand they were non essential.

He said people were gathering in bunches in Cairo and they looked excited, but he saw nothing of the war. He and the others booked passage home on a Trans-World Airlines plane at 9 a. m. Tuesday. At 6 a. m., a Trans-World clerk called and said all flights had been cancelled.

They appealed to the U. S. embassy, which said arrangements had been made to evacuate them at 10 a. m. They joined 50 other Americans and six Britons, mostly women and children, at Cairo airport.

A British admiral and seven members of his staff bumped them off the plane in Benghazi, Libya. They spent a night there and chartered a private plane to Tripoli. The private plane also took them to Rome, where they caught a commercial plane for New York, flying via Paris.

He arrived in Houston from New York and left within 15 minutes for Edinburg on another plane.

Sleeping Sickness Claims Life Of Negro In Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 2 (UP)—A 42-year-old Negro woman died late Friday of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) to become the second victm this week in an outbreak of the disease in this area.

Friday's victim was Rosa Relande. She was admtted to a Corpus Christi hospital Saturday, when her illness was diagnosed as encephalitis.

Linda Lomas, 12, of Kingsville, died Thursday in a Corpus Christi hospital of the same disease.

Corpus Christi health officials said a total of 14 cases had been reported in Corpus Christi over a period of about six weeks.

Meanwhile, the State Health Department in Austin sent entomologists to this area in an effort to determine what was spreading the disease.

Health authorities said the carrier probably is mosquitos, but an official report from Austin had not been issued.

Corpus Christi health officials said some of the victims were put to sleep by the disease, some were partially paralized and some suffered from damage to the brain.

Why Grow Old?

Winning Margin May Be Neck In Battle For Beauty

Many women have "won by a neck" in the battle for beauty, that is. This is one of the first spots to show signs of age. Even in young women we often see the beginning of a double chin or deep creases, and from middle age on a woman cannot give her neck to much care.

As I have said many times before, posture has a great effect on the neckline. Even though a woman is interested in posture she may hold her head incorrectly. She may stick her chin forward. Don't do it! The chin should be parallel to the floor and you should push toward the ceiling with the top of your head.

Lubrication also is essential. Daily or nightly, it should be regular. Exercise is helpful. Try this one: Stand or sit in an erect position. Let your head roll in a complete circle. If this makes you dizzy, as it does some people, roll your head first in one direction and then in the other. Continue.

Another: Same starting position. Lower your head back as far as comfortable. Raise your head and touch your chin to your chest. Continue. Do this slowly.

It is a good idea when doing either neck or facial exercises to apply an oily cream first. This is especially true of facial exercises. When you do some of the facial exercises you wil make little wrinkles in your face. If the skin is pliable these will not last.

This principle of keeping the skin soft applies to daily skin care. Many women acquire lines which they would not otherwise have because their skin is so dry that every facial expression deepens the lines they make.

We would expect our riding boots to crack if we never oiled them. The same goes for our outer coating. Find time every day for lubrication of the neck and face. If you do ont wish to sleep dunked in cream or oil, try to find an hour or so during the day when you can leave the cream on.

If you would like to have my exercises for the neck or my facial exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflets 18 and 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Still Voting For 'Adlai Stevenson' After 64 Years

LAUREL, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP)—In 1892, Elmer Anderson voted for Adlai Stevenson for vice president. This year, he plans to vote for the elder Stevenson's grandson for president.

To the nonagenarian, this year's election seems very quiet and nothing like those he remembers as a young man in his native Iowa. Back then, he said, the tariff was the hot issue and the Republicans stumped for high tariff and the Democrats were for free trade.

City Hall Offices To Close Monday

City officials announced yesterday that all departments of the city hall will be closed Monday, Nov. 12,—Armistice Day—with the exception of the fire and police departments.

Emergency crews at the power line department will also be on duty, they added.

Lights Over Broadway

The President should get a statement on the H-Bomb from Dr. Vannevar Bush, top man of all scientists in the USA . . . Mr. Bush was wartime director of The Office of Scientific Research and Development . . . His comments would silence all others, especially Candidate Adlai Steven son, whose adivsors and speechwriters include people who have Red - Front records. Or they are so far to the Left — they should get a ticket for misleading voters . . . We caught the First Act of "Separate Tables" (at the Music Box), Monday evening. Because we cannot view the premiere tomorrow night . . . It includes several gripping episodes. They should fit snugly into our NBC program. Eric Portman and Margaret Leighton, for instance. Top - flight players chiefing an excellent cast . . . M. Connolly in the Minneapolis Tribune: "He did a fine job with his new TV format but got so excited he forgot to mention the celebs in the VIP section" . . . Many critics said that . . . We didn't forget . . . We got the cue (from the director) that time ran out. (End of Explanation.) . . . The odds on Ike to win are now almost 6 to 1 with no Stevenson MONEY whatever . . . Wonderful contrib from Clare Manasse of Greens Farms, Conn.: I L'IKE!

Cleveland's star home - run walloper, Al Rosen, will retire from baseball today or tomorrow. Going into the stock brokerage biz . . . Add listenable platters: Don Rondo's version of "Two Different Worlds" (Jubilee Records). A very different song . . . We caught the Blue Angel show again Sabbath midnight and invited songstress Jill Corey to thrush on our Friday-Nighter . . . Martha Davis & Spouse are on the Angel bill again. Real Pros. Another attractive entertainer there is new to our orbs and ears. Will Holt and his Gittar. You prolly enjoyed Mr. Holt's songs at Village Vanguard . . . The Trendex ratings for last Friday night: WW: 17.3 . . . Zane Grey (CBS): 12.8 (down from 17.5 of the wee before); ABC's Crossroads": 13.4 . . . Trendex (which says the Share-of-the-Audience is the important factor) adds: WW: 37.6 . . . Zane Grey: 26.7 . . . We had only 20 minutes (of song and dance) to get our rating. Because Repubs bought 5 minutes and the sponsors hogged the other 5 minutes with their spiels . . . Dead Duck? (Quack-a - Doodle-Dooooo! Quack, Quack; Haw!)

Mike Todd's future seems to be composed of blue skies and stars. He has become a prosperous movie producer and Elizabeth Taylor is starring in "The Private Life of Mike Todd". . . .One of Miguel's major problems for many years was his passion for gambling. He literally lost millions. He participated in Hollywood's most fantastic gin rummy game. At one sitting he lost $200,000.

Mike shares the philosophy of B'way Confucius: Money isn't everything — when you have everything money can buy.

In the realm of criticism, this reporter has been a member of the firing squad as well as the target. It is difficult, almost impossible, to accept criticism with any degree of tranquility. The exception is the imperturbable Ethel Merman, who will soon brighten Neon Valley again. . . Her philosophy: "The way I look at reviews, if they're good, they're good and if they're bad, they're bad. All a performer has to care about is whether she knows inside herself that she's done a good job. You can't make a critic praise you by wanting him to."

The tv testimonial to Cole Porter offered a torrent of happy melodies. Strangely, Cole once declared: "I don't know how to write a hit. 'My Heart Belongs to Daddy' was a hit. It was written simply to fill a stage wait in 'Leave It To Me.' 'I Love Paris' in 'Can-Can' was written because Jo Mielziner had designed such a beautiful set. I once wrote a song called 'Rosalie' for a picture called 'Rosalie.' My sole inspiration is a telephone call from a producer."

If Sen. Kefauver were running for Chief Handshake, he'd win in a landslide. . . .Sen. and Mrs. Kefauver recently arrived in a town during a windstorm. Mrs. Kefauver used one hand to hold her hat, the other to prevent her skirt from ballooning. "Someone thrust a bouquet at me," declared Mrs. Kefauver, "but not having three hands, I frantically considered gripping it with my teeth. Above the commotion, Estes looked over at me a little annoyed and called out: 'Honey, why can't you shake hands with all these good people?"

The Steve Allen-Jayne Meadows upcoming blessed event adds another happy chapter to their love story. For a Broadway yarn—it began in an unusual manner. . .On their first date Steve didn't escort her to a show or nightclub. He took her to the Planetarium . . .After ten months he proposed. . . But a girl is a girl is a girl. . . Mrs. A. recently confessed: "I kept saying no for a year but the whole time I was thinking yes."

Bereaved Father Gives Advice To Reckless Drivers

POMPANO BEACH, Fla., Nov. 2 (AP) — Speeders and drunken drivers got this advice yesterday from a bereaved father

"Please think and drive carefully. May God bless you and save our children.

"If you speed or drink while driving, I think your license should be revoked forever . . ."

The letter in the Fort Lauderdale Daily News was from M. V. Chaney. Chaney's 14-year-old son Roger and another boy were killed Aug. 25 by an automobile that overran their motor scooter.

Interpreting The News

Nasser Appears Doomed As Premier Of Egyptians

Britain and France gave no indication that they will heed the United Nations appeal for a cease-fire in Egypt.

Instead, reports from Paris and Anthony Eden's refusal to promise abstinence indicate the two Western powers are about to begin land operations. France says reduction of Egypt's air power in preparation for the entry of troops is about complete.

It appears that whatever reply the two governments will make to the U.N. will be made against the background of a continuing operation.

The United States went to the U.N. with a limited objective, at any rate, and it was achieved. It was to focus world opinion against the use of war as an arm of diplomacy. Seldom has there been such a display of unanimity in the organization. Even among the Commonwealth members, Britain was able to carry along only Australia and New Zealand.

The United States and the United Nations now face a period in which they can do little except talk and wait until something happens to end the fighting.

There seems to be a possibility that Israel will withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula, keeping the Gaza Strip and ending operations in that sector. Prompt world reaction against her attack especially the disapproval of the United States, may make her think twice before undertaking operations in Jordan.

The Anglo - French operation seems likely to continue until there is an imposed quiet or until President Nasser of Egypt is forced out in favor of a regime which will accept international control of the Suez Canal.

Two ironies have developed out of the situation.

Britain and France, who made such a to-do about keeping the canal open to international traffic, have closed it.

Nasser, who was going to get Anglo-American financing for his big Aswan Dam project, lost it by mortgaging Egypt's economic future to Russia in return for arms. Now the airplanes, the most important part of the Russian shipments, are gone or practically gone, and the rest seems likely to go, so that Egypt will be left with nothing except a big debt.

Nasser himself seems likely to go, too.

France and Britain could have destroyed Nasser but not the arms without resorting to war. There is a good chance that they could have neutralized the arms without resorting to war. Economic and political pressures would have done it in time.

World opinion having been established, the question now is what the West will have to pay for the Anglo-French action. Egypt can be brought to her knees. Can the rest of the Arab world be prevented from rising?

Reservation Fee For Tech Dorm Rooms Is Raised

RUSTON, Nov. 2 (Special) — Deposits for reserving rooms in the dormitories at Louisiana Tech have been increased from $5 to $10, effective now, officials of the college announced.

The $10 deposit will be retained by the college until such time as the student withdraws permanently from the dormitory, an announcement states.

"In the event that a person decides not to occupy the room which has been reserved," the announcement continues, "he or she must so notify the dean of men or the dean of women at least thirty days prior to the beginning of the term in order to obtain a refund of the $10; otherwise, the deposit will be forfeited."

Dormitory room reservations already are being taken for as far ahead as the 1957-58 college year, it was reported.

Texan Describes Events In Cairo Before Assault

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 2 (UP)—State Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, national and state chairman of the American Legion's foreign relations committee, returned from Cairo Friday but reported that he hadn't gotten to see anything of the Israeli - Egyptian war.

He went to Egypt with W. C. Daniel of Danville, Va., national commander of the Legion; Paul Griffith of Washington, D. C., former deputy secretary of Defense, and Louis Gough of Pasadena, Calif., a past Legion commander.

They were members of a committee appointed by the Legion to look into the Middle East situation. Kelley said they arrived in Cairo last Monday morning and embassy officials met them and took them to the embassy.

"The embassy was all agog," he said. "U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare showed us a cablegram he had received, saying that Israel was mobilizing and the situation looked bad.

"While we were reading that cablegram, another arrived, saying the situation looked worse. A few minutes later, an attache brought in another cablegram, which Ambassador hare looked at and said, 'Gentlemen this is it.' He put it into his pocket without saying what was in it."

Hare told the Legionnaires that all non essential U. S. civilians were going to be evacuated and he gave Kelley and the others to understand they were non essential.

He said people were gathering in bunches in Cairo and they looked excited, but he saw nothing of the war. He and the others booked passage home on a Trans-World Airlines plane at 9 a. m. Tuesday. At 6 a. m., a Trans-World clerk called and said all flights had been cancelled.

They appealed to the U. S. embassy, which said arrangements had been made to evacuate them at 10 a. m. They joined 50 other Americans and six Britons, mostly women and children, at Cairo airport.

A British admiral and seven members of his staff bumped them off the plane in Benghazi, Libya. They spent a night there and chartered a private plane to Tripoli. The private plane also took them to Rome, where they caught a commercial plane for New York, flying via Paris.

He arrived in Houston from New York and left within 15 minutes for Edinburg on another plane.

Health authorities said the carrier probably is mosquitos, but an official report from Austin had not been issued.

Corpus Christi health officials said some of the victims were put to sleep by the disease, some were partially paralized and some suffered from damage to the brain.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Winning Margin May Be Neck In Battle For Beauty

Many women have "won by a neck" in the battle for beauty, that is. This is one of the first spots to show signs of age. Even in young women we often see the beginning of a double chin or deep creases, and from middle age on a woman cannot give her neck to much care.

As I have said many times before, posture has a great effect on the neckline. Even though a woman is interested in posture she may hold her head incorrectly. She may stick her chin forward. Don't do it! The chin should be parallel to the floor and you should push toward the ceiling with the top of your head.

Lubrication also is essential. Daily or nightly, it should be regular. Exercise is helpful. Try this one: Stand or sit in an erect position. Let your head roll in a complete circle. If this makes you dizzy, as it does some people, roll your head first in one direction and then in the other. Continue.

Another: Same starting position. Lower your head back as far as comfortable. Raise your head and touch your chin to your chest. Continue. Do this slowly.

It is a good idea when doing either neck or facial exercises to apply an oily cream first. This is especially true of facial exercises. When you do some of the facial exercises you wil make little wrinkles in your face. If the skin is pliable these will not last.

This principle of keeping the skin soft applies to daily skin care. Many women acquire lines which they would not otherwise have because their skin is so dry that every facial expression deepens the lines they make.

We would expect our riding boots to crack if we never oiled them. The same goes for our outer coating. Find time every day for lubrication of the neck and face. If you do ont wish to sleep dunked in cream or oil, try to find an hour or so during the day when you can leave the cream on.

If you would like to have my exercises for the neck or my facial exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflets 18 and 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Still Voting For 'Adlai Stevenson' After 64 Years

LAUREL, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP)—In 1892, Elmer Anderson voted for Adlai Stevenson for vice president. This year, he plans to vote for the elder Stevenson's grandson for president.

To the nonagenarian, this year's election seems very quiet and nothing like those he remembers as a young man in his native Iowa. Back then, he said, the tariff was the hot issue and the Republicans stumped for high tariff and the Democrats were for free trade.

Byrd Shades Ouachita; Neville Plasters Crossett

Jackets Bag TD In Final Period To Avoid Upset

By SAM HANNA

Ouachita's Lions played to win in the clutches last night at Brown Field and held a stronger Byrd Yellow Jacket team to a 7-0 victory before approximately 1500 homecoming fans.

The Lions, completely dominated by a rugged Yellow Jacket line, stopped several Byrd drives at crucial points that would have otherwise meant more scoring for the visitors.

Byrd rolled up 310 yards to Ouachita's 89 and moved to 13 first downs to the Lions' four.

Even at that, the Jackets were unable to score until the very first play of the final quarter when fullback Charles Peatross went over from the four.

Peatross, who was easily the standout carrier of the running brigade, ran well off both tackles and sparked the touchdown drive that started at the visitors' 48.

STATISTICS

	Ouachita	Byrd
First downs	4	13
[illegible]	15	25
Passes	4	4
Fumbles	1	0
Punts	33	32
Gained Passing	22	30
Gained Rushing	67	280

Not at any time during the game did Ouachita look as if they would score as Byrd's line, producing not a single star, kept the Lions out of Jacket territory.

Even though Byrd kept driving and seemed destined to score sometime during the game, a bad Ouachita pass from center made matters easier.

The Lions were kicking out on the 38 when Donald Dednam, regularly a guard, centered over the head of Dickie Crow, who was knocked down on his 20.

Ouachita kicked again and Byrd took over at midfield and drove on to score. However, one play could not be accountable for Ouachita's defeat as the Lions were rated to lose by a much greater margin.

Ouachita's old grads had just settled back to relive days of Liondom when a quick-hitting Yellow Jacket offense started clicking early.

Taking the first play from scrimmage on the 10, the Jackets weren't long with their backs to the wall as they drove steadily upfield.

For moments it looked as if they would go all the way behind the lumbering Pat Studstill, 160-pound back, but the Lions grew rougher and stopped the 70-yard drive at their own 30.

Punts were exchanged twice and the second quarter found Byrd off again. Dan Davis, quarterback, shot an 8-yard pass at his own 42 and from the 50 Byrd was flying.

Sonny Jacobs and Peatross hit the line for sizeable gains and the Jackets drove to Ouachita's 30 again. Plays ran out this time with Davis passing desperately on the fourth to turn the ball over to Ouachita.

The Lions, however, couldn't move and kicked out to the Jackets' 45. Ouachita's line fought stubbornly but couldn't hold Byrd back as the visiting backs hammered to their hosts' 40.

Jacobs was drawing the game's first blood as he slipped off left tackle, hit the secondary where he was hit and knocked still running, to his hands to go all the way. But a clipping penalty called the play back to put the ball on the Lions' 30.

Davis was unable to get a series of running plays going successfully and took to the air. His high, wobbling pass was intercepted at the two by little Eddie McGowan and the Lions were again in possession of the ball.

A light sprinkle began to fall on both sputtering offenses and the half ended in a scoreless tie.

Billy McKay gathered in the Byrd second half kickoff on about his 20 and rambled up the right sidelines on a good run to the 43.

McGowan fumbled on the first play and Byrd recovered on the 39 and shot for a first down to 28. The Lions, fighting against bigger odds, stopped the drive at their 20.

This time Crowe threw to end Wayne Van for 5, but Byrd's Larry Phillips intercepted on his own 32.

The Jackets lost the ball on Billy Roach's recovery for the Lions, but got it back on a Lion fumble. Ouachita held and took over on their own 29 when Byrd kicked on the fourth.

Crowe got off Ouachita's best play of the night and picked up the Lions' initial first down on the 40. The thrust was shortlived and Dednam's pass from center to the kicking Crowe put the Lions back on their 25.

A successful kick followed and it was Byrd's ball again near midfield. Peatross, Byrd's 183 pound fullback, led the way afield and a Davis to Vaughn Evers pass brought the Jackets knocking on Ouachita's 20.

Peatross carried twice to the five, then to the four and the quarter ended. The end zones looked the same to him and he bulled through for the first touchdown. Grantham Couch converted.

The Lions fought back with fullback Billy Thomas, on a five-yard gain that sparked them to their second first down on the 40. Crow was rushed to throw and Bo Campbell of Byrd intercepted, being hauled down on Ouachita's 47.

After that point in the game, both clubs played in desperation, Ouachita fighting for a tie and Byrd pushing for another score to sew it up. All efforts were to no avail.

The lineup:

Byrd

Ends — Bond, Carpenter, Robinson.

Tackles — Wilson, Tuckett, Spence, Didier.

Guards — Rambin, Shemmell, Trussell.

Center — Hamm, Patterson.

Backs — Jacobs, Evers, Davis, Pittman, Studstill, Peatross, Conch.

Jena Overpowers Menard To Grab District Crown

JENA, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — Nearly 3,000 partisan fans watched the potent Jena Giants move to their third straight conference championship here tonight as they defeated Menard of Alexandria, 39-13, in a district 3-AA conference game.

The locals will close out their season next week against Winnfield. Then they will move into the state playoffs against Opelousas.

Tonight's scoring was evenly divided between fullback Jerome Owens and halfback Jimmy Aldredge, both of whom tallied three times. Extra points were made three times by quarterback Tommy Thompson.

It was the final Jena score which brought the cheering crowd to its feet, as the Giants pulled off some kickoff return razzle-dazzle.

End James Plunkett took the kickoff following Menard's second fourth quarter tally. Plunkett handed off to halfback Richard Bridges, who dropped back to find running room and swung to the other side of the playing field. Bridges then handed off to the slick-running Aldredge, who cut back the other way and was off an 85-yard touchdown run.

Menard's two tallies came in the fourth quarter, when Joe Serio plunged over from one yard out to climax a 54-yard drive which was featured by a Serio to Julian Vienne 42-yard heave.

The Alexandrians then struck 91 yards in six plays, four of them passes. The glory play was a 55-yard pass from Serio to Vienne for the TD with only a minute left to play.

Owens opened the scoring for Jena on a one-foot plunge on the first play of the second quarter. Aldredge hit from three yards out after intercepted an errant Menard heave. Owens concluded the first half scoring with a 56-yard run.

In the third quarter Aldredge scored again on a three yard dive to climax a 57-yard drive. Owens had another tally on a five-yard plunge.

Mangham Defeats Crowville Eleven In 13-0 Scramble

CROWVILLE, Nov. 2 (Special) —A crowd of approximately 800 spectators witnessed the defeat of the Crowville Bulldogs by the Mangham Dragons to the tune of 13-0 in a non-conference Class B game played here tonight.

This was the tenth consecutive win for the Dragons against no defeats this season.

Mangham's scoring came in the second and fourth quarters with hardcharging Dragon fullback Robert Martin ramming through the line from five yards out for the first tally. Martin kicked the extra point.

The final tally of the game followed a pass interception on the Crowville 25 yard line by Dragon quarterback Roger Boughton. Halfback Billy Ray Clingan scored after a succession of line drives.

Clingan was the game's leading ground gainer with 10 yards per try. Martin was a formidable foe in defense, as was tackle Edgar Johns, for the Mangham team.

Crowville's outstanding players were Vernon Guy, Bobby Joe Allen J. T. Johnson, James Hoover, and Myles McDuffie.

Crowville plays Waterproof next Friday for the final home game of the season.

Mangham faces the Holly Ridge Eagles on the Dragon field the night of November 9 for its final game. Should the Dragons win this important conference game, they will clinch the championship of District 2-B.

To See L.S.U. Game

COLUMBIA, La., Nov. 2 (Special)—The Columbia Quarterback Club will host the Crimson Tide football players of Columbia High School on a trip to Baton Rouge Saturday to see the L.S.U. - Ole Miss football game that night.

Coach James Turner and his Tidemen, with members of the Quarterback Club, will leave here Saturday morning on the trip.

Leahy Considered Likely Candidate For Texas Job

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 2 (AP)—Frank Leahy's name will be presented to the University of Texas regents when they meet at Austin tomorrow to consider the Texas athletic situation, The Star-Telegram said tonight.

Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, assured a group of Texas ex-students and officials here earlier this week that he is interested in becoming athletic director and "football supervisor" at Texas, the newspaper said.

He explained he did not want the title as head football coach because he had promised players and officials at Notre Dame when he retired in 1953 that he would never coach again.

Meeting with Leahy here were W. A. Moncrief Jr., oil man and ex-Texas student, J. Lee Johnson III, a regent; Jim Leeton, an attorney; J. A. (Tiny) Gooch, vice president of the university's development board and a member of an advisory committee to the athletic council, and W. A. Moncrief Sr.

Leahy's choice for the head coaching job would be Bob McBride, his former assistant at Notre Dame, Leeton said.

McBride is now in private business, having quit coaching at Notre Dame when Leahy retired.

Leahy has emphasized he had not been approached officially about the job.

University of Texas officials also have said that neither Leahy nor anyone else has been officially approached about the job of athletic director or head football coach.

Athletic director Dana X. Bible is retiring to "modified service" at the end of the year. Head football coach Ed Price has resigned effective Dec. 31.

Tigers Run Wild To Clip Eagles By 40-0 Margin

BY LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The Neville Tigers did everything but murder the Crossett Eagles last night as the rampaging Monroyans cuffed the Arkansans, 40-0 for the Bengals eighth victory of the season. Crossett possess a 5-2-1 showing.

Neville's first string backfield ripped through the Eagles almost as if they did not exist. The visitors found themselves seven points behind only 2:20 after the opening kickoff. On the fifth play from scrimmage quarterback Elton Upshaw skirted around right end for 10 yards to paydirt and halfback Terry Reeves booted the conversion.

STATISTICS

	Eagles	Tigers
First downs	11	18
Yards rushing	192	471
Yards passing	34	0
Passes attempted	10	3
Passess completed	3	0
Passes intercepted by	0	1
Punts	8	3
Average yards punts	31	33
Fumbles lost	3	1
Penalties	4	5
Yards lost penalties	50	45

It was Reeves who electrified the opposition and set up the initial TD. On the first play of the game he cut loose to sweep his left end for 50 yards and carry the ball to the Crossett 14. Three plays later Upshaw put the Bengals out front.

From there it was only a question of how much the Black and Golds would pile upon the scoring heap.

Upshaw pulled his noted fakes beautifully throughout the game. On numerous occasions the entire Eagle line found themselves halting a player who did not even have the ball while the carrier chased around end.

Just such Tom-foolery allowed Mickey Yerger to get away shortly after the first tally. The galloping fullback sprinted around right end for 79 yards to the Eagle 1. Halfback Willie Ragan then plunged the distance for the score. Reeves missed the conversion and the Tigers led 13-0 with only seven minutes of the game consumed.

When the Tigers took over the pigskin a few minutes later Reeves and Upshaw again used the same play that had put them in scoring position for their first touchdown. 140-pound Reeves caught the Eagles by surprise and rolled up 20 yards to the Tiger 40. Upshaw followed with a ramble into the end zone to cash his chips for six points. Reeves kicked the extra point for the Nevillites to lead 20-0 at the end of the quarter.

In the second period Coach Bill Ruple began to send in his bench power attempting to hold down the slaughter. But the NHS giants were on the victory trail and little could be done to keep them under control.

Reeves opened the round's scoring with a 60-yard race through a host of Crossett tacklers. Upshaw kicked good then but missed seconds later when Ragan cut his way through the right guard slot for 68 yards and the Tigers' fifth six-pointer.

Crossett had the ball in Neville territory only once, that occuring through a Tiger fumble on the 42 in the third period. But the Golds took possession on the next play via an Eagle miscue.

During the course of combat the Bengals rang up 471 yards rushing to the Eagles' 192. Although the first down count shows only a difference of seven (11 to 18), long Neville runs provided a much wider margin.

Reeves and Yerger were the leading ground gainers for the undefeated Nevillists. Reeves rattled off 125 paces while the "Mick" gathered in 120.

The lineups:

Crossett

Ends — Burnett, Gates, Runyan, Pennington, McCay.

Tackles — Sivils, Fleming, Gulledge, Gibbs, Pearch.

Guards — George, Hogue, Maxwell, White, King.

Centers — Bunn, Duckworth.

Trojans Overhaul Wildcats In Last Half, Win 34 To 13

WINNSBORO, Nov. 2 (Special) —The powerful Tallulah Trojans spoiled Winnsboro's homecoming here tonight with a 34-13 trounching.

Approximately 2,000 fans attending the Class A conference game saw Miss Jo Ann Jenkins crowned homecoming queen.

Bruising Trojan fullback Danny Neumann lead the way for the invaders as he chalked up three touchdowns.

However, it was the home team which drew first blood. Quarterback Pete Moore, capped a 64-yard drive following the opening kickoff with a two-yard drive to paydirt. Leo Lowentritt ran across the extra point.

The Trojans came back in the second quarter when Wayne Hopkins broke loose on a 30-yard dash.

Tallulah broke the game wide open in the third period as Neumann scored twice and Joe Yerger once. Neumann capped a 65-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge, and then came back to score again from five yards out after a blocked Winnsboro punt.

Yerger's touchdown was a 61-yard jaunt. Hopkins kicked four out of five extra points.

In the fourth quarter the wildcats rallied for a score when Moore found Jesse Walker in the end zone on the receiving end of a 22-yard pass.

Neumann closed out the scoring the game with a 55-yard run up the middle.

Tribe, Demons, Bulldogs, Lions In Top Gulf Games

By JAMES SAGGUS
The Associated Press

Louisiana Tech's defending Gulf States Conference football champions face an enlarged title race and tough Southeastern Louisiana today with their title hopes hanging on a victory.

Tech and Southeastern had the title fight all to themselves until McNeese State forfeited victories over Northeast State and Northwestern State to put them back in the picture.

Southeastern, with victories in its two conference games, can virtually eliminate Tech by spoiling Tech's homecoming. Tech has two victories and a tie in its three games. Northwestern now has the same record and Northeast has a 2-1 mark with a game against Tech remaining.

The two revived teams will play at Monroe in a game certain to eliminate one. In other games, Southwestern Louisiana Institute is at non-conference Louisiana College and McNeese is at non-conference Sam Houston State.

Both Tech and Southeastern have lost to Mississippi Southern, but Southeastern holds a 20-0 victory over Louisiana College, a team that played a scoreless tie with Tech.

The game could develop into a battle of two tough lines, with Tech apparently holding an edge there. Southeastern's brilliant collection of backs gives the invaders an overall edge.

The Southeastern attack is run by quarterback Cliff Stringfield, a good passer and kicker who can call on half a dozen fine runners. The runners include Russ Gautreaux, Pete Morere and Tommy Bell. Tech has an able passer in Jim McCabe, whose top runners are Jerry Frasier and A. L. Williams.

Northeast hopes against Northwestern ride on the running talents of Aubrey Wade, the GSC's top ground gainer and scorer. Northwestern has a good group of backs and may hold an edge in the line with seasoned veterans at most spots. Both teams have solid defenses.

SLI will be crippled for its battle with Louisiana College with half a dozen on the doubtful list. Louisiana College players were victims of food poisoning earlier in the week to make the outcome even more problematical. The running of Frank Mobley and Bobby Banna heads the LC attack, while SLI will depend on its Jerry Lewis to Ronnie Crockett combination.

McNeese faces an undefeated team in Sam Houston and won't be at full strength for the task. Ace quarterback Don Ladner on the "definitely won't play" list. Tackle Ray Jamalkowski's ineligibility and the suspension of halfback Ray Simmons, a top runner, also leaves big holes.

Haynesville Tags Ruston Bearcats With 21-9 Defeat

RUSTON, La., Nov. 2 (Special) The Haynesville High School Golden Tornado marched to its ninth victory of the season here tonight by dropping Ruston, 21-9, in a district 2-AA conference contest.

Charles Wadlington, the leading scorer of the conference, ran his touchdown total for the season to 17 tonight, as he counted twice, once on a ten-yard slash off tackle and again on a dash from the five.

Gene Ash collected the middle Haynesville touchdown on a run from the four. Russell Toney converted twice and Don Sherman once for the Tornado.

Ruston packed all its scoring into the second quarter, a pass from Pat Garrett to halfback John Murphy bringing a touchdown from the four. End "Bud" Alexander converted. A safety added two more Ruston points when end Charlie Hinton charged through to pull down Ash as he was trying to punt from his own end zone.

Block's Crusher Hits Wisner For 52 To 7 Victory

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — The Block High Bears ran wild to the delight of a homecoming crowd tonight to defeat the Wisner Bulldogs, 52-7, in a district 3-B conference game.

Roscoe Wilson, Clarence Richard and Edwin Hutchins led the Block attack.

Wilson scored two touchdowns on runs of nine and one yards, and converted four times. Richard turned in three touchdown runs on runs of four, 80, and 60 yards, the latter after taking a five-yard pass from Bobby Wright.

Hutchins bagged two touchdowns from the eight and 25.

John LaPraric kicked in one TD for the Bruins from the two.

Wisner's touchdown was counted early in the final period with Stephens scoring from the seven and Graham adding the point.

The Block win set up the Nov. 16 battle with Sicily Island, defending district champs, as the game to determine the district kings of this season.

WINNERS AT HOME

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31 (UP)—When Lehigh defeated Gettysburg 21-18 this seasn, it marked the first home football game Gettysburg had lost since 1952.

Jonesboro Tigers Fall To Pineville Rebels, 32 To 0

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — Held to a 6-0 score for the first half, the Pineville Rebels tallied two touchdowns in each of the last two quarters to defeat Jonesboro Hodge High's Tigers, 32-0 here tonight.

Corky Yates scored twice for the Rebs, once on a two-yard plunge and again on a 60-yard punt return.

Johnny Tuma, Dick Butler, and Bill Funderburk each crossed the last stripe once. Tuma went over on a one-yard buck, Butler went 95 yards after scooping up a fumble, and Funderburk plunged from the two with 15 seconds left.

Byrd Shades Ouachita; Neville Plasters Crossett

Jackets Bag TD In Final Period To Avoid Upset

By SAM HANNA

Ouachita's Lions played to win in the clutches last night at Brown Field and held a stronger Byrd Yellow Jacket team to a 7-0 victory before approximately 1500 homecoming fans.

The Lions, completely dominated by a rugged Yellow Jacket line, stopped several Byrd drives at crucial points that would have otherwise meant more scoring for the visitors.

Byrd rolled up 310 yards to Ouachita's 89 and moved to 13 first downs to the Lions' four.

Even at that, the Jackets were unable to score until the very first play of the final quarter when fullback Charles Peatross went over from the four.

Peatross, who was easily the standout carrier of the running brigade, ran well off both tackles and sparked the touchdown drive that started at the visitors' 48.

STATISTICS

	Ouachita	Byrd
First downs	4	13
[illegible]	15	25
Passes	4	4
Fumbles	1	0
Punts	33	32
Gained Passing	22	30
Gained Rushing	67	280

Not at any time during the game did Ouachita look as if they would score as Byrd's line, producing not a single star, kept the Lions out of Jacket territory.

Even though Byrd kept driving and seemed destined to score sometime during the game, a bad Ouachita pass from center made matters easier.

The Lions were kicking out on the 38 when Donald Dednam, regularly a guard, centered over the head of Dickie Crow, who was knocked down on his 20.

Ouachita kicked again and Byrd took over at midfield and drove on to score. However, one play could not be accountable for Ouachita's defeat as the Lions were rated to lose by a much greater margin.

Ouachita's old grads had just settled back to relive days of Liondom when a quick-hitting Yellow Jacket offense started clicking early.

Taking the first play from scrimmage on the 10, the Jackets weren't long with their backs to the wall as they drove steadily upfield.

For moments it looked as if they would go all the way behind the lumbering Pat Studstill, 160-pound back, but the Lions grew rougher and stopped the 70-yard drive at their own 30.

Punts were exchanged twice and the second quarter found Byrd off again. Dan Davis, quarterback, shot an 8-yard pass at his own 42 and from the 50 Byrd was flying.

Sonny Jacobs and Peatross hit the line for sizeable gains and the Jackets drove to Ouachita's 30 again. Plays ran out this time with Davis passing desperately on the fourth to turn the ball over to Ouachita.

The Lions, however, couldn't move and kicked out to the Jackets' 45. Ouachita's line fought stubbornly but couldn't hold Byrd back as the visiting backs hammered to their hosts' 40.

Jacobs was drawing the game's first blood as he slipped off left tackle, hit the secondary where he was hit and knocked still running, to his hands to go all the way. But a clipping penalty called the play back to put the ball on the Lions' 30.

Davis was unable to get a series of running plays going successfully and took to the air. His high, wobbling pass was intercepted at the two by little Eddie McGowan and the Lions were again in possession of the ball.

A light sprinkle began to fall on both sputtering offenses and the half ended in a scoreless tie.

Billy McKay gathered in the Byrd second half kickoff on about his 20 and rambled up the right sidelines on a good run to the 43.

McGowan fumbled on the first play and Byrd recovered on the 39 and shot for a first down to 28. The Lions, fighting against bigger odds, stopped the drive at their 20.

This time Crowe threw to end Wayne Van for 5, but Byrd's Larry Phillips intercepted on his own 32.

The Jackets lost the ball on Billy Roach's recovery for the Lions, but got it back on a Lion fumble. Ouachita held and took over on their own 29 when Byrd kicked on the fourth.

Crowe got off Ouachita's best play of the night and picked up the Lions' initial first down on the 40. The thrust was shortlived and Dednam's pass from center to the kicking Crowe put the Lions back on their 25.

A successful kick followed and it was Byrd's ball again near midfield. Peatross, Byrd's 183 pound fullback, led the way afield and a Davis to Vaughn Evers pass brought the Jackets knocking on Ouachita's 20.

Peatross carried twice to the five, then to the four and the quarter ended. The end zones looked the same to him and he bulled through for the first touchdown. Grantham Couch converted.

The Lions fought back with fullback Billy Thomas, on a five-yard gain that sparked them to their second first down on the 40. Crow was rushed to throw and Bo Campbell of Byrd intercepted, being hauled down on Ouachita's 47.

After that point in the game, both clubs played in desperation, Ouachita fighting for a tie and Byrd pushing for another score to sew it up. All efforts were to no avail.

The lineup:

Byrd

Ends — Bond, Carpenter, Robinson.

Tackles — Wilson, Tuckett, Spence, Didier.

Guards — Rambin, Shemmell, Trussell.

Center — Hamm, Patterson.

Backs — Jacobs, Evers, Davis, Pittman, Studstill, Peatross, Conch.

Ouachita

Ends —Roach, Van.

Tackles—Wheeler, Anderson, Harrell.

Guards — Carkett, Dednam, Housley.

Center — Crowe.

Backs — Crowe, Spence, McGowan, Thomas, Carter, McKay Peters, McKnight.

Jena Overpowers Menard To Grab District Crown

JENA, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — Nearly 3,000 partisan fans watched the potent Jena Giants move to their third straight conference championship here tonight as they defeated Menard of Alexandria, 39-13, in a district 3-AA conference game.

The locals will close out their season next week against Winnfield. Then they will move into the state playoffs against Opelousas.

Tonight's scoring was evenly divided between fullback Jerome Owens and halfback Jimmy Aldredge, both of whom tallied three times. Extra points were made three times by quarterback Tommy Thompson.

It was the final Jena score which brought the cheering crowd to its feet, as the Giants pulled off some kickoff return razzle - dazzle.

End James Plunkett took the kickoff following Menard's second fourth quarter tally. Plunkett handed off to halfback Richard Bridges, who dropped back to find running room and swung to the other side of the playing field. Bridges then handed off to the slick-running Aldredge, who cut back the other way and was off an 85-yard touchdown run.

Menard's two tallies came in the fourth quarter, when Joe Serio plunged over from one yard out to climax a 54-yard drive which was featured by a Serio to Julian Vienne 42-yard heave.

The Alexandrians then struck 91 yards in six plays, four of them passes. The glory play was a 55-yard pass from Serio to Vienne for the TD with only a minute left to play.

Owens opened the scoring for Jena on a one-foot plunge on the first play of the second quarter. Aldredge hit from three yards out after intercepted an errant Menard heave. Owens concluded the first half scoring with a 56-yard run.

In the third quarter Aldredge scored again on a three yard dive to climax a 57-yard drive. Owens had another tally on a five-yard plunge.

Mangham Defeats Crowville Eleven In 13-0 Scramble

CROWVILLE, Nov. 2 (Special) —A crowd of approximately 800 spectators witnessed the defeat of the Crowville Bulldogs by the Mangham Dragons to the tune of 13-0 in a non-conference Class B game played here tonight.

This was the tenth consecutive win for the Dragons against no defeats this season.

Mangham's scoring came in the second and fourth quarters with hardcharging Dragon fullback Robert Martin ramming through the line from five yards out for the first tally. Martin kicked the extra point.

The final tally of the game followed a pass interception on the Crowville 25 yard line by Dragon quarterback Roger Boughton. Halfback Billy Ray Clingan scored after a succession of line drives.

Clingan was the game's leading ground gainer with 10 yards per try. Martin was a formidable foe in defense, as was tackle Edgar Johns, for the Mangham team.

Crowville's outstanding players were Vernon Guy, Bobby Joe Allen J. T. Johnson, James Hoover, and Myles McDuffie.

Crowville plays Waterproof next Friday for the final home game of the season.

Mangham faces the Holly Ridge Eagles on the Dragon field the night of November 9 for its final game. Should the Dragons win this important conference game, they will clinch the championsship of District 2-B.

To See L.S.U. Game

COLUMBIA, La., Nov. 2 (Special)—The Columbia Quarterback Club will host the Crimson Tide football players of Columbia High School on a trip to Baton Rouge Saturday to see the L.S.U. - Ole Miss football game that night.

Coach James Turner and his Tidemen, with members of the Quarterback Club, will leave here Saturday morning on the trip.

Leahy Considered Likely Candidate For Texas Job

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 2 (AP)—Frank Leahy's name will be presented to the University of Texas regents when they meet at Austin tomorrow to consider the Texas athletic situation, The Star-Telegram said tonight.

Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, assured a group of Texas ex-students and officials here earlier this week that he is interested in becoming athletic director and "football supervisor" at Texas, the newspaper said.

He explained he did not want the title as head football coach because he had promised players and officials at Notre Dame when he retired in 1953 that he would never coach again.

Meeting with Leahy here were W. A. Moncrief Jr., oil man and ex-Texas student, J. Lee Johnson III, a regent; Jim Leeton, an attorney; J. A. (Tiny) Gooch, vice president of the university's development board and a member of an advisory committee to the athletic council, and W. A. Moncrief Sr.

Leahy's choice for the head coaching job would be Bob McBride, his former assistant at Notre Dame, Leeton said.

McBride is now in private business, having quit coaching at Notre Dame when Leahy retired.

Leahy has emphasized he had not been approached officially about the job.

University of Texas officials also have said that neither Leahy nor anyone else has been officially approached about the job of athletic director or head football coach.

Athletic director Dana X. Bible is retiring to "modified service" at the end of the year. Head football coach Ed Price has resigned effective Dec. 31.

Tigers Run Wild To Clip Eagles By 40-0 Margin

BY LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The Neville Tigers did everything but murder the Crossett Eagles last night as the rampaging Monroyans cuffed the Arkansans, 40-0 for the Bengals eighth victory of the season. Crossett possess a 5-2-1 showing.

Neville's first string backfield ripped through the Eagles almost as if they did not exist. The visitors found themselves seven points behind only 2:20 after the opening kickoff. On the fifth play from scrimmage quarterback Elton Upshaw skirted around right end for 10 yards to paydirt and halfback Terry Reeves booted the conversion.

STATISTICS

	Eagles	Tigers
First downs	11	18
Yards rushing	192	471
Yards passing	34	0
Passes attempted	10	3
Passess completed	3	0
Passes intercepted by	0	1
Punts	8	3
Average yards punts	31	33
Fumbles lost	3	1
Penalties	4	5
Yards lost penalties	50	45

It was Reeves who electrified the opposition and set up the initial TD. On the first play of the game he cut loose to sweep his left end for 50 yards and carry the ball to the Crossett 14. Three plays later Upshaw put the Bengals out front.

From there it was only a question of how much the Black and Golds would pile upon the scoring heap.

Upshaw pulled his noted fakes beautifully throughout the game. On numerious occasions the entire Eagle line found themselves halting a player who did not even have the ball while the carrier chased around end.

Just such Tom-foolery allowed Mickey Yerger to get away shortly after the first tally. The galloping fullback sprinted around right end for 79 yards to the Eagle 1. Halfback Willie Ragan then plunged the distance for the score. Reeves missed the conversion and the Tigers led 13-0 with only seven minutes of the game consumed.

When the Tigers took over the pigskin a few minutes later Reeves and Upshaw again used the same play that had put them in scoring position for their first touchdown. 140-pound Reeves caught the Eagles by surprise and rolled up 20 yards to the Tiger 40. Upshaw followed with a ramble into the end zone to cash his chips for six points. Reeves kicked the extra point for the Nevillites to lead 20-0 at the end of the quarter.

In the second period Coach Bill Ruple began to send in his bench power attempting to hold down the slaughter. But the NHS giants were on the victory trail and little could be done to keep them under control.

Reeves opened the round's scoring with a 60-yard race through a host of Crossett tacklers. Upshaw kicked good then but missed seconds later when Ragan cut his way through the right guard slot for 68 yards and the Tigers' fifth six-pointer.

Crossett had the ball in Neville territory only once, that occuring through a Tiger fumble on the 42 in the third period. But the Golds took possession on the next play via an Eagle miscue.

During the course of combat the Bengals rang up 471 yards rushing to the Eagles' 192. Although the first down count shows only a difference of seven (11 to 18), long Neville runs provided a much wider margin.

Reeves and Yerger were the leading ground gainers for the undefeated Nevillists. Reeves rattled off 125 paces while the "Mick" gathered in 120.

The lineups:

Crossett

Ends — Burnett, Gates, Runyan, Pennington, McCay.

Tackles — Sivils, Fleming, Gulledge, Gibbs, Pearch.

Guards — George, Hogue, Maxwell, White, King.

Centers — Bunn, Duckworth.

Trojans Overhaul Wildcats In Last Half, Win 34 To 13

WINNSBORO, Nov. 2 (Special) —The powerful Tallulah Trojans spoiled Winnsboro's homecoming here tonight with a 34-13 trounching.

Approximately 2,000 fans attending the Class A conference game saw Miss Jo Ann Jenkins crowned homecoming queen.

Bruising Trojan fullback Danny Neumann lead the way for the invaders as he chalked up three touchdowns.

However, it was the home team which drew first blood. Quarterback Pete Moore, capped a 64-yard drive following the opening kickoff with a two-yard drive to paydirt. Leo Lowentritt ran across the extra point.

The Trojans came back in the second quarter when Wayne Hopkins broke loose on a 30-yard dash.

Tallulah broke the game wide open in the third period as Neumann scored twice and Joe Yerger once. Neumann capped a 65-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge, and then came back to score again from five yards out after a blocked Winnsboro punt.

Yerger's touchdown was a 61-yard jaunt. Hopkins kicked four out of five extra points.

In the fourth quarter the wildcats rallied for a score when Moore found Jesse Walker in the end zone on the receiving end of a 22-yard pass.

Neumann closed out the scoring the game with a 55-yard run up the middle.

Tribe, Demons, Bulldogs, Lions In Top Gulf Games

By JAMES SAGGUS
The Associated Press

Louisiana Tech's defending Gulf States Conference football champions face an enlarged title race and tough Southeastern Louisiana today with their title hopes hanging on a victory.

Tech and Southeastern had the title fight all to themselves until McNeese State forfeited victories over Northeast State and Northwestern State to put them back in the picture.

Southeastern, with victories in its two conference games, can virtually eliminate Tech by spoiling Tech's homecoming. Tech has two victories and a tie in its three games. Northwestern now has the same record and Northeast has a 2-1 mark with a game against Tech remaining.

The two revived teams will play at Monroe in a game certain to eliminate one. In other games, Southwestern Louisiana Institute is at non-conference Louisiana College and McNeese is at non-conference Sam Houston State.

Both Tech and Southeastern have lost to Mississippi Southern, but Southeastern holds a 20-0 victory over Louisiana College, a team that played a scoreless tie with Tech.

The game could develop into a battle of two tough lines, with Tech apparently holding an edge there. Southeastern's brilliant collection of backs gives the invaders an overall edge.

The Southeastern attack is run by quarterback Cliff Stringfield, a good passer and kicker who can call on half a dozen fine runners. The runners include Russ Gautreaux, Pete Morere and Tommy Bell. Tech has an able passer in Jim McCabe, whose top runners are Jerry Frasier and A. L. Williams.

Northeast hopes against Northwestern ride on the running talents of Aubrey Wade, the GSC's top ground gainer and scorer. Northwestern has a good group of backs and may hold an edge in the line with seasoned veterans at most spots. Both teams have solid defenses.

SLI will be crippled for its battle with Louisiana College with half a dozen on the doubtful list. Louisiana College players were victims of food poisoning earlier in the week to make the outcome even more problematical. The running of Frank Mobley and Bobby Banna heads the LC attack, while SLI will depend on its Jerry Lewis to Ronnie Crockett combination.

McNeese faces an undefeated team in Sam Houston and won't be at full strength for the task. Ace quarterback Don Ladner on the "definitely won't play" list. Tackle Ray Jamalkowski's ineligibility and the suspension of halfback Ray Simmons, a top runner, also leaves big holes.

Haynesville Tags Ruston Bearcats With 21-9 Defeat

RUSTON, La., Nov. 2 (Special) The Haynesville High School Golden Tornado marched to its ninth victory of the season here tonight by dropping Ruston, 21-9, in a district 2-AA conference contest.

Charles Wadlington, the leading scorer of the conference, ran his touchdown total for the season to 17 tonight as he counted twice, once on a ten-yard slash off tackle and again on a dash from the five.

Gene Ash collected the middle Haynesville touchdown on a run from the four. Russell Toney converted twice and Don Sherman once for the Tornado.

Ruston packed all its scoring into the second quarter, a pass from Pat Garrett to halfback John Murphy bringing a touchdown from the four. End "Bud" Alexander converted. A safety added two more Ruston points when end Charlie Hinton charged through to pull down Ash as he was trying to punt from his own end zone.

Block's Crusher Hits Wisner For 52 To 7 Victory

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — The Block High Bears ran wild to the delight of a homecoming crowd tonight to defeat the Wisner Bulldogs, 52-7, in a district 3-B conference game.

Roscoe Wilson, Clarence Richard and Edwin Hutchins led the Block attack.

Wilson scored two touchdowns on runs of nine and one yards, and converted four times. Richard turned in three touchdown runs on runs of four, 80, and 60 yards, the latter after taking a five-yard pass from Bobby Wright.

Hutchins bagged two touchdowns from the eight and 25.

John LaPrarie kicked in one TD for the Bruins from the two.

Wisner's touchdown was counted early in the final period with Stephens scoring from the seven and Graham adding the point.

The Block win set up the Nov. 16 battle with Sicily Island, defending district champs, as the game to determine the district kings of this season.

WINNERS AT HOME

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31 (UP)—When Lehigh defeated Gettysburg 21-18 this seasn, it marked the first home football game Gettysburg had lost since 1952.

Jonesboro Tigers Fall To Pineville Rebels, 32 To 0

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — Held to a 6-0 score for the first half, the Pineville Rebels tallied two touchdowns in each of the last two quarters to defeat Jonesboro Hodge High's Tigers, 32-0 here tonight.

Corky Yates scored twice for the Rebs, once on a two-yard plunge and again on a 60-yard punt return.

Demons, Indians Collide On Grid Tonight

POWER IN THE MIDDLE—Lloyd Williams, above, a first-year first-string guard at Northeast State, came to the Indians as a transfer from Sunflower (Miss.) Junior College. The 190-pounder has proven himself a superb guard, and last week recovered a fumble that led to the Tribe's first touchdown in the 53-7 rout of Livingston.

Northeast Fights To Stay In Thick Of Gulf Scramble

Needing victory to keep them in the thick of the Gulf States Conference race, the Northwestern State Indians clash here tonight at 8 o'clock at Brown Field.

Northeast and Northwestern enter the game with near matching league records that show a single conference defeat apiece although Northwestern shares a tie with Louisiana Tech which this afternoon challenges Southeastern for the league lead. Tonight's winner here still will have a big chance in the championship scramble, while the loser steps down a notch.

Right now Coach Devone Payne's rampant Redskins are the talk of the conference. The pre-season choice to occupy the G.S.C. cellar has thoroughly exploded that theory, and the Tribe currently is the top offensive team in the loop.

Led by stellar halfback Aubrey Wade, the Gulf's leading scorer and individual rusher, Northeast can do wonders toward restoring old prestige by continuing their current brand of ball.

The Demons are coming to town forewarned that they don't take the Tribe lightly. Northwestern coaches have described in detail to the Demons how the Tribe slaughtered Livingston State 53-7 last week, and sought to tighten defenses to stop expected Redskin thrusts. But the Demons will be stronger by far than Livingston, and tonight's game will be no push-over, regardless of who wins.

While Wade is marshalling the Tribe's forces, the Demons will be leaning on their triple-threat quarterback James "Red" McNew, the Ferriday product whose exploits have been the highlight of recent Demon contests against Louisiana Tech and Howard Payne College. The Tech game was an 0-0 tie, and the Demons dumped H.P., 18-7.

The redheaded McNew, N.S.C.'s candidate for Little All-America, has averaged six yards per carry in seven games to date. He's carried the ball 64 times for a total of 384 yards. His passing and punting figures strong in Demon attacks.

With speed and deception offered from both sides, some figure it to be a wide-open game, and the result tonight may depend largely on dueling of the lines.

Probable lineups:

Over One Million Razors Help U. S. Top Olympic Fund

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (UP)—The United States Olympic Committee finally raised the funds necessary to send its team to Australia for the 1956 games Friday with a last-minute contribution of $86,200.

J. Lyman Bingham, executive director of the committee, disclosed that until Friday's contribution was received the organization did not have enough cash to pay for transporting U.S. athletes and officials to the games in Melbourne opening Nov. 22.

The $86,200 came from the Gillette Safety Razor Company as the final payment based on a two-months campaign during which the firm set aside 10 cents on each razor sold for the U.S. Olympic Fund. The concern gave the committee an advance check for $50,000 and Friday's payment raised the company's total contribution to $36,200, based on the sale of 1,326,000 razors. It was the largest amount ever contributed by any firm to the fund.

CALUMET HORSES

CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 2 (UP)—Calumet Farm, which became the top money-winning stable of the year when Barbizon won last Saturday's Garden State stakes, plans on sending 22 horses to Florida for the Gulfstream meeting.

Graham May Yet Make Australian Olympic Journey

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2 (UP)—Jim Graham, Oklahoma A&M pole vaulter who voluntarily gave up his place on the Olympic team, still may be able to travel to Melbourne, Australia, it was indicated Friday.

Graham, in a gesture termed by the head track and field coach Jim Kelly "one of the most sportsmanlike actions I've ever seen," resigned from the team in order that Bob Gutowski of Occidental College might replace him. Gutowski had been vaulting 15 feet and better while Graham was unable to reach his qualifying effort of 14 feet, 8½ inches due to an ankle injury.

A spontaneous drive started Friday on the campus of Occidental College here to pay Graham's fare and expenses to Melbourne. Within two hours more than $200 was collected. A college spokesman said donations addressed to "Jim Graham Funds," Occidental College, Los Angeles, would be added to the fund.

Tech In Homecoming Date With Southeastern Today

RUSTON, La., Nov. 2 (Special)—Homecoming football spirit began to take over on the Louisiana Tech campus Friday as Bulldog gridders and students completed final plans for the big celebration Saturday.

Highlight of the Tech homecoming activities will be the grid battle with the Lions of Southeastern Louisiana College. The 2 p.m. kickoff at Tech Stadium finds the first and second place teams of the Gulf States Conference fighting it out in what is shaping up as a thriller for the loop lead.

The visiting S.L.C. eleven will be out to protect a perfect 2-0 record in conference competition. Tech's Canines, with a mark of two victories and one tie in G.S.C. action, can take over the first place spot by downing the favored Southeastern crew.

On the basis of a fine showing made by Southeastern this season the Lions are picked over Tech by 11 points. Although Coach Stan Galloway's Lions have an edge on paper, Tech fans are hoping that a determined Canine team will be inspired by homecoming day to pull a neat upset.

A late injury popped up on the Bulldog practice field and has caused the shifting of a quarterback to left halfback. Freshman halfback Norman Derouen suffered an ankle injury in the final scrimmage session Wednesday and will be unable to see duty Saturday.

Derouen has been relieving Wayne Bourgeois at the left half spot. Senior A. L. Williams has been the usual starter at left half but he will set only limited service because of a hip injury suffered in the Arkansas State tussle October 13. In an effort to fill the gap at the troublesome left halfback position, the Tech coaches have shifted quarterback Bobby Anderson, San Augustine, Tex., senior, as a relief for Bourgeois who will be the starter against Southeastern.

Tech students get the homecoming program underway Thursday night with a noisy pep rally on the campus which was followed by the burning of a Lion dummy at a bonfire.

Adding to the color and spirit of the football game Saturday will be a large number of visiting students from Southeastern. The Lion band, Lionettes and Green Jackets plan to be present to root for the Southeastern team.

At halftime of the grid battle a special program is to be presented by the Tech Alumni Association honoring graduates of six classes. The classes are 1906, 1916, 1926, 1936, 1946, and 1956.

Other homecoming day activities on tap for Saturday are: 10-12 a.m., coffee, Adams Hall parlor; 10 a.m., dedication ceremonies, Irene Tolliver Dining Hall; 12;30 p.m., homecoming parade through downtown Ruston; 2 p.m., football game; 4:30 p.m., alumni business meeting, Memorial Gymnasium; 4:30 - 8 p.m., open house, fraternities and sororities; 5:30, alumni barbecue, Aswell Gardens; and 8 p.m., homecoming dance, Memorial Gymnasium.

Late word from the Tech athletic office indicates the game may attract a capacity crowd. Ticket sales have been unusually good.

Tech

Rivals Taking Optimistic Look At Jackets, Sooners

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Georgia Tech, which looks more and more like the only college football team that might be able to stop Oklahoma, and the mighty Sooners themselves are on the prowl again and rival coaches are beginning to take the "desperation" — or optimistic — stand against them:

Colorado Coach Dal Ward, whose Buffaloes face Oklahoma today, has been telling his lads all week that the Oklahoma players are only human in spite of the seemingly inhuman scores they've made against some opponents. And Duke's Bill Murray has maintained his boys have a quite good chance of upsetting second-ranked Georgia Tech.

Murray maintains that the return to full-time action of quarterback Sonny Jurgenson, whose injury-enforced absence was costly in a couple of games, will result in a vastly improved Duke team.

It might be quite a contest, too, when Oklahoma goes after victory No. 36 against the team that has provided its strongest opposition within the Big Seven in recent years. In John (The Beast) Bayuk, Colorado has a weapon to offset the quick, slick thrusts of Clendon Thomas. The Sooners probably have the all-around strength to win easily, but a five-inch snowfall at Boulder, Colo., may slow them more than the Buff line.

Even if beaten, Colorado will remain the No. 1 candidate for the Orange Bowl bid, with the winner of today's Missouri-Nebraska game probably No. 2. Oklahoma isn't eligible this year.

The meeting between starless but surprising Penn State and Syracuse, with super-star Jimmy Brown, likely will decide the championship of the Eastern independents. The winner might be in line for a bowl bid. Stanford, one Pacific Coast team still eligible for the Rose Bowl, has to keep winning to stay ahead of challenging Oregon State, which plays Washington today.

Unbeaten Iowa, the Big Ten leader and seventh-ranked nationally, puts its Rose Bowl hopes on the line against twice-beaten but slightly favored Michigan — the team orginally expected to get the nomination.

The Baylor-Texas Christian and Southern Methodist-Texas games in the Southwest Conference may figure in the Cotton Bowl selections. And there are bowl implications, though no hookups, in the George Washington-West Virginia struggle for the Southern Conference lead and in almost any game played by Southeastern Conference leaders.

Tennessee, the nation's No. 3 team in this week's Associated Press poll, likely will find its game with North Carolina little more than a tuneup for next week's big one against Georgia Tech.

Michigan State, knocked down to No. 4 by last week's upset loss to Illinois, tried a comeback against Wisconsin. Texas A&M (5) meets improving Arkansas. Ohio State (6) figures to spoil Northwestern's Homecoming. Minnesota (8) takes on Pittsburgh (11) in a big intersectional clash.

Here's how the other games look by sections:

East—Notre Dame at Navy should draw the East's biggest crowd (60,000) in spite of the dismal Irish record. Colgate at Army and Holy Cross at Boston U. are independent leaders and in the Ivy League it's Dartmouth at Yale, Brown at Princeton, Penn at Harvard and Cornell at Columbia.

South—Virginia Tech at Clemson and Vanderbilt at Virginia are interconference meetings of special interest. Other good ones include Auburn at Florida, Georgia at Alabama, Mississippi at Louisiana State, Mississippi State at Tulane, Kentucky at Maryland and North Carolina State at Wake Forest.

Midwest—Illinois at Purdue, Marquette at Indiana, Kansas at Kansas State, Drake at Iowa State, Houston at Wichita, Detroit at Cincinnati, College of Pacific at Tulsa and Miami (Ohio) at Bowling Green round out a big slate.

Southwest—After the big SWC games, Utah vs. Rice, Oklahoma A&M vs. Texas Tesh, Hardin-Simmons vs. Texas Western and West Texas vs. Arizona look best.

Far West—Wyoming and Utah State, first and second in the Skyline Conference, meet head on. New Mexico vs. Brigham Young is the only other Skyline meeting. Southern California, minus Jon Arnett, faces Washington State in a Pacific Coast Conference tilt and California meets Oregon. Denver vs. Jose State, Montana State vs. Montana and Idaho vs. Fresno State complete the card.

Olympic Flame On 12,000-Mile Trip To Games

ATHENS, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Olympic Torch was kindled in accordance with ancient ritual today on Mt. Olympus, and started on its 12,000-mile trip to Melbourne, where the games will open Nov. 22.

A relay of 350 Greek runners, each carrying the torch one kilometer, will take the flame to Athens for a ceremony tomorrow in the stadium where the first modern Olympics were held in 1896. Then the flame will be used to light a miner's lamp which will be placed aboard an airliner and flown to Darwin, Australia, and then to Cairns in Northern Australia, where it will arrive next Friday.

The torch was ignited by Grecian girls using magnifying glasses at the site of the first Olympic Games in 776 B. C.

Constantine Verevis of Cairns, whose parents were born on a Greek Island in the Aegean Sea, has been selected as the first runner to carry the torch on its final 2,730-mile relay in Australia to the Olympic Stadium in Melbourne.

There will be a relay of 2,750 Australian athletes, each running about one mile with the torch, or torches. It will not be the same torch all the way, but the flame is passed on from one torch to another until it is used to ignite the cauldron which will burn in the stadium at Melbourne during the games Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

The Australian Olympic committee is keeping secret the name of the last runner who will carry the torch into the stadium Nov. 22 and light the flame which burns during the games.

Redlegs Offering Choice Backstop For Good Hurler

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (UP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs offered either of "the two best catchers in the National League" Friday to any club which will "offer us a strong starting pitcher in return."

Tebbetts, who arrived by plane from a 16-day European vacation with his wife, said he was eager to get down to business and look over trading possibilities.

"Our big need is a single strong starting pitcher," Tebbetts said. "My pitching staff as a whole is adequate, but I want to add to it. They know one of the two best catchers in the league, Ed Bailey or Smoky Burgess, maybe we can do business."

Tebbetts also offered any player on his third-place Redlegs, who were in contention all the way, "if we can work out a trade that will be helpful to our club."

Tebbetts emphasized the men least likely to be traded were shortstop Roy McMillan and relief pitcher Hershell Freeman.

"McMillan, who is the best shortstop in baseball, also has improved his batting average because he is trying to hit like a 160-pounder and not like he weighed 200 pounds," Tebbetts said. "As for Freeman, he was a better pitcher last year than he was the year before. I don't see why he couldn't improve even more."

Cards Will Stand Pat With 'Hutch,' Announces Busch

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Brewery owner August A. Busch Jr., president of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today Fred Hutchinson "will be here next year as manager."

The Globe-Democrat reported it learned from a reliable source that Marty Marion, just resigned as manager of the Chicago White Sox, might return to the Cardinals, with Hutchinson becoming manager of the Cleveland Indians.

"I want to say as plainly as possible," Busch said, "that there is absolutely no thought of Fred Hutchinson leaving the Cardinals.

"Frank Lane (general manager) and the players like him, the fans like, him, and we are satisfied that he did a fine job in his first year."

"Any unfounded rumors which achieve wide circulation can only tend to hurt the morale of the Cardinals, and we don't intend to let that happen."

Hutchinson, who has a year to go on his contract, led the Cardinals to a fourth place finish last season in his first year as their manager. The club finished seventh the year before.

Marion, a standout shortstop with the Red Birds for more than a decade, earlier had said he knew nothing of any plan for him to return to the Cardinals.

Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians, is expected to talk with Marion about the possibility of him taking the manager's job at Cleveland, now vacant.

Al Lopez, manager at Cleveland last season, has been named manager of the White Sox, succeeding Marion.

Enterprise High Cage Teams Win

ENTERPRISE, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — Enterprise High basketball teams won a double header from Harrisonburg Tuesday night by a score of 59 to 24 for the girls and 81 to 51 for the boys.

In the girls' game Joan Haygood was high scorer for Harrisonburg with 12 points, but Shirley Cassels took score honors with 28 points for the home team.

The boys' game was much closer than the score indicated. The Indian quintet won out in the last quarter and run up a high score. Sidney Lanier was high for Harrisonburg with 10 points. Pete Ainsworth hit 25 points for the Indians with Arkie Crawford close behind with 24 points.

The teams will travel to Monterey next Tuesday night for their Tri-Parish League game.

Demons, Indians Collide On Grid Tonight

POWER IN THE MIDDLE—Lloyd Williams, above, a first-year first-string guard at Northeast State, came to the Indians as a transfer from Sunflower (Miss.) Junior College. The 190-pounder has proven himself a superb guard, and last week recovered a fumble that led to the Tribe's first touchdown in the 53-7 rout of Livingston.

Over One Million Razors Help U. S. Top Olympic Fund

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (UP)—The United States Olympic Committee finally raised the funds necessary to send its team to Australia for the 1956 games Friday with a last-minute contribution of $86,200.

J. Lyman Bingham, executive director of the committee, disclosed that until Friday's contribution was received the organization did not have enough cash to pay for transporting U.S. athletes and officials to the games in Melbourne opening Nov. 22.

The $86,200 came from the Gillette Safety Razor Company as the final payment based on a two-months campaign during which the firm set aside 10 cents on each razor sold for the U.S. Olympic Fund. It was the largest amount ever contributed by any firm to the fund.

Northeast Fights To Stay In Thick Of Gulf Scramble

Needing victory to keep them in the thick of the Gulf States Conference race, the Northwestern State Indians clash here tonight at 8 o'clock at Brown Field.

Northeast and Northwestern enter the game with near matching league records that show a single conference defeat apiece although Northwestern shares a tie with Louisiana Tech which this afternoon challenges Southeastern for the league lead. Tonight's winner here still will have a big chance in the championship scramble, while the loser steps down a notch.

Right now Coach Devone Payne's rampant Redskins are the talk of the conference. The pre-season choice to occupy the G.S.C. cellar has thoroughly exploded that theory, and the Tribe currently is the top offensive team in the loop.

Led by stellar halfback Aubrey Wade, the Gulf's leading scorer and individual rusher, Northeast can do wonders toward restoring old prestige by continuing their current brand of ball.

The Demons are coming to town forewarned that they don't take the Tribe lightly. Northwestern coaches have described in detail to the Demons how the Tribe slaughtered Livingston State 53-7 last week, and sought to tighten defenses to stop expected Redskin thrusts. But the Demons will be stronger by far than Livingston, and tonight's game will be no pushover, regardless of who wins.

While Wade is marshalling the Tribe's forces, the Demons will be leaning on their triple-threat quarterback James "Red" McNew, the Ferriday product whose exploits have been the highlight of recent Demon contests against Louisiana Tech and Howard Payne College. The Tech game was an 0-0 tie, and the Demons dumped H.P., 18-7.

The redheaded McNew, N.S.C.'s candidate for Little All-America, has averaged six yards per carry in seven games to date. He's carried the ball 64 times for a total of 384 yards. His passing and punting figures strong in Demon attacks.

With speed and deception offered from both sides, some figure it to be a wide-open game, and the result tonight may depend largely on dueling of the lines.

Probable lineups:

Olympic Flame On 12,000-Mile Trip To Games

ATHENS, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Olympic Torch was kindled in accordance with ancient ritual today on Mt. Olympus, and started on its 12,000-mile trip to Melbourne, where the games will open Nov. 22.

A relay of 350 Greek runners, each carrying the torch one kilometer, will take the flame to Athens for a ceremony tomorrow in the stadium where the first modern Olympics were held in 1896. Then the flame will be used to light a miner's lamp which will be placed aboard an airliner and flown to Darwin, Australia, and then to Cairns in Northern Australia, where it will arrive next Friday.

The torch was ignited by Grecian girls using magnifying glasses at the site of the first Olympic Games in 776 B. C.

Constantine Verevis of Cairns, whose parents were born on a Greek Island in the Aegean Sea, has been selected as the first runner to carry the torch on its final 2,730-mile relay in Australia to the Olympic Stadium in Melbourne.

There will be a relay of 2,750 Australian athletes, each running about one mile with the torch, or torches. It will not be the same torch all the way, but the flame is passed on from one torch to another until it is used to ignite the cauldron which will burn in the stadium at Melbourne during the games Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

The Australian Olympic committee is keeping secret the name of the last runner who will carry the torch into the stadium Nov. 22 and light the flame which burns during the games.

Enterprise High Cage Teams Win

ENTERPRISE, La., Nov. 2 (Special) — Enterprise High basketball teams won a double header from Harrisonburg Tuesday night by a score of 59 to 24 for the girls and 81 to 51 for the boys.

In the girls' game Joan Haygood was high scorer for Harrisonburg with 12 points, but Shirley Cassels took score honors with 28 points for the home team.

The boys' game was much closer than the score indicated. The Indian quintet won out in the last quarter and run up a high score. Sidney Lanier was high for Harrisonburg with 10 points. Pete Ainsworth hit 25 points for the Indians with Arkie Crawford close behind with 24 points.

The teams will travel to Monterey next Tuesday night for their Tri-Parish League game.

Redlegs Offering Choice Backstop For Good Hurler

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (UP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs offered either of "the two best catchers in the National League" Friday to any club which will "offer us a strong starting pitcher in return."

Tebbetts, who arrived by plane from a 16-day European vacation with his wife, said he was eager to get down to business and look over trading possibilities.

"Our big need is a single strong starting pitcher," Tebbetts said. "My pitching staff as a whole is adequate, but I want to add to it. They know one of the two best catchers in the league, Ed Bailey or Smoky Burgess, maybe we can do business."

Tebbetts also offered any player on his third-place Redlegs, who were in contention all the way, "if we can work out a trade that will be helpful to our club."

Tebbetts emphasized the men least likely to be traded were shortstop Roy McMillan and relief pitcher Hershell Freeman.

"McMillan, who is the best shortstop in baseball, also has improved his batting average because he is trying to hit like a 160-pounder and not like he weighed 200 pounds," Tebbetts said. "As for Freeman, he was a better pitcher last year than he was the year before. I don't see why he couldn't improve even more."

Cards Will Stand Pat With 'Hutch,' Announces Busch

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Brewery owner August A. Busch Jr., president of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today Fred Hutchinson "will be here next year as manager."

The Globe-Democrat reported it learned from a reliable source that Marty Marion, just resigned as manager of the Chicago White Sox, might return to the Cardinals, with Hutchinson becoming manager of the Cleveland Indians.

"I want to say as plainly as possible," Busch said, "that there is absolutely no thought of Fred Hutchinson leaving the Cardinals.

"Frank Lane (general manager) and the players like him, the fans like, him, and we are satisfied that he did a fine job in his first year."

"Any unfounded rumors which achieve wide circulation can only tend to hurt the morale of the Cardinals, and we don't intend to let that happen."

Hutchinson, who has a year to go on his contract, led the Cardinals to a fourth place finish last season in his first year as their manager. The club finished seventh the year before.

Marion, a standout shortstop with the Red Birds for more than a decade, earlier had said he knew nothing of any plan for him to return to the Cardinals.

Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians, is expected to talk with Marion about the possibility of him taking the manager's job at Cleveland, now vacant.

Al Lopez, manager at Cleveland last season, has been named manager of the White Sox, succeeding Marion.

Factors In Audio-Visual Education Growth Cited

Better attitudes of school administrators and the general public have been contributing factors in the growth of audio-visual education, Dr. H. L. Minton, of Arkansas State Teachers College, told school personnel attending Friday's educational conference on the Northeast State campus.

"We now are accepting audio-visual aids as a part of the overall materials program for schools," the speaker said. Dr. Minton, a pioneer in this phase of education, was featured at a meeting jointly sponsored by Northeast and the State Department of Education.

Over one hundred school personnel attended the session headed by A. B. Davis, state supervisor of audio-visual education, and J. B. Robertson, assistant superintendent of elementary and secondary education. Educators throughout this area participated in the conference which stressed improvement of instructional practice.

The day's program included the general convocation at which Dr. Minton spoke, demonstration lessons, and group study conferences.

Growth of audio-visual interest is shown by the inclusion in many school budgets for these materials, Dr. Minton said. The old picture showed superintendents unwilling to assist in procuring for such equipment. If a projector found its way into the school it usually was due to an agent who managed to sell the machine which was paid for by a Parent - Teacher group or some other organiation.

Better audio-visual materials are currently on the market and these have stimulated their use, the speaker explained.

Teachers now are utilizing all kinds of audio-visual aids. They also are demonstrating the effectiveness of better planning in selecting and using these materials, he said. The speaker underscored proper selection according to the particular need of the teacher. The objective and concept play important parts in choosing these aids in teaching.

Access to better materials and more knowledge of them have made audio-visual education more effective, Dr. Minton said. Various types of projectors, better screens, and other equipment have increased the value of this type of classroom aid.

Mrs. Ouida McGee, of Georgia Tucker School, used films in teaching a part of a unit's study during a demonstration lesson on the upper elementary level at Friday's conference.

Other demonstration lessons were taught by Mrs. Roy Riser, Lexington Avenue School, who worked on the lower elementary level, and F. L. Stricklin, Ouachita Parish High School, who demonstrated on the high school level.

At the group study conferences Mrs. Bertha Nelson, supervisor, Franklin Parish Schools, was recorder and reporter for the lower elementary group; Miss Gertrude Gregory, supervisor, Ouachita Parish schools, served for the upper elementary section; and C. J. Sullivan, assistant superintendent, Concordia Parish schools, reported for the high school group.

President Lewis C. Slater of Northeast welcomed the visiting educators to the campus, and Dr. Clint Hanna and Dr. W. K. Russell, both of the college faculty, took active part in the conference.

Physicians said his condition was not serious.

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Nov. 2 (UP) —Three explosions Friday night shook Nicosia, site of the Anglo-French military headquarters. At least two were believed caused by time bombs.

The explosions were the first reported on this Mediterranean island since the British and French attack on Egypt.

No details were immediately available on damage caused by the explosions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)— Elvis Presley, rock 'n' roll singer, has signed a new contract with RCA Victor Records. The contract was signed here Sunday while Presley was in town to fill a television committment, an RCA spokesman said today.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed but the spokesman said Presley was free to do so if he chose. It replaced an old agreement signed between RCA and Presley in December, 1955.

Since the first of the year, the spokesman said, RCA has sold 12 million dollars worth of Presley records. The spokesman declined to reveal the length of the contract but said it "certainly was not for 20 years" as had been reported.

Harrington said his office was investigating.

Smith is survived by a son, a daughter, two brothers and one sister.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 2 (UP) —A radio broadcast from the Jordan sector of Jerusalem reported Friday that Egyptian bombers raided the modern Israeli city of Tel Aviv.

The broadcast said the bombers caused serious damage to military and industrial targets.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Saturday, Nov. 3 (UP)—Unofficial reports reaching here from Jordan said Saturday that British troops have joined Israeli units in fighting against Egypt in the Sinai desert.

The reports from Amman, the Jordanian capital, were unconfirmed. They said that British armored units also were taking part in the Sinai battle between Israel and Egypt. The British units landed in Israel "long ago" to take part in the Sinai campaign, the reports said.

tility and provocation against her. This must stop.

"Second, we should insist that passage of ships through the Suez Canal is a matter of international concern and that no single country, and especially no single man, can wilfully sever the lifeline of Europe and Asia.

"Third, we must launch an all-out attack in concert with like-minded nations on the problem of resettling the 900,000 Arab refugees who now live in misery and hopelessness.

"Fourth, we must in concert with other nations present a program to improve economic conditions in the Middle East for the benefit of the people and not just to serve political interests."

"Above all," Stevenson said, "we must restore to our foreign policy a sense of human concern."

Earlier in Cleveland Stevenson added still another complaint to the list of what he calls Eisenhower's "blunders."

There he suggested that "the breakdown of the Western alliance has emboldened the Soviets to re-enter Hungary."

Stevenson started out with a direct dig at the President tonight. He said that two or three weeks ago Eisenhower "on a paid political broadcast" said he had good news on Suez.

"When he thought the Suez crisis could be exploited for political advantage he exploited it," Stevenson said. "While I refrained from talking about it to avoid any possible embarrassment of our government's negotiations.

"Now that his policy has ended in failure he wants to silence discussion."

Stevenson contended that in the dispute over the Middle East "the administration came up with one proposal after another."

As a result, he said, "it acquired for itself in these and similar incidents a reputation for unreliability which is almost as damaging a reputation as a great power can have."

The British and French knocked out Nasser's radio station, Voice of Arabia, which has broadcast anti-French and anti-British propaganda throughout North Africa and the Middle East. Cairo radio also went off the air as a result of bombing attacks.

The French Defense Ministry said preliminary strikes by carrier and land-based planes to knock out the Egyptian air force and clear the seas north and south of the canal had been completed.

"It can therefore be presumed that air and naval operations henceforth will aim at realizing the conditons necessary for temporary occupation of the canal," a French communique said.

from the Big Four powers."

The Soviets' Sobolev told the council it was needlessly called into an urgent session Friday night.

"The mutiny against the people has been repressed," he said. "...The Soviet government proceeds from the general principle that the stationing of troops in any state under the Warsaw treaty is carried out with the agreement of the state concerned...

"Yesterday rumors spread that the Soviet government was bringing new armed forces into Hungary. The Soviet government has denied this. The reports, including statements by Mr. Nagy, are unfounded."

He said the United States, Britain and France had demanded Friday night's council meeting "to divert world opinion from the situation in Egypt."

Cuba suggested that the council send a commission into Hungary to supervise withdrawal of Russian troops and oversee the holding of free elections.

The Cuban delegation was prepared to introduce a resolution to this effect when the council meets Saturday at 2 p.m., est.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who opened Friday night's debate, was in and out of the council chamber in numerous consultations with other delegates. He was understood to be drafting a resolution that was expected to follow an informal suggestion, put forward by Cuba.

After two and a half hours no formal proposal had been made to get Soviet forces out of Hungary.

Criticizing the Russian dispatch of fresh troops into Hungary, Cuban Ambassador Emilio Nunez-Portuondo said.

"It is our understanding that the UN cannot be divided between those states which fulfill the principles of the charter and those who do not.

"That is why we are prepared to vote for any draft resolution which will end this state of things which constitutes a shame to all mankind and cannot be accepted by the free peoples of the world.

"Cuba considers that a draft resolution must be tabled as soon as possible which will at least embody these points:

"1. An immediate appeal to the government of Moscow to withdraw its troops in accordance with the precepts of the UN charter.

"2. An expression of recognition, or reiteration, of the right of the Hungarian people for self-determination by free elections.

"3. Establishment of a commission of the Security Council to supervise and see to it that the measure of the council should be carried out to insure the political independence of Hungary."

Lodge said Friday night's urgent session was summoned, despite the all-night session of the General Assembly that ended at 4:17 a.m. Friday, because the situation in Hungary was equally as dangerous as that in Egypt which the assembly dealt with Thursday night.

"The application of the principles of peace and justice cannot be restricted to one geographical area at a time," he said. "Events in Hungary have moved swiftly since the council voted last Sunday to put the Hungarian question on its agenda.

"We must give honest consideration to what the UN can do now to assist the brave Hungarian people in their struggle for freedom. We must get all the facts.

Disaster

masks pierced a rock fall at the 3,400-foot level of the No. 4 shaft of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co. only to be driven back by smoke rolling up the 45-degree incline of the shaft. The miners were believed trapped at the 6,100-foot level, nearly a half mile farther down.

Fearing another explosion, mine officials ordered the fire banked in the shaft and the weary rescue crews climbed to the surface to wait until the smoke cleared. Work was begun on an auxiliary hoist to take rescuers down to the level where the miners are trapped.

Y.C.M. Gordon, vice - president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Co., the parent firm, held out hope to the hundreds of relatives and friends clustered around the mine entrance that some of the trapped men may still be alive. The tapping heard by rescue crews, he said, indicated that "it is just possible" some of the miners reached the air hose which is pumping oxygen down to them. But discovery of the fire dimmed those hopes.

The blast that one witness said sent a spiral of smoke mushrooming like "an atomic bomb" killed five surface workers outright and another died Friday in a hospital. Two rescue workers have been killed and seven bodies were recovered or sighted in the mine. Six were injured seriously.

Czechs Jittery Over Rebellion

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 2 (AP)—The people of Communist - ruled Czechoslovakia are jittery about the Hungarian civil war, and there has been a buying panic in Czech cities, travelers arriving here today from Prague reported.

The travelers said word raced through Prague and other major cities that people should store up foodstuffs for at least 14 days. Fats and rice were swept off the counters of food shops in a buying panic.

The travelers also confirmed earlier reports that demonstrations had taken place in Slovakia in sympathy with the Hungarian revolution.

The reports from Czechoslovakia came on the heels of similar reports about demonstrations in Romania, which has a large Hungarian minority.

Some of the members of the group want the emergency Assembly to meet again this weekend. No date was set tonight, however.

The 76-nation body approved an American-backed resolution calling for an immediate cease-fire in Egypt, a halt in the movement of military forces into the area, withdrawal of Israeli forces behind the armistice lines and reopening of the Suez Canal.

It was approved by the largest number of votes ever registered in the U.N.—64 to 5. Within a few hours, Hammarskjold set up a committee to report on compliance with the Assembly recommendation.

Informed sources said the first report of this committtee noted that Britain, France and Israel have not complied but that the committee did not have enough information at this time to make a real report.

The secretary general named to this watch-dog group Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, U. S. national who won the Nobel Peace Prize for negotiating the Israeli-Arab armistices in 1949; Undersecretary Ilya Tchernychev, highest Soviet citizen in the U. N. and Constantine A. Stavropoulos, U.N. legal counsel and a Greek national.

This group was instructed to report to Hammarskjold at 6 p.m. each day on steps taken to comply with the resolution. The first extraordinary special session of the Assembly, meanwhile, was standing by in recess to see what happens.

President Eisenhower, who sent Secretary of State Dulles here yesterday with the cease-fire resolution finally approved this morning, was reported in Washington to be "gratified" at the result. Dulles flew back to Washington.

Britain and France refused to tip their hands pending full study of the U. N. action but their military services went ahead with assigned missions. The French said the stage was set for British and French troops to land in the Suez Canal zone.

Prime Minister Eden came under heavy pressure in London to find a face-saving way out of the fight against Egypt. Authoritative sources in London were quoted as saying Eden likely would announce British-French readiness to turn over the task of policing the Egyptian battle zone to the U. N. as soon as a U. N. police force is established.

Sir Pierson Dixon, British delegate here, and the French Foreign Ministry in Paris have said the two powers would gladly hand over the Middle East conflict to the U. N. if the U. N. would prove its effectiveness in enforcing a cease-fire.

'Cardiac Arrest' Fatal To Boy, 4, From Near Jena

JENA, Nov. 2 (Special) —Four-year-old David Lavonne Huffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Huffman, died tonight in Jonesville clinic from what doctors termed "cardiac arrest."

The youth, who lived on Old River between Jonesville and Jena, was reported to have been taken to the clinic from a dentist's office where he had a tooth pulled.

Funeral arrangements tonight were pending at Kinner - Stevens Funeral Home in Jena.

Pope Sends Envoy Into Hungary For Talk To Prelate

ROME, Nov. 2 (UP) — Pope Pius XII sent a personal envoy to Hungary Friday to discuss emergency aid for its troubled people with Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

Star Of David Flies At Birthplace Of Goliath

GAZA CITY, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Star of David flew tonight over the birthplace city of Goliath.

Victorious Israeli troops seized the Biblical city from the Egyptians with a tank-led Blitz attack. It is the Mediterranean key of the Sinai Peninsula.

"They were bad soldiers," an Israeli tank commander said. "They threw their hands above their guns and tried to run. Then they put their hands above their heads and surrendered."

With five other newsmen I rode into Gaza City this afternoon in a Tel Aviv taxi. It probably was the first Jewish-owned taxi in the city since the Gaza Strip was placed under Egyptian administration eight years ago.

There was little evidence of fighting within the city itself. The mud huts of the Arab population appeared almost untouched.

Most of the fighting was on the outskirts, where Egyptians had been dug in, in trenches.

On one small hill just south of the city the advancing Israeli column had been held up for three hours before daybreak.

There the enemy was in a series of trenches and bunkers. Once these were overcome, the city surrendered in midmorning.

As our taxi rolled into the city in the early afternoon, Israeli troops were mopping up isolated pockets of snipers.

Just north of the city, an Israel tank column moved against a hold out strong point and, with the aid of Israeli planes, overpowered it.

In the city itself, Israeli soldiers rounded up Arabs suspested of taking part in the fighting and herding several hundred into the main square.

The civilian population was not molested and some Arabs, mostly children cheered the Israeli troops.

along the Mediterranean, were left in Israel's hands.

About the time Gaza fell, other Israeli armored units drove into the town of El Arish, just outside the strip, and cut off Egyptians trying to retreat westward, Pearlman continued.

At Abu Aguilla, south of the Gaza strip, an Egyptian lieutenant colonel surrendered his entire battalion when it was surrounded.

Pearlman said that near the Suez Canal Egyptian resistance had almost ended and Israeli units were taking up positions 10 to 15 miles east of the waterway.

Asked if these troops are intended to move closer to the canal, Pearlman said he believed not. However, he added Israel had made no agreement with Britain and France not to advance to the canal.

Pearlman asserted Israel had given Egypt a near fatal military blow in Sinai and claimed about half of Egypt's ground forces had been committed.

Asked if Israel intended to hold Sinai, Pearlman replied: "I cannot speak for the government on that at present. Speaking as an Israeli, however, I would expect us to hold the peninsula until we can have a peaceful existence with our neighbor and obtain free passage through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba."

These were the three announced objectives of the Israeli action launched across the Egyptian borders Monday night.

Asked whether Israel is prepared to negotiate with the Nasser government of Egypt to attain the objectives of its four-day offensive, Pearlman replied with an emphatic "yes."

Then, he amended his answer and said Israel always is ready to negotiate with any or all the present Arab governments.

"Unless there has been a change in the last few days," he continued, "that would apply to the present government of Egypt."

Gaza was surrendered by Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohammed Fuad A'Dagawi to Israel Col. Assag Simchoni.

The battles started four-days ago with an Israeli strike into the Sinai Peninsula. Israel said the purpose was to clear out bases from which Arab commandos raided Israeli territory.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP)—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare Friday announced approval of seven contracts with colleges and universities for cooperative educational research.

Funds will be used for research in eductional problems. Contracts approved include three with Syracuse University, two with Boston University and one each with Indiana University and Regis College at Weston, Mass.

HEART ATTACKS FATAL

MARSHALL, Tex., Nov. 2 (UP) —Two prominent Marshall men were stricken by fatal heart attacks within 90 minutes of each other Friday while they were at Caddo Lake, 15 miles from here, for the opening of the duck hunting season. They were Joseph Lynn Perkins, 46, superintendent of the Texas and Pacific Railway shop here, and W. K. Patterson, 45, general manager of the E. B. Hayes Machinery Co.

for six hours east of Lamar. In Nebraska, searchers on horse back rescued two missing ranch hands near Alliance, but three more persons were missing in the Cornhusker state.

The missing included 8-year-old Jerry Seveland of Merriman, Neb. The blizzard caught him and his brother as they rode to school on horseback. The brother made it home, but Jerry became lost in the swirling snows and search parties battled the blizzard Friday night looking for him.

The snows measured 15 inches and more in Colorado and were rapidly mounting to the same level in Nebraska. Electricity went out in the Nebraska towns of Potter and Dix and most country telephones in the snowbound Panhandle area were out of commission.

Scores of motorists were marooned in eastern Colorado snows which piled into six-foot drifts across the main highways. Most schools were closed through the storm belt, all eastern highways running east from Colorado were closed except U.S. 50, and businesses in many towns came to a dead halt.

To the east, dense fog shrouded the nation from the Mississippi to the Atlantic Ocean. Airports shut down and ships dropped anchor in Chesapeake Bay rather than risk pushing through the murk.

The big blizzard hit hard at eastern Colorado, leaving 15-inch snows, and then came raging through Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and the Dakotas on winds which reached gusts of 80 miles per hour.

The wild snows cut visibility to zero in many areas. Below zero temperatures were predicted Friday night in the west and the weather bureau said the blizzard, centered over northwest Kansas, would drive northeastward during the night.

The winds churned up great dust storms in Kansas, while the storm knocked out 90 toll circuits in South Dakota, cutting off telephone service to five towns.

The storm, spawned by a Canadian cold front, hit eastern Colorado first. Gale-force winds piled the snow across US 40, 24, 87 and 36 and all snowplow crews were called out.

Highway traffic was at a standstill east of Denfer, except for snowplows creeping through the storm searching for stranded motorists. Several were rescued on a stretch of US 24 east of Greeley and at least five big semitrailers and an undetermined number of cars were reported stalled in drifts betwen Fort Morgan and Brush

Better attitudes of school administrators and the general public have been contributing factors in the growth of audio-visual education, Dr. H. L. Minton, of Arkansas State Teachers College, told school personnel attending Friday's educational conference on the Northeast State campus.

"We now are accepting audio-visual aids as a part of the overall materials program for schools," the speaker said. Dr. Minton, a pioneer in this phase of education, was featured at a meeting jointly sponsored by Northeast and the State Department of Education.

Over one hundred school personnel attended the session headed by A. B. Davis, state supervisor of audio-visual education, and J. B. Robertson, assistant superintendent of elementary and secondary education. Educators throughout this area participated in the conference which stressed improvement of instructional practice.

The day's program included the general convocation at which Dr. Minton spoke, demonstration lessons, and group study conferences.

Growth of audio-visual interest is shown by the inclusion in many school budgets for these materials, Dr. Minton said. The old picture showed superintendents unwilling to assist in procuring for such equipment. If a projector found its way into the school it usually was due to an agent who managed to sell the machine which was paid for by a Parent - Teacher group or some other organiation.

Better audio-visual materials are currently on the market and these have stimulated their use, the speaker explained.

Teachers now are utilizing all kinds of audio-visual aids. They also are demonstrating the effectiveness of better planning in selecting and using these materials, he said. The speaker underscored proper selection according to the particular need of the teacher. The objective and concept play important parts in choosing these aids in teaching.

Access to better materials and more knowledge of them have made audio-visual education more effective, Dr. Minton said. Various types of projectors, better screens, and other equipment have increased the value of this type of classroom aid.

Mrs. Ouida McGee, of Georgia Tucker School, used films in teaching a part of a unit's study during a demonstration lesson on the upper elementary level at Friday's conference.

Other demonstration lessons were taught by Mrs. Roy Riser, Lexington Avenue School, who worked on the lower elementary level, and F. L. Stricklin, Ouachita Parish High School, who demonstrated on the high school level.

At the group study conferences Mrs. Bertha Nelson, supervisor, Franklin Parish Schools, was recorder and reporter for the lower elementary group; Miss Gertrude Gregory, supervisor, Ouachita Parish schools, served for the upper elementary section; and C. J. Sullivan, assistant superintendent, Concordia Parish schools, reported for the high school group.

tility and provocation against her. This must stop.

"Second, we should insist that passage of ships through the Suez Canal is a matter of international concern and that no single country, and especially no single man, can wilfully sever the lifeline of Europe and Asia.

"Third, we must launch an all-out attack in concert with like-minded nations on the problem of resettling the 900,000 Arab refugees who now live in misery and hopelessness.

"Fourth, we must in concert with other nations present a program to improve economic conditions in the Middle East for the benefit of the people and not just to serve political interests."

"Above all," Stevenson said, "we must restore to our foreign policy a sense of human concern."

Earlier in Cleveland Stevenson added still another complaint to the list of what he calls Eisenhower's "blunders."

There he suggested that "the breakdown of the Western alliance has emboldened the Soviets to re-enter Hungary."

Stevenson started out with a direct dig at the President tonight. He said that two or three weeks ago Eisenhower "on a paid political broadcast" said he had good news on Suez.

"When he thought the Suez crisis could be exploited for political advantage he exploited it," Stevenson said. "While I refrained from talking about it to avoid any possible embarrassment of our government's negotiations.

"Now that his policy has ended in failure he wants to silence discussion."

Stevenson contended that in the dispute over the Middle East the administration came up "with one proposal after another."

As a result, he said, "it acquired for itself in these and similar incidents a reputation for unreliability—which is about as damaging a reputation as a great power can have."

The British and French knocked out Nasser's radio station, Voice of Arabia, which has broadcast anti-French and anti-British propaganda throughout North Africa and the Middle East. Cairo radio also went off the air as a result of bombing attacks.

The French Defense Ministry said preliminary strikes by carrier and land-based planes to knock out the Egyptian air force and clear the seas north and south of the canal had been completed.

"It can therefore be presumed that air and naval operations henceforth will aim at realizing the conditons necessary for temporary occupation of the canal," a French communique said.

from the Big Four powers."

The Soviets' Sobolev told the council it was needlessly called into an urgent session Friday night.

"The mutiny against the people has been repressed," he said. "...The Soviet government proceeds from the general principle that the stationing of troops in any state under the Warsaw treaty is carried out with the agreement of the state concerned...

"Yesterday, rumors spread that the Soviet government was bringing new armed forces into Hungary. The Soviet government has denied this. The reports, including statements by Mr. Nagy, are unfounded."

He said the United States, Britain and France had demanded Friday night's council meeting "to divert world opinion from the situation in Egypt."

Cuba suggested that the council send a commission into Hungary to supervise withdrawal of Russian troops and oversee the holding of free elections.

The Cuban delegation was prepared to introduce a resolution to this effect when the council meets Saturday at 2 p.m., est.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who opened Friday night's debate, was in and out of the council chamber in numerous consultations with other delegates. He was understood to be drafting a resolution that was expected to follow an informal suggestion, put forward by Cuba.

After two and a half hours no formal proposal had been made to get Soviet forces out of Hungary.

Criticizing the Russian dispatch of fresh troops into Hungary, Cuban Ambassador Emilio Nunez-Portuondo said:

"It is our understanding that the UN cannot be divided between those states which fulfill the principles of the charter and those who do not.

"That is why we are prepared to vote for any draft resolution which will end this state of things which constitutes a shame to all mankind and cannot be accepted by the free peoples of the world.

"Cuba considers that a draft resolution must be tabled as soon as possible which will at least embody these points:

"1. An immediate appeal to the government of Moscow to withdraw its troops in accordance with the precepts of the UN charter.

"2. An expression of recognition, or reiteration, of the right of the Hungarian people for self-determination by free elections.

"3. Establishment of a commission of the Security Council to supervise and see to it that the measure of the council should be carried out to insure the political independence of Hungary."

Lodge said Friday night's urgent session was summoned, despite the all-night session of the General Assembly that ended at 4:17 a. m. Friday, because the situation in Hungary was equally as dangerous as that in Egypt which the assembly dealt with Thursday night.

"The application of the principles of peace and justice cannot be restricted to one geographical area at a time," he said. "Events in Hungary have moved swiftly since the council voted last Sunday to put the Hungarian question on its agenda.

"We must give honest consideration to what the UN can do now to assist the brave Hungarian people in their struggle for freedom. We must get all the facts.

masks pierced a rock fall at the 3,400-foot level of the No. 4 shaft of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co. only to be driven back by smoke rolling up the 45-degree incline of the shaft. The miners were believed trapped at the 6,100-foot level, nearly a half mile farther down.

Fearing another explosion, mine officials ordered the fire banked in the shaft and the weary rescue crews climbed to the surface to wait until the smoke cleared. Work was begun on an anxiliary hoist to take rescuers down to the level where the miners are trapped.

Y.C.M. Gordon, vice - president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Co., the parent firm, held out hope to the hundreds of relatives and friends clustered around the mine entrance that some of the trapped men may still be alive. The tapping heard by rescue crews, he said, indicated that "it is just possible" some of the miners reached the air hose which is pumping oxygen down to them. But discovery of the fire dimmed those hopes.

The blast that one witness said sent a spiral of smoke mushrooming like "an atomic bomb" killed five surface workers outright and another died Friday in a hospital. Two rescue workers have been killed and seven bodies were recovered or sighted in the mine. Six were injured seriously.

Czechs Jittery Over Rebellion

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 2 (AP)— The people of Communist - ruled Czechoslovakia are jittery about the Hungarian civil war, and there has been a buying panic in Czech cities, travelers arriving here today from Prague reported.

The travelers said word raced through Prague and other major cities that people should store up foodstuffs for at least 14 days. Fats and rice were swept off the counters of food shops in a buying panic.

The travelers also confirmed earlier reports that demonstrations had taken place in Slovakia in sympathy with the Hungarian revolution.

The reports from Czechoslovakia came on the heels of similar reports about demonstrations in Romania, which has a large Hungarian minority.

through quickly with more action.

Some of the members of the group want the emergency Assembly to meet again this weekend. No date was set tonight, however.

The 76-nation body approved an American-backed resolution calling for an immediate cease-fire in Egypt, a halt in the movement of military forces into the area, withdrawal of Israeli forces behind the armistice lines and reopening of the Suez Canal.

It was approved by the largest number of votes ever registered in the U.N.—64 to 5. Within a few hours, Hammarskjold set up a committee to report on compliance with the Assembly recommendation.

Informed sources said the first report of this committtee noted that Britain, France and Israel have not complied but that the committee did not have enough information at this time to make a real report.

The secretary general named to this watch-dog group Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, U. S. national who won the Nobel Peace Prize for negotiating the Israeli-Arab armistices in 1949; Undersecretary Ilya Tchernychev, highest Soviet citizen in the U. N. and Constantine A. Stavropoulos, U.N. legal counsel and a Greek national.

This group was instructed to report to Hammarskjold at 6 p.m. each day on steps taken to comply with the resolution. The first extraordinary special session of the Assembly, meanwhile, was standing by in recess to see what happens.

President Eisenhower, who sent Secretary of State Dulles here yesterday with the cease-fire resolution finally approved this morning, was reported in Washington to be "gratified" at the result. Dulles flew back to Washington.

Britain and France refused to tip their hands pending full study of the U. N. action but their military services went ahead with assigned missions. The French said the stage was set for British and French troops to land in the Suez Canal zone.

Prime Minister Eden came under heavy pressure in London to find a face-saving way out of the fight against Egypt. Authoritative sources in London were quoted as saying Eden likely would announce British-French readiness to turn over the task of policing the Egyptian battle zone to the U. N. as soon as a U. N. police force is established.

Sir Pierson Dixon, British delegate here, and the French Foreign Ministry in Paris have said the two powers would gladly hand over the Middle East conflict to the U. N. if the U. N. would prove its effectiveness in enforcing a cease-fire.

'Cardiac Arrest' Fatal To Boy, 4, From Near Jena

JENA, Nov. 2 (Special) —Four-year-old David Lavonne Huffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Huffman, died tonight in Jonesville clinic from what doctors termed "cardiac arrest."

The youth, who lived on Old River between Jonesville and Jena, was reported to have been taken to the clinic from a dentist's office where he had a tooth pulled.

Funeral arrangements tonight were pending at Kinner - Stevens Funeral Home in Jena.

Pope Sends Envoy Into Hungary For Talk To Prelate

ROME, Nov. 2 (UP) — Pope Pius XII sent a personal envoy to Hungary Friday to discuss emergency aid for its troubled people with Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

Star Of David Flies At Birthplace Of Goliath

GAZA CITY, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Star of David flew tonight over the birthplace city of Goliath.

Victorious Israeli troops seized the Biblical city from the Egyptians with a tank-led Blitz attack. It is the Mediterranean key of the Sinai Peninsula.

"They were bad soldiers," an Israeli tank commander said. "They threw their hands above their guns and tried to run. Then they put their hands above their heads and surrendered."

With five other newsmen I rode into Gaza City this afternoon in a Tel Aviv taxi. It probably was the first Jewish-owned taxi in the city since the Gaza Strip was placed under Egyptian administration eight years ago.

There was little evidence of fighting within the city itself. The mud huts of the Arab population appeared almost untouched.

Most of the fighting was on the outskirts, where Egyptians had been dug in, in trenches.

On one small hill just south of the city the advancing Israeli column had been held up for three hours before daybreak.

There the enemy was in a series of trenches and bunkers. Once these were overcome, the city surrendered in midmorning.

As our taxi rolled into the city in the early afternoon, Israeli troops were mopping up isolated pockets of snipers.

Just north of the city, an Israel tank column moved against a hold out strong point and, with the aid of Israeli planes, overpowered it.

In the city itself, Israeli soldiers rounded up Arabs suspested of taking part in the fighting and herding several hundred into the main square.

The civilian population was not molested and some Arabs, mostly children cheered the Israeli troops.

One group of Arab youngsters gathered around our cab and called in English "thank you."

along the Mediterranean, were left in Israel's hands.

About the time Gaza fell, other Israeli armored units drove into the town of El Arish, just outside the strip, and cut off Egyptians trying to retreat westward, Pearlman continued.

At Abu Aguilla, south of the Gaza strip, an Egyptian lieutenant colonel surrendered his entire battalion when it was surrounded.

Pearlman said that near the Suez Canal Egyptian resistance had almost ended and Israeli units were taking up positions 10 to 15 miles east of the waterway.

Asked if these troops are intended to move closer to the canal, Pearlman said he believed not. However, he added Israel had made no agreement with Britain and France not to advance to the canal.

Pearlman asserted Israel had given Egypt a near fatal military blow in Sinai and claimed about half of Egypt's ground forces had been committed.

Asked if Israel intended to hold Sinai, Pearlman replied: "I cannot speak for the government on that at present. Speaking as an Israeli, however, I would expect us to hold the peninsula until we can have a peaceful existence with our neighbor and obtain free passage through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba."

These were the three announced objectives of the Israeli action launched across the Egyptian borders Monday night.

Asked whether Israel is prepared to negotiate with the Nasser government of Egypt to attain the objectives of its four-day offensive, Pearlman replied with an emphatic "yes."

Then, he amended his answer and said Israel always is ready to negotiate with any or all the present Arab governments.

"Unless there has been a change in the last few days," he continued, "that would apply to the present government of Egypt."

Gaza was surrendered by Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohammed Fuad A'Dagawi to Israel Col. Assag Simchoni.

The battles started four-days ago with an Israeli strike into the Sinai Peninsula. Israel said the purpose was to clear out bases from which Arab commandos raided Israeli territory.

Navy Salutes Successful Evacuation Of Americans From War-Torn Mid-East

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Navy, with a "hearty well done," today saluted the successful evacuation of more than 1,500 Americans from Alexandria, Egypt.

The evacuation was reported by Capt. F. W. Laing, commanding the special relief unit that steamed into Alexancria harbor to remove Americans to safety.

Laing cleared the harbor with his passengers at 12:59 p.m. EST and reported this in a one-word message: "Outside."

Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown, commanding the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, responded:

"Your one-word message is a classic. Your successful evacuation of over 1,500 without fuss or feathers is an outstanding accomplishment. A heart well done."

There were no amplifying details here. However, news dispatches from Cairo said bomb attacks hit Alexandria after a motor convoy of some 500 Americans reached there from Cairo. Dispatches said no bombs fell near the harbor.

Also, it was reported from Cairo that U.S. Marines at Alexandria shepherded the Americans under protective concrete dockside covering and later helped them load baggage into landing craft for embarkation on three U.S. Navy transports.

The transports—the Chilton, Thuban and Ft. Snelling — had taken on about 800 Americans earlier.

The Navy in Washington said Americans evacuated from Alexandria and from Haifa in Israel will be transferred to the transport Gen. Alexander M. Patch in the vicinity of Suda Bay, Crete, and then be taken to Naples, Italy.

The transport Burdo left Haifa yesterday for the 450-mile run to Crete.

The Navy said Americans flown from various Middle East spots to Athens, Greece, were being flown on to Rome.

Adm. Walter F. Boone, commander in chief of the naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, sent congratulating messages to all who have taken part in the evacuation work, including the Air Force, the merchant marine and commercial airlines.

The State Department, in a separate set of figures, said that 2,857 Americans have been evacuated from the Middle East, and that some 2,500 remain. It gave this breakdown:

EGYPT—2,035 Americans there at start of trouble; 1,016 evacuated; 929 remaining.

ISRAEL—2,721 at start; 1,421 evacuated; 1,300 remaining.

JORDAN—320 at start; 234 evacuated; 86 remaining.

SYRIA—281 at start; 96 evacuated; 185 remaining.

UN Committee Seeks Revision In Sugar Prices

GENEVA, Nov. 2 (AP) — The United Nations sugar conference concluded its revision of the international sugar agreement today with a unanimous decision to lower both the minimum and maximum prices set in the existing agreement.

The new agreement, to be opened for signature on Dec. 1, provides for five "price zones" in which various provisions for price stabilization will be applied, provided the world price remains within a given zone from 3.25 U. S. cents to 3.45 cents per pound. When the world market price lies within this zone, the agreement quota system will operate normally. The comparable minimum and maximum limits laid down in the existing agreement range from 3.25 to 4.35 cents, but the world price during the past two years has fluctuated mostly below the minimum level.

When the world price drops below 3.25 but not below 3.15, the new agreement provides for automatic reduction of export quotas by 2½ per cent, with further reductions to be decided by the International Sugar Council. The council may not reduce any country's quota to less than 90 per cent, however, unless the world price drops into the lowest zone—below 3.15 cents per pound.

States Righters' Deny Efforts To Aid Republicans

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — State Sen. Earl Evans said tonight the States Rights movement was not designed to help the Republican party "in any way."

The States Rights leader made the statement in answer to remarks by Gov. J. P. Coleman and Bidwell Adam of Gulfport, Democratic state executive committee chairman, that the States Righters are composed mostly of 1952 Eisenhower supporters who easily could support Eisenhower again.

"Any statement by Adam or Coleman or anyone else that the States Rights movement is even remotely designed to, in any way, help the Republican Party is utterly false and is a deliberate effort to further mislead the people of Mississippi," Evans said.

"I have repeatedly stated that the Democratic and Republican candidates and platforms are equally obnoxious and contrary to the principles of the Democratic Party of Mississippi.

"But the professional career politician of the national Democratic Party in this state represents the only group using every force at their command to cram their race-mixing candidates down the throats of the voters of Mississippi."

L&N Asks Permit For Certificates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co. today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to isue $7,605,000 of equipment trust certificates in connection with new equipment purchases.

AUTOPSY ORDERED

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (UP)—An autopsy was ordered in the death Friday of Joyce Wiatt, a 32-year-old carhop who was dead on arrival at a San Antonio hospital. She had been in an automobile accident last week, but was treated and released at that time. The cause of death could not be determined at once.

Temperatures To Be Below Normal, Moisture 'Above'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — The weather bureau said today it expects temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the country between the Rockies and the Appalachians during the next 30 days in marked contrast to the unseasonably warm weather of the past two weeks.

In its monthly outlook the bureau added:

"Near normal temperatures are expected over the eastern seaboard with cool periods becoming increasingly frequent as the month progresses. he only areas in which above normal temperatures are in prospect are the west coast states and northern portions of the Great Lakes and New England.

"Precipitation is anticipated to exceed normal over most of the nation east of the Continental Divide providing further alleviation of the drouth in many areas. West of the divide precipitation amounts are expected to be below or not far from normal."

Navy Salutes Successful Evacuation Of Americans From War-Torn Mid-East

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Navy, with a "hearty well done," today saluted the successful evacuation of more than 1,500 Americans from Alexandria, Egypt.

The evacuation was reported by Capt. F. W. Laing, commanding the special relief unit that steamed into Alexandria harbor to remove Americans to safety.

Laing cleared the harbor with his passengers at 12:59 p.m. EST and reported this in a one-word message: "Outside."

Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown, commanding the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, responded:

"Your one-word message is a classic. Your successful evacuation of over 1,500 without fuss or feathers is an outstanding accomplishment. A heart well done."

There were no amplifying details here. However, news dispatches from Cairo said bomb attacks hit Alexandria after a motor convoy of some 500 Americans reached there from Cairo. Dispatches said no bombs fell near the harbor.

Also, it was reported from Cairo that U.S. Marines at Alexandria shepherded the Americans under protective concrete dockside covering and later helped them load baggage into landing craft for embarkation on three U.S. Navy transports.

The transports—the Chilton, Thuban and Ft. Snelling — had taken on about 800 Americans earlier.

The Navy in Washington said Americans evacuated from Alexandria and from Haifa in Israel will be transferred to the transport Gen. Alexander M. Patch in the vicinity of Suda Bay, Crete, and then be taken to Naples, Italy.

The transport Burdo left Haifa yesterday for the 450-mile run to Crete.

The Navy said Americans flown from various Middle East spots to Athens, Greece, were being flown on to Rome.

Adm. Walter F. Boone, commander in chief of the naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, sent congratulating messages to all who have taken part in the evacuation work, including the Air Force, the merchant marine and commercial airlines.

The State Department, in a separate set of figures, said that 2,857 Americans have been evacuated from the Middle East, and that some 2,500 remain. It gave this breakdown:

EGYPT—2,035 Americans there at start of trouble; 1,016 evacuated; 929 remaining.

ISRAEL—2,721 at start; 1,421 evacuated; 1,300 remaining.

JORDAN—320 at start; 234 evacuated; 86 remaining.

SYRIA—281 at start; 96 evacuated; 185 remaining.

UN Committee Seeks Revision In Sugar Prices

GENEVA, Nov. 2 (AP) — The United Nations sugar conference concluded its revision of the international sugar agreement today with a unanimous decision to lower both the minimum and maximum prices set in the existing agreement.

The new agreement, to be opened for signature on Dec. 1, provides for five "price zones" in which various provisions for price stabilization will be applied, provided the world price remains within a given zone from 3.25 U. S. cents to 3.45 cents per pound. When the world market price lies within this zone, the agreement quota system will operate normally. The comparable minimum and maximum limits laid down in the existing agreement range from 3.25 to 4.35 cents, but the world price during the past two years has fluctuated mostly below the minimum level.

When the world price drops below 3.25 but not below 3.15, the new agreement provides for automatic reduction of export quotas by 2½ per cent, with further reductions to be decided by the International Sugar Council. The council may not reduce any country's quota to less than 90 per cent, however, unless the world price drops into the lowest zone—below 3.15 cents per pound.

States Righters' Deny Efforts To Aid Republicans

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2 (AP) — State Sen. Earl Evans said tonight the States Rights movement was not designed to help the Republican party "in any way."

The States Rights leader made the statement in answer to remarks by Gov. J. P. Coleman and Bidwell Adam of Gulfport, Democratic state executive committee chairman, that the States Righters are composed mostly of 1952 Eisenhower supporters who easily could support Eisenhower again.

"Any statement by Adam or Coleman or anyone else that the States Rights movement is even remotely designed to, in any way, help the Republican Party is utterly false and is a deliberate effort to further mislead the people of Mississippi," Evans said.

"I have repeatedly stated that the Democratic and Republican candidates and platforms are equally obnoxious and contrary to the principles of the Democratic Party of Mississippi.

"But the professional career politician of the national Democratic Party in this state represents the only group using every force at their command to cram their race-mixing candidates down the throats of the voters of Mississippi."

L&N Asks Permit For Certificates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co. today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to isue $7,605,000 of equipment trust certificates in connection with new equipment purchases.

AUTOPSY ORDERED

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (UP)—An autopsy was ordered in the death Friday of Joyce Wiatt, a 32-year-old carhop who was dead on arrival at a San Antonio hospital. She had been in an automobile accident last week, but was treated and released at that time. The cause of death could not be determined at once.

Temperatures To Be Below Normal, Moisture 'Above'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — The weather bureau said today it expects temperatures to average below seasonal normals over most of the country between the Rockies and the Appalachians during the next 30 days in marked contrast to the unseasonably warm weather of the past two weeks.

In its monthly outlook the bureau added:

"Near normal temperatures are expected over the eastern seaboard with cool periods becoming increasingly frequent as the month progresses. he only areas in which above normal temperatures are in prospect are the west coast states and northern portions of the Great Lakes and New England.

"Precipitation is anticipated to exceed normal over most of the nation east of the Continental Divide providing further alleviation of the drouth in many areas. West of the divide precipitation amounts are expected to be below or not far from normal."
